BY FATHER AND SON . . .

Senators Shown Strong Bumper

Washington (UPI) — A father-son engineering team showed senators a new bumper Tuesday which they said would far surpass the government's safety standards for 1973 cars at an extra cost of about $30 per car.

They said the bumper standards promulgated by the Transportation Department would protect cars better than today's bumpers but only at the risk of causing far more whiplash accidents to car occupants.

Paul H. Taylor, president of Taylor Devices, Inc., of Buffalo, N.Y., and his son, Douglas, 23, who is to receive his engineering degree in two weeks from the State University of New York at Buffalo, showed the Senate Commerce Committee a film of an American Motors Hornet equipped with their bumper crash into a barrier at a speed of 7.5 miles per hour and cause no damage

Damage Permitted

By contrast, the Transportation Department standards call for a front bumper in 1973 cars able to withstand a 5 m.p.h. crash and a rear bumper able to sustain a 2.5 m.p.h. crash. But this standard permits damage to the car's bumper and fenders, prohibiting damage to the fuel tank, the horn, lights and cooling system.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., after watching the film, said "unless my eyes deceive me" it was possible to install on next year's cars bumpers far more protective than those prescribed in his bill before the committee. The bill calls for a 5 m.p.h. front and rear bumper by 1975.

John J. Nevin, a Ford Motor Co., vice president told the committee Monday the bumper called for by the Transportation Department would add $100 to the cost of a new car in 1973.

But the Taylors said that if the fluid amplified liquid spring shocks they have developed and patented are used — even with today's bumpers and at a cost of no more than $25 per car — bumpers will be far safer and eliminate the whiplash risk.

Alloys Help

When bumpers made of high-strength alloys instead of carbon steel are used along with the device, they said, cars would be operable even after a 50 m.p.h. crash, if they were built with stronger frames.

They said a car with a conventional bumper which had their shock absorbers sustained $91.78 damages in a 10 m.p.h. barrier crash. The same car without the device, they said, sustained more than $700 damages at the same speed.

The senior Taylor said he will go to Detroit Friday to demonstrate his bumper and shock absorber to all four major auto makers. He said he has already submitted bids to the companies and all have expressed interest

But his son said the Transportation Department never responded to his letters raising objections to the bumper standards it has issued and giving the technical details of the Taylor device.

Bus Collision Kills 27 People Near Acapulco

Acapulco, Mexico (UPI) — Twenty-seven persons were killed and more than 30 were injured when two buses collided head-on 37 miles south of Acapulco Monday night, police said Tuesday.

The accident happened on the highway between Acapulco and Pinotepa Nacional near the town of Las Vigas. Police said both drivers, who were among the dead, were speeding.

No. 2 U.S. Commander In S. Vietnam Is Quoted

. . . BY SEN. EAGLETON OF MISSOURI

Washington (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., quoted the No. 2 U.S. general in Vietnam Tuesday as saying he assumes a U.S. force will remain in-Indochina for an indefinite period and air power will be maintained "for an even more protracted period."

Eagleton told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that all the generals, colonels and captains who briefed him on a one-week visit to Indochina last month said they made that assumption.

Outside the hearing room, he identified two of them as Gen. Frederick Weyand, the deputy American commander, and Maj. Gen. Robert E. Milloy, deputy U.S. commander of I Corps in South Vietnam.

Debate Continues

Eagleton's testimony came as the Senate continued debate on the draft-extension bill that will be the vehicle for a proposal by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., to force withdrawal of all troops by the end of 1971.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana introduced his long-threatened proposal to cut U.S. troop strength in Europe from about 300,000 to 150,000 by the end of 1971. He promptly made it the pending Senate business but no time was set for a vote.

However, the Mansfield amendment's No. 1 spot was pre-empted a few hours later when Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., offered a substitute proposal to endorse President Nixon's intention "to maintain the necessary level" of U.S. troops in Europe.

The Mathias amendment will be acted on first but no time was set for a vote.

Veto Mentioned

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said if Mansfield's amendment is passed "I think the President would have to veto it."

Later in the day, White House deputy press secretary Gerald Warren called newsmen's attention to a February statement by Nixon that U.S. troop levels in Europe should be maintained.

Warren added: "Therefore, we would oppose the Mansfield resolution."

Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., formally introduced his amendment to cut the two-year draft extension back to one year, but let the Mansfield proposal take precedence.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, introduced the latest in a series of proposals to limit to 30 days a President's power in the future to commit U.S. troops overseas — and then only in certain circumstances.

Latest In A Series

Tuesday's Foreign Relations Committee hearing was another in its series on various proposals to end or limit U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Both Eagleton and former secretary of health, education and welfare John Gardner, now chairman of Common Cause, endorsed the McGovern-Hatfield poposal.

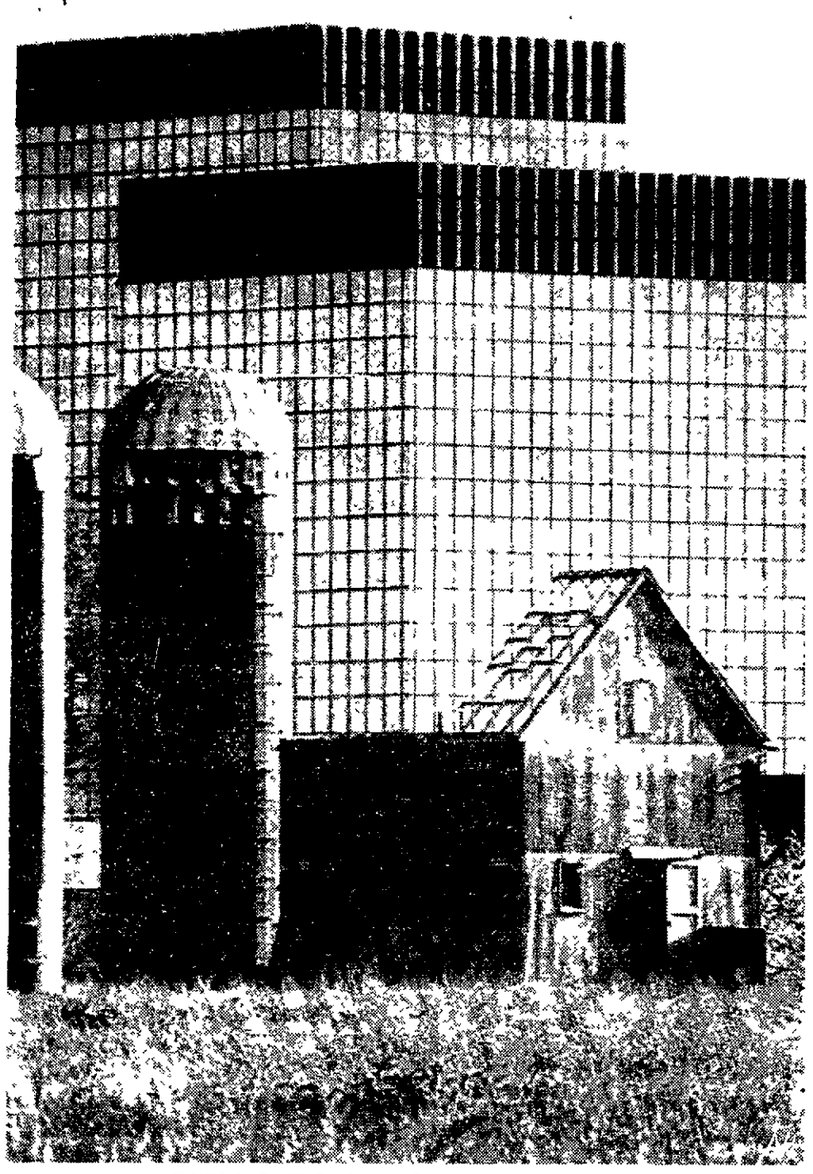

"Despite public announcements that eventually there will be a total American troop withdrawal from South Vietnam," Eagleton said, "none is currently planned and an indefinite extension of United States air and logistical support is assumed."

Unanimous

Describing the briefings he received morning, noon and night in Vietnam, the Missouri Democrat said, "Unanimously these military men told me that plans under which they were operating called for a residual American force for an indefinite period of time and for a protracted period of massive American airpower" both from within Indochina and from U.S. bases in Thailand and Okinawa.

Eagleton's fellow Missouri Democrat, committee member Stuart Symington, said he expects President Nixon to pull out Army troops.

But, he said, "I am becoming increasingly doubtful he wants to get the Air Force out for an indefinite period."

CITY'S FACE IS CHANGING

A decaying barn, reminiscent of the rural heritage of Bloomington, Minn., is dwarfed by a new building in the Minneapolis-St. Paul suburb. Rising like a futuristic art abstraction behind the barn is a new office building, one of the latest in Bloomington's expanding collection of modern industrial architecture.

Instant Warning System Being Installed In Capitol

Statehouse workers should soon feel more secure on the job — knowing they will be instantly warned of any emergency evacuation.

State Building Supt. Clive Short's office confirmed Tuesday that a "Sona-Alert" system is being installed throughout the Capitol building.

Some 121 strategically-located electronic howlers will signal a mass evacuation of the building in an emergency.

An office spokesman denied a Statehouse bomb scare last February prompted the installation, but observed the evacuation alarm can be used in case of fire, tornado and civil defense emergencies.

The battery-operated system, being installed by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., will cost $30.25 per month after an initial installation charge of $365.

Tied into the alarm system are new telephones in the Statehouse's four elevators with other phones in the tower (elevator control room) and Short's office, costing $50.50 per month after a $48 installation charge.

In addition to being warning devices, the elevator phones will function as an emergency communication system should a power failure stall the elevators between floors.

Location of the master alarm switch was not publicly disclosed, but informed sources said the "panic button" would be in Short's office.

. . . MOVE TO WEAKEN NEGOTIATION LAW KILLED ON SECOND VOTE

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

It took two votes to do it, but the Legislature Tuesday killed a revised proposal to restrict the operation of the 1969 public employes negotiation act.

The bill, LB176, sponsored by Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, was scuttled on a tight 24-22 vote a few minutes after it had survived an earlier kill motion on what was essentially a 22-24 count.

The earlier vote was officially recorded as 21-25 when Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff changed his vote in order to be in parliamentary position to seek reconsideration.

Votes Rounded Up

After rounding up a couple of votes, Carpenter offered his motion to reconsider. It was accepted, and the bill was then laid to rest.

Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln led the assault on Holmquist's proposal, arguing that the 1969 law has not had ample opportunity to work.

Efforts to repeal or weaken it are designed "to control public employes with substandard wages and working conditions," he said.

Sharply Amend Act

Holmquist's initial version of LB176 would have repealed the 1969 law, but he revised the bill to sharply amend the current act.

In that form, LB176 would have removed from the jurisdiction of the Court of Industrial Relations all school teachers and employes in towns of less than 5,000.

The amended proposal also would have restored labor market areas as a valid test in establishing wage rates, and provided stiff penalties for public employe strikes, walkouts or slowdowns.

The 1969 law guarantees public employes the right to organize the collectively bargain with public employers over wages and working conditions.

It expanded the Court of Industrial Relations from three to five members and broadened its authority to resolve labor disputes between public employes and employers.

Prior to 1969, the court had jurisdiction only over public power district and public utility labor matters.

'I Don't Believe'

"I don't believe we should turn over the control of all public employes in Nebraska to the labor unions," Holmquist declared.

With 80,000 public employes in the state, he said, the State AFL-CIO can raise $5 million in annual dues if it organizes them into labor unions.

Then, he said, it could promote or oppose candidates for public office throughout the state.

Up To Individual

One important feature of LB176, Holmquist said, was its proviso allowing individual employes to take their case to court rather than through representation by a labor union.

But individual employes are "afraid to negotiate for themselves," Carpenter said.

"The day of pushing people around is over with," he declared.

Carpenter guided the 1969 law to enactment.

'Slap In Face'

LB176 would be "a slap in the face of public employes," Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha said.

"It would be a step backward in our society. They want dignity. They want to have some say so in their conditions of work."

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice said the Legislature has not given the 1969 law sufficient time to operate, and Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha warned that the state could lose $55 million in annual federal grants if it fails to protect merit system employes.

Not Big Bad Wolf

"I think there is a pretty strong case that the law is not the big bad wolf it is thought to be," Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha said.

Holmquist, Mahoney said, shows "spite against labor."

On the second motion to kill, Sens. Duke Snyder of Omaha, Leslie Stull of Alliance and Jerome Warner of Waverly joined Carpenter in raising the count from 21 affirmative votes.

But Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte dropped off and declined to vote, leaving the total at 24.

Snyder had misvoted on the first motion; Stull had voted no, and Warner had not voted.

On Final Count

On the final count, 11 of 12 Omaha senators voted to kill the bill. Five of six Lancaster County lawmakers also voted to bury the proposal; the sixth was absent.

Here is the vote which killed LB176:

For: Barnett, Carpenter, Carstens, Chambers, DeCamp, Elrod, Goodrich, Keyes, Klaver, Luedtke, Mahoney, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Orme, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stull, Syas, Waldron, Warner.

Against: Burbach, Carsten, Clark, Duis, Epke, Haseebrook, Holmquist, Johnson, Kennedy, Kline, Kokes, Kremer, Lewis, Maresh, Nore, Proud, Schmit, Stromer, Waldo, Wallwey, Whitney, Ziebarth.

Not Voting: Craft, Swanson, Wiltse.

Brandt Urges Restraint In Germany

©The New York Times

Bonn — Chancellor Willy Brandt Tuesday asked for a spell of restraint and patience in West Germany, to help see the country through the current monetary crisis.

"We will achieve stability," the chancellor said at a special session of the Bundestag. He was in a rare fighting mood, as were many others in the parliamentary chamber.

"But this means that some wishes are going to have to be held back awhile," Brandt said. "We are not going to achieve our goal if we have to endure demands from every factory for higher wages, from every home for lower prices, and from every discussion group for lower taxes."

"All our effort makes sense only if a sort of pause for consolidation could now be taken into account," the chancellor said.

Last Wednesday, after $2 billion had crowded into the money markets in West Germany in a couple of days of hectic trading, the foreign exchange markets were closed and the Bundesbank ceased dealing officially in dollars.

In the Bundestag Tuesday, Brandt was angrily charged by the opposition with allowing his colleagues in the government to trigger the crisis by talking about revaluing the mark and thereby encouraging the speculative rush of dollars into the country. The chancellor snapped back with the accusation that the opposition was telling only half the story.

"What you fail to tell the people is that this is a crisis of the dollar and not of the mark," Brandt said.

What everyone failed to bring out in definitive terms was the old specter of inflation. Few subjects are more evocative or serious in German politics, for the Germans have suffered a devastating inflation after each world war.

Ludwig Erhard, who was chancellor from 1963 to 1966, was eased out of office in a political realignment brought on by a creeping inflation. Tuesday, like a shadow out of the past, he spoke in the Bundestag for the first time since he was chancellor.

"In my opinion," he said, "to really free the deutsche-mark on the money exchange and let it find its own level is the only way to curb the unbounded speculation."

Buses, Taxes, Pollution Cited As Lincoln's Major Problems

. . . IN POLICIES, GOALS COMMITTEE POLL

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

Public transit, taxes and pollution — these are the most serious problems in the minds of Lincoln area residents.

The results were contained in a scientific survey of more than 1,000 community residents made public Tuesday night by the Lincoln-Lancaster County Goals and Policies Committee.

The poll was undertaken to guide the committee in its job of formulating a new comprehensive plan for the city and county.

1,200 Returned

During April questionnaires were mailed to about 2,600 scientifically selected households and some 400 members of the committee. A total of 1,200 forms were returned.

Public transportation was listed as the No. 1 problem facing the area by 68% of those who returned the questionnaire.

Taxes followed with 58% considering it a "very serious" problem, while pollution gained the nod of 54%.

The priorities of committee members, who were tabulated separately, were public transit, 81%; pollution, 46%, and taxes, 39%.

Jobs, Income Cited

Jobs and income were cited as a top problem by 53% of the public, but only 40% of the committee members.

Asked to rank "very important" areas for future planning, an overwhelming 89% of the community residents and 85% of the committee members checked clean air.

Trees were a close second with 78% and 75% support, respectively, while lakes and streams won 73% and 72% support.

On public transit, a majority of those responding felt that equal emphasis should be placed on improving auto travel and mass transit with little support for a system which relies primarily on auto travel. Some 30% of the community survey and 41% of the committee members felt that greater importance should be placed on improvement of mass transit over auto travel.

Why do people move to Lincoln?

According to the survey, the main reason is its being a good place to raise children along with general appearance and job opportunities.

Freedom from traffic was cited by both groups as the most important feature for residential neighborhood, especially for those earning $15,000 or more. That income group in the community survey rated it as "very important" on 80% of the responses with the over-all response listed at 65% in the community survey and 67% in the committee survey.

Close To School

Closeness to elementary schools was also cited as a "very important" reason in both cases and closeness to shopping and work rated at the bottom of the list.

Thos earning less than $4,000 cited closeness to shopping and work as "very important" on 51% of the responses with sidewalks the top concern (67%) and freedom from traffic next in

On the subject of shopping, parking facilities was the top consideration, cited on 90% of the responses in both surveys with convenient access by car and quality of merchandise next in priority.

Those responding on housing felt the need for more low income housing to be the most serious housing problem, cited the community survey reas "very serious" on 42% of the community survey responses and 50% — including 62% of those earning less than $4,000—and 50% by committee members.

Single Family Home

An overwhelming number also said they preferred to live in a single family home (87% of the community and 92% of the committee) including those 65 and older.

Living in a high-rise apartment complex rated zero with the community survey; 3% of th committee said they preferred that type of living. Only 1% of those in the community said they would prefer to live in a large two or three-story apartment complex.

Residents and committee members overwhelmingly agreed (63% and 70%) that school facilities should be developed along the lines of smaller community schools similar to the situation that presently exists in Lincoln.

Downtown Split

Committee members and the public were split over the importance of the downtown in future development patterns.

A downtown area which is one of many in a system of more or less equal centers was favored by 43% of the residents as compared to 33% of committee members.

A dominant downtown, favored by 63% of the committee, was supported by only 38% of the residents.

The majority favored equal emphasis on rate of development and quality of development with little support expressed for rapid development if that means low concern for quality.

Washington (UPI) — A father-son engineering team showed senators a new bumper Tuesday which they said would far surpass the government's safety standards for 1973 cars at an extra cost of about $30 per car.

They said the bumper standards promulgated by the Transportation Department would protect cars better than today's bumpers but only at the risk of causing far more whiplash accidents to car occupants.

Paul H. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., after watching the film, said "unless my eyes deceive me" it was possible to install on next year's cars bumpers far more protective than those prescribed in his bill before the committee. The bill calls for a 5 m.p.h. front and rear bumper by 1975.

John J. Nevin, a Ford Motor Co., vice president told the committee Monday the bumper called for by the Transportation Department would add $100 to the cost of a new car in 1973.

But the Taylors said that if the fluid amplified liquid spring shocks they have developed and patented are used — even with today's bumpers and at a cost of no more than $25 per car — bumpers will be far safer and eliminate the whiplash risk.

The senior Taylor said he will go to Detroit Friday to demonstrate his bumper and shock absorber to all four major auto makers. He said he has already submitted bids to the companies and all have expressed interest.

But his son said the Transportation Department never responded to his letters raising objections to the bumper standards it has issued and giving the technical details of the Taylor device.

No. 2 U.S. Commander In S. Vietnam Is Quoted

. . . BY SEN. EAGLETON OF MISSOURI

Washington (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., quoted the No. 2 U.S. general in Vietnam Tuesday as saying he assumes a U.S. force will remain in Indochina for an indefinite period and air power will be maintained "for an even more protracted period."

Eagleton told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that all the generals, colonels and captains who briefed him on a one-week visit to Indochina last month said they made that assumption.

Outside the hearing room, he identified two of them as Gen. Frederick Weyand, the deputy American commander, and Maj. Gen. Robert E. Milloy, deputy U.S. commander of I Corps in South Vietnam.

Debate Continues

Eagleton's testimony came as the Senate continued debate on the draft-extension bill that will be the vehicle for a proposal by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., to force withdrawal of all troops by the end of 1971.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana introduced his long-threatened proposal to cut U.S. troop strength in Europe from about 300,000 to 150,000 by the end of 1971. He promptly made it the pending Senate business but no time was set for a vote.

Warren added: "Therefore, we would oppose the Mansfield resolution."

Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., formally introduced his amendment to cut the two-year draft extension back to one year, but let the Mansfield proposal take precedence.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, introduced the latest in a series of proposals to limit to 30 days a President's power in the future to commit U.S. troops overseas — and then only in certain circumstances.

Tuesday's Foreign Relations Committee hearing was another in its series on various proposals to end or limit U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Both Eagleton and former secretary of health, education and welfare John Gardner, now chairman of Common Cause, endorsed the McGovern-Hatfield poposal.

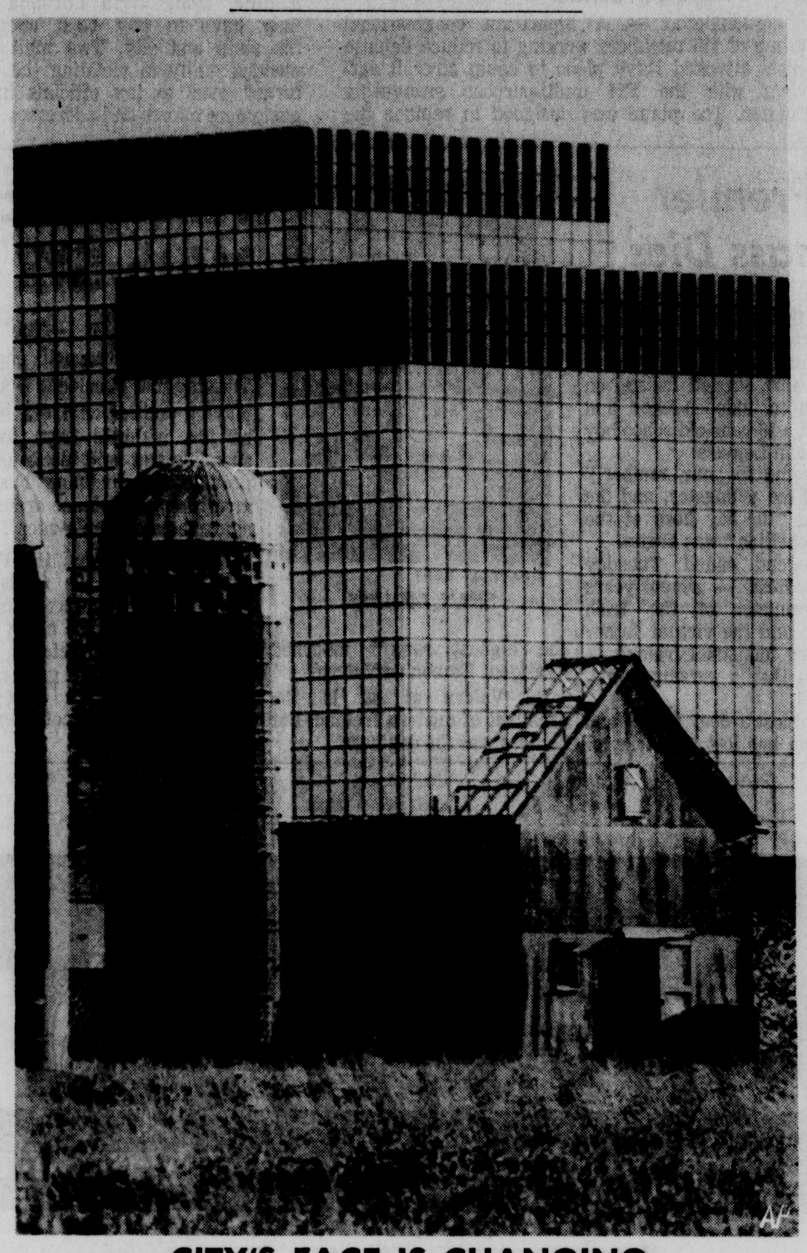

"Despite public announcements that eventually there will be a total American troop withdrawal from South Vietnam," Eagleton said, "none is currently planned and an indefinite extension of United States air and logistical support is assumed."

Unanimous

Describing the briefings he received morning, noon and night in Vietnam, the Missouri Democrat said, "Unanimously these military men told me that plans under which they were operating called for a residual American force for an indefinite period of time and for a protracted period of massive American airpower" both from within Indochina and from U.S. bases in Thailand and Okinawa.

Eagleton's fellow Missouri Democrat, committee member Stuart Symington, said he expects President Nixon to pull out Army troops.

But, he said, "I am becoming increasingly doubtful he wants to get the Air Force out for an indefinite period."

. . . MOVE TO WEAKEN NEGOTIATION LAW KILLED ON SECOND VOTE

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

It took two votes to do it, but the Legislature Tuesday killed a revised proposal to restrict the operation of the 1969 public employes negotiation act.

The bill, LB176, sponsored by Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, was scuttled on a tight 24-22 vote a few minutes after it had survived an earlier kill motion on what was essentially a 22-24 count.

The earlier vote was officially recorded as 21-25 when Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff changed his vote in order to be in parliamentary position to seek reconsideration.

Votes Rounded Up

After rounding up a couple of votes, Carpenter offered his motion to reconsider. It was accepted, and the bill was then laid to rest.

Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln led the assault on Holmquist's proposal, arguing that the 1969 law has not had ample opportunity to work.

Efforts to repeal or weaken it are designed "to control public employes with substandard wages and working conditions," he said.

Sharply Amend Act

Holmquist's initial version of LB176 would have repealed the 1969 law, but he revised the bill to sharply amend the current act.

In that form, LB176 would have removed from the jurisdiction of the Court of Industrial Relations all school teachers and employes in towns of less than 5,000.

The amended proposal also would have restored labor market areas as a valid test in establishing wage rates, and provided stiff penalties for public employe strikes, walkouts or slowdowns.

The 1969 law guarantees public employes the right to organize the collectively bargain with public employers over wages and working conditions.

It expanded the Court of Industrial Relations from three to five members and broadened its authority to resolve labor disputes between public employes and employers.

Prior to 1969, the court had jurisdiction only over public power district and public utility labor matters.

'I Don't Believe'

"I don't believe we should turn over the control of all public employes in Nebraska to the labor unions," Holmquist declared.

With 80,000 public employes in the state, he said, the State AFL-CIO can raise $5 million in annual dues if it organizes them into labor unions.

Then, he said, it could promote or oppose candidates for public office throughout the state.

Up To Individual

One important feature of LB176, Holmquist said, was its proviso allowing individual employes to take their case to court rather than through representation by a labor union.

But individual employes are "afraid to negotiate for themselves," Carpenter said.

"The day of pushing people around is over with," he declared.

Carpenter guided the 1969 law to enactment.

'Slap In Face'

LB176 would be "a slap in the face of public employes," Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha said.

"It would be a step backward in our society. They want dignity. They want to have some say so in their conditions of work."

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice said the Legislature has not given the 1969 law sufficient time to operate, and Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha warned that the state could lose $55 million in annual federal grants if it fails to protect merit system employes.

Not Big Bad Wolf

"I think there is a pretty strong case that the law is not the big bad wolf it is thought to be," Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha said.

Holmquist, Mahoney said, shows "spite against labor."

On the second motion to kill, Sens. Duke Snyder of Omaha, Leslie Stull of Alliance and Jerome Warner of Waverly joined Carpenter in raising the count from 21 affirmative votes.

But Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte dropped off and declined to vote, leaving the total at 24.

Snyder had misvoted on the first motion; Stull had voted no, and Warner had not voted.

On Final Count

On the final count, 11 of 12 Omaha senators voted to kill the bill. Five of six Lancaster County lawmakers also voted to bury the proposal; the sixth was absent.

Here is the vote which killed LB176:

For: Barnett, Carpenter, Carstens, Chambers, DeCamp, Elrod, Goodrich, Keyes, Klaver, Luedtke, Mahoney, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Orme, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stull, Syas, Waldron, Warner.

Against: Burbach, Carsten, Clark, Duis, Epke, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Johnson, Kennedy, Kime, Kokes, Kremer, Lewis, Maresh, Nore, Proud, Schmit, Stromer, Waldo, Wallwey, Whitney, Ziebarth.

Not Voting: Craft, Swanson, Wills.

During April questionnaires were mailed to about 2,600 scientifically selected households and some 400 members of the committee. A total of 1,200 forms were returned.

Public transportation was listed as the No. 1 problem facing the area by 68% of those who returned the questionnaire.

Taxes followed with 58% considering it a "very serious" problem, while pollution gained the nod of 54%.

The priorities of committee members, who were tabulated separately, were public transit, 81%; pollution, 46%, and taxes, 39%.

Jobs, Income Cited

Jobs and income were cited as a top problem by 53% of the public, but only 40% of the committee members.

Asked to rank "very important" areas for future planning, an overwhelming 89% of the community residents and 85% of the committee members checked clean air.

Trees were a close second with 78% and 75% support, respectively, while lakes and streams won 73% and 72% support.

On public transit, a majority of those responding felt that equal emphasis should be placed on improving auto travel and mass transit with little support for a system which relies primarily on auto travel. Some 30% of the community survey and 41% of the committee members felt that greater importance should be placed on improvement of mass transit over auto travel.

Why do people move to Lincoln?

According to the survey, the main reason is its being a good place to raise children along with general appearance and job opportunities.

Freedom from traffic was cited by both groups as the most important feature for residential neighborhood, especially for those earning $15,000 or more. That income group in the community survey rated it as "very important" on 80% of the responses with the over-all response listed at 65% in the community survey and 67% in the committee survey.

Close To School

Closeness to elementary schools was also cited as a "very important" reason in both cases and closeness to shopping and work rated at the bottom of the list.

Thos earning less than $4,000 cited closeness to shopping and work as "very important" on 51% of the responses with sidewalks the top concern (67%) and freedom from traffic next in

On the subject of shopping, parking facilities was the top consideration, cited on 90% of the responses in both surveys with convenient access by car and quality of merchandise next in priority.

Those responding on housing felt the need for more low income housing to be the most serious housing problem, cited the community survey reas "very serious" on 42% of the community survey responses and 50% — including 62% of those earning less than $4,000—and 50% by committee members.

Single Family Home

An overwhelming number also said they preferred to live in a single family home (87% of the community and 92% of the committee) including those 65 and older.

Living in a high-rise apartment complex rated zero with the community survey; 3% of th committee said they preferred that type of living. Only 1% of those in the community said they would prefer to live in a large two or three-story apartment complex.

Residents and committee members overwhelmingly agreed (63% and 70%) that school facilities should be developed along the lines of smaller community schools similar to the situation that presently exists in Lincoln.

Downtown Split

Committee members and the public were split over the importance of the downtown in future development patterns.

A downtown area which is one of many in a system of more or less equal centers was favored by 43% of the residents as compared to 33% of committee members.

A dominant downtown, favored by 63% of the committee, was supported by only 38% of the residents.

The majority favored equal emphasis on rate of development and quality of development with little support expressed for rapid development if that means low concern for quality.

Brandt Urges Restraint In Germany

©The New York Times

Bonn — Chancellor Willy Brandt Tuesday asked for a spell of restraint and patience in West Germany, to help see the country through the current monetary crisis.

"We will achieve stability," the chancellor said at a special session of the Bundestag. He was in a rare fighting mood, as were many others in the parliamentary chamber.

"But this means that some wishes are going to have to be held back awhile," Brandt said. "We are not going to achieve our goal if we have to endure demands from every factory for higher wages, from every home for lower prices, and from every discussion group for lower taxes."

"All our effort makes sense only if a sort of pause for consolidation could now be taken into account," the chancellor said.

Last Wednesday, after $2 billion had crowded into the money markets in West Germany in a couple of days of hectic trading, the foreign exchange markets were closed and the Bundesbank ceased dealing officially in dollars.

In the Bundestag Tuesday, Brandt was angrily charged by the opposition with allowing his colleagues in the government to trigger the crisis by talking about revaluing the mark and thereby encouraging the speculative rush of dollars into the country. The chancellor snapped back with the accusation that the opposition was telling only half the story.

"What you fail to tell the people is that this is a crisis of the dollar and not of the mark," Brandt said.

What everyone failed to bring out in definitive terms was the old specter of inflation. Few subjects are more evocative or serious in German politics, for the Germans have suffered a devastating inflation after each world war.

Ludwig Erhard, who was chancellor from 1963 to 1966, was eased out of office in a political realignment brought on by a creeping inflation. Tuesday, like a shadow out of the past, he spoke in the Bundestag for the first time since he was chancellor.

"In my opinion," he said, "to really free the deutsche-mark on the money exchange and let it find its own level is the only way to curb the unbounded speculation."

European Currency Traders Biding Time

(c) New York Times News Service

London — The pace of monetary trading on European foreign exchange markets slackened as traders waited for a trend to develop on new currency values. Observers noted that dealings were so erratic that rate changes had little meaning. The floating West German mark and the Swiss franc declined slightly while the dollar firmed.

Progress And Difficulties

Brussels — British efforts to negotiate entry into the European Economic Community met with progress and difficulties. Common Market members agreed to special arrangements to allow Britain to continue importing certain industrial products at low tariff rates but market members failed to agree to the British position on sugar imports from the Commonwealth.

Pope Calls For Search

Rome — In a far-ranging apostolic letter, Pope Paul VI called upon Christians to search for a new type of democratic society inspired by "the double aspiration toward equality and participation." The document also discussed the disparities between rich and poor nations, racial discrimination, urban ills and what he termed the alienation wrought by the consumer society.

9 Jews Go On Trial

Moscow — Nine Soviet Jews, charged with organized anti-Soviet activity, went on trial in Leningrad. According to the Soviet press agency Tass, eight of the defendants are accomplices of the 12 alleged hijackers convicted of treason last December. Jewish sources report that the accused are Zionist who were unsuccessful in emigrating to Israel.

Cancer Program Outlined

Washington — A national program to conquer cancer with adequate funds and organizational backing was outlined by President Nixon. (More on Page 2.)

F14 Plans Attacked

Washington — A bipartisan congressional group of 115 members working to reduce defense costs attacked Navy plans to equip aircraft carriers with the F14 multi-purpose swing-wing fighter. The plane was designed to replace the F4 Phantom after Congress in 1968 killed the much troubled F111B.

Postage Hike Not Blocked

Washington — A federal judge refused to issue an order blocking scheduled postal rate increases for this summer. (More on Page 2.)

Taxes May Be Collected

New York — New Yorkers who have been purchasing low cost cigarettes, two cartons at a time, from North Carolina mailorder firms may have to pay back uncollected taxes to the state and city. Two mail order firms who pleaded guilty to violating the Jenkins act have turned over to tax officials in the state their customers names and addresses.

War Power Curb Introduced

Washington — Legislation that would curb the power of the president to commit the nation to war without the consent of Congress was introduced in Congress by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Services Committee. (More on Page 1.)

Trespass Law Can't Be Used

Trenton, N.J. — The New Jersey Supreme Court unanimously ruled that farmers can no longer use the state's trespass law to prevent those qualified from visiting migrant farm worker camps. In striking down to trespass convictions, the court ruled that employers may not deny the worker his privacy or interfere with his opportunity to live with dignity.

Nixon Puts Self In Charge Of Federal Cancer Battle

World News

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon announced Tuesday he would provide "direct presidential interest and presidential guidance" in a concerted new $332 million campaign to find a cancer cure — and would provide more money if it is needed.

Nixon issued a statement and appeared personally before newsmen at the White House to underscore his support for an additional $100 million in cancer research funds contained in a supplemental appropriations bill under debate by the House.

The extra $100 million would raise cancer research spending to $332 million in the fiscal year starting July 1.

As he proposed in his health message to Congress last February, the President reaffirmed his intention to create a special cancer cure program in the National Institute of Health, with "independent budgetary status" and a director "responsible directly to the president."

In his statement, Nixon said, "This effort needs the full weight and support of the presidency to see to it that it moves toward its goals as expeditiously as possible." He said it must not be "compromised by the familiar dangers of bureaucracy and red tape."

Nixon said the disease that threatens to strike one of every four Americans living today must be attacked with the same efficiency and determination applied to splitting the atom and sending a man to the moon.

He said he had "a very deep personal concern about this problem" because his favorite aunt, Elizabeth Milhous Harrison, died of cancer in 1930, at the age of 38. He also recalled the cancer deaths of Sen. Robert A. Taft, R-Ohio, and former secretary of state John Foster Dulles.

The President said that even with unlimited funds and reorganization of scientific and administrative skills, there is no promise of early breakthroughs.

Ex-Premier Lemass Dies

SEAN LEMASS

Dublin, Ireland (AP) — British troops flushed a handful of weary Irish rebels from Dublin's post office in the 1916 Easter uprising that started Ireland on the road to independence and captured a 16-year-old schoolboy named Sean Lemass.

"Go home to your mother," they told the youngster, and the legend of "the boy hero of the Easter rebellion" was begun.

The legend ended Tuesday when Lemass — seven years prime minister of the Irish Republic and the virtual father of modern industrial Ireland — died in a Dublin nursing home. He was 71.

"I have lost a dear friend and the nation has lost a patriot of the highest rank," mourned President Eamon de Valera.

De Valera at 88 is the architect of modern Ireland, but Lemass was the engineer.

Nixon Accused Of Playing Politics With $12 Billion He Is Withholding

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) —The AFL-CIO executive council charged Tuesday that President Nixon is playing politics with $12 billion he has withheld from federal spending and said his failure to provide for declining business investment in defense areas has aggravated unemployment.

The council urged the President to release the funds immediately and offered an 11-point program to aid areas hard hit by declining defense production, including the establishment of a Cabinet-level committee to direct federal assistance.

"The decision of President Nixon to withhold $12 billion in congressionally appropriated funds is a callous political device that victimizes the American people and disrupts vital national programs," the council said in a statement adopted during its quarterly meeting.

"It is obvious that a cynical political decision has been made to hold the funds until they can be doled out piecemeal to achieve maximum economic impact at a time when maximum political effect is desired."

The administration has said the funds are being withheld as an anti-inflation move.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, in a news conference later, said the President's action and his subsequent comments that he hopes funds eventually can be released "leaves the suspicion" he is playing politics.

Meany, said the council feels American defense spending should be sufficient to keep it on a level with other countries, but that surplus defense funds should be diverted to public works spending.

'Pete' McCloskey's Dump-Nixon Movement Has A National Office

Washington (UPI) — The threatened "Dump Nixon" movement of Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey now has a national headquarters.

It is a street - front office of a former real estate firm on Pennsylvania Avenue, three blocks from the Capitol.

Officially known as McCloskey's "volunteer office" the headquarters still lacks a sign on the door. But it has an office manager — Ruth Kevan, a neighbor of McCloskey's — plus desks and tables from a used furniture store and a bright green refrigerator.

Although unimposing in appearance, the headquarters backs up McCloskey's repeated threat to oppose President Nixon in the 1972 presidential primaries if he does not change his Vietnam war policy.

McCloskey, 43, a handsome ex-Marine, has said he would step aside in favor of a Republican he considered better qualified — such as New York Mayor John V. Lindsay or Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

But McCloskey is pushing ahead in the interim, and will soon hire a combination campaign manager and advance man, to be known as the "volunteer coordinator."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Kevan is sorting through the mail at campaign headquarters, and giving special attention to contributors and offers of assistance from states with presidential primaries.

The first efforts have been financed by $5,000 in small contributions. More are being sought and Los Angeles industrialist Norton Simon will reportedly use some of the $6.5 million proceeds from the recent sale of his art collection to back McCloskey.

Brooke Predicts Kennedy To Be Democratic Nominee

(c) Washington Star

Washington — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., predicted Tuesday that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would be the Democratic presidential nominee in 1972.

Brooke also said that he would have nothing to do with the "Dump Nixon" movement within the Republican Party even though he disagrees with Nixon's Vietnam policies and believes the President has shown a lack of leadership on civil rights.

"He has done something positive. I could not turn my back on Richard Nixon . . . I don't think his record is such that I could oppose him," Brooke said.

The Senate's only Negro said he believes Nixon will keep Vice President Spiro T. Agnew on the ticket if Gov. George Wallace of Alabama runs again in 1972 and might drop him if Wallace does not run.

Publishers To Appeal Judge's Decision Against Delaying Postal Rate Increases

Washington (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service Tuesday won the first round of a court fight against temporary postage rate increases scheduled for next week. But magazine and newspaper publishers who challenged the new rates said they will appeal.

U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant rejected the publishers' request for a preliminary injunction to block the temporary rate increases, holding they could not prove their contention that the increases were illegal.

The temporary rates, scheduled to go into effect Sunday, raise the price of a first-class stamp from 6 cents to 8 cents air-mail stamps from 10 cents to 11 cents and post cards from 5 cents to 6 cents.

Second-class rates, which cover newspapers and magazines, increase by 20 to 30% and third-class rates increase by about one third.

A spokesman for the Magazine Publishers Association, one of five groups that sought the injunction, said Bryant's ruling will be appealed.

Hearings Begin Monday

Meanwhile, the independent, five-member Postal Rate Commission, which begins hearings Monday on a permanent, $1.45-billion-a-year Postal Service rate package, ordered the service to back up the cost and revenue estimates on which the request is based.

The Postal Service, according to the commission, "has taken the position that the Postal Reorganization Act does not authorize the commission to analyze or review initial estimates of total costs and revenues."

Under the reorganization legislation, the power to set postal rates is removed from Congress. The rate commission must recommend to the Postal Service's Board of Governors rates that will put the Postal Service on a break-even basis.

Board's Authority

If the rate commission does not make its recommendation within 90 days after receiving the revenue proposals from the Postal Service, the Board of Governors has authority to make temporary increases of no more than one-third the existing rates.

In their request for a preliminary injunction, the magazine and newspaper publishers contended that the governors could not invoke that authority this time around.

Columbia Research Team Concludes Substitute Teachers Not Too Good

(c) Newhouse News Service

Washington — Researchers have finally figured out what pupils have known for a long time: substitute teachers, by and large, are almost as good as having no school at all.

A study team from the Institute of Administrative Research at Columbia University concludes that substitute teachers overall give such an "abysmal performance" that they are virtually worthless.

The researchers, headed by Martin N. Olson, said substitutes acted as little more than babysitters — and high-priced ones at that.

A National Education Association spokesman said the nation's school systems this year paid an average of about $25 a day for substitutes who take over when the regular teacher is absent.

But the per-day rate is much higher than that in some areas. In Chicago, for instance, substitutes' pay ranges from $35 for a six-hour day to $42 for eight hours.

At the other extreme, the NEA spokesman said, some school districts, such as Moulton, Ala., pay the equivalent of a babysitter's fee — and require no teacher's degree for substitutes.

Jungck Named 'Tree Farmer'

. . . 10-Row Windbreak Cited

Chadron — Herman Jungck, who lives in the heart of the Pine Ridge near Hay Springs, has been named "Nebraska Tree Farmer-of-the-Year," according to E. H. Benson, acting state forester.

He was congratulated for his achievements in forestry by Gov. J. James Exon at an awards ceremony held in the Pine Ridge Pavilion Conservation Center here Tuesday.

Benson, chairman of the Nebraska Tree Farm Committee, said that the program gives public recognition to landowners who have demonstrated an outstanding ability to manage their woodlands and shelterbelts.

In the early 1880's, Herman Jungck's grandparents planted one of the first windbreaks in the area to tame the land and improve the environment. Remnants of that planting exist today, still protecting the homestead.

His parents took up farming in the 1890's. They also recognized the importance of trees, traveling from 30 to 50 miles by wagon to dig pine and cedar from the Pine Ridge to the north, and pull the broadleaf seedlings from the stream banks to the south.

As Herman took on farming and ranching on his own, he applied his youthful forestry experience to the land. Today, four farms have directly benefited from his "green thumb."

Jerry Mohler, extension forester at Chadron, said, "One of Herman's more outstanding efforts was the hand planting and successful establishment of a 10-row, one-mile-long, windbreak between 1938 and 1940."

1951 'Blowout'

"Another remarkable planting effort involved a blowout," he said. "In 1951, Herman fenced the cattle out of a four-acre area and planted it to pine and cedar to stabilize the sandy soil. Today the area appears as an oasis in the sandhills."

In recent years, about 750,000 board feet of lumber, pulpwood, post and pole products have been cut from the Jungck Tree Farm. Much of the lumber was processed in his own sawmill.

Huge To Head New St. Elizabeth Board

Members and officers of the new Board of Directors of St. Elizabeth Community Health Center were announced Tuesday evening following the board's first business meeting.

James S. Huge, principal of Lincoln East High School, was selected as president by the board comprised of seven Lincoln community leaders and Sister Barbara Ann Braun, Provincial of the Sisters of St. Francis of Colorado Springs.

President-elect is Loren B. Belker, director of agency administration for Bankers Life Insurance Company of Nebraska. Jack E. Stiles, St. Elizabeth executive director, an ex-officio member of the board, was chosen secretary. Robert D. Northrop, vice president and senior trust officer of the First National Bank of Lincoln, was selected as treasurer. Offices are for one-year terms.

Joining these officers as voting members of the board are Sister Barbara Ann, John G. Desmond Jr., general manager of Desmond Lumber Company, D. C. Peter Magrath, Dean of Faculties and Professor of Political Science at the University of Nebraska, and Walter G. Stephenson Jr., secretary-treasurer of Magee's Inc.

Dr. Wesley G. Tomhave, internist and chief-of-staff of St. Elizabeth, is also an ex-officio member of the board.

Prior to Tuesday's meeting the board of directors of St. Elizabeth had been entirely composd of Sisters of Saint Francis, the Catholic religious order which founded St. Elizabeth Hospital as Lincoln's first general hospital. A lay advisory board had served the hospital since 1962.

In speaking of creation of the new board, Sister Barbara Ann noted that the "Sisters of Saint Francis brought their health care apostolate to Lincoln in 1889 with the founding of the original St. Elizabeth Hospital.

"With the dynamic changes taking place in the delivery of health care today the creation of this new board places a new thrust in our Catholic hospital through a corporate and coordinated approach in our health care apostolate.

"As we serve as the sponsoring corporation of the St. Elizabeth Health Center, we look forward with enthusiasm to working with the new board to become an ever more viable part of the Lincoln community."

Stiles said, "the creation of this new board of directors is most exciting to me as executive director. I am confident the progressive new emphasis by the Sisters of Saint Francis to meet the challenge of the delivery of health care today will be fulfilled through this coordinated effort.

"I look forward with pride and anticipation to working with the new board members as we jointly accept the task set before us," he said.

$12.5 Million Med Center Dedication Rites Slated

Omaha (AP) — The new Lutheran Medical Center — the the Midwest's first all-private room general hospital and Omaha's first all-new community mental health center — a $12.5 million project — will be dedicated here Saturday.

The general hospital provides 209 beds of which 167 already are in use and eight floors with three for basic services and five for patient rooms.

The mental health center is an addition to the Richard H. Young Memorial Pavilion.

The construction is at 26th and Dewey where the Lutheran hospital has been located. This location, builders said, retains its close ties with industry, yet it is only two blocks from an Interstate Highway exit.

All-Private Rooms

Lester H. Wehner, administrator, said the all-private room concept allows greater efficiency in patient care and hospitalization insurance companies have agreed to provide coverage for their clients with policies calling for double rooms, since rates will be higher than the usual two-bed charge.

Wehner said 95% of the new rooms can be occupied at all times instead of the usual 85% maximum. He pointed out that in multi-bed hospitals children cannot be placed in rooms with adults, men in rooms with women and there is a reluctance to place two patients with the same illness or the same doctor in a room together.

Innovative features in the new hospital include radiant ceiling heat and individual room temperature controls, pocket radio receivers for nurses instead of nursing stations, and a traffic pattern which makes it impossible for the paths of soiled and clean materials to cross.

Food is brought to patient floors in heated and refrigerated carts via automatic conveyor.

David Citian Killed, Wife Hurt In Crash

David City (UPI) — A two-car accident on state Spur 12B one mile north and one east of here took the life of Nick Hein Jr., 61, of David City, Tuesday afternoon.

The mishap occurred at 2:55 p.m. as Hein was making a left turn into his farm driveway.

His car was in collision with one driven by James Miratsky, 58, Bruno, Neb. Miratsky was treated at a David City hospital and released.

Sheriff Leo Meister said the collision was near head-on.

A passenger in the Hein car was the victim's wife, Catherine, 52. She was taken to Lincoln General Hospital in serious condition.

Mrs. Stephen Tarcza of Kansas City, Mo., won the best-of-show award for her display at the Lincoln Gem and Mineral Club Show held here last weekend.

Trio Receive Jail Sentences, Fourth Placed On Probation

Schuyler (AP) — Three persons were handed jail sentences on charges of unlawful possession of marijuana and a fourth was placed on probation here by Colfax County Judge Joe R. Broz.

Judge Broz dismissed charges against five other young persons but in a memorandum opinion held that the others were guilty.

The nine were arrested March 2 in a raid on former rural school house 3½ miles north of Schuyler.

Judge Broz dismissed the charge of unlawful possession of Cannabis — marijuana — against Lawrence Donohue, 20, Omaha; Bradford Garrett, 22, Schuyler; Patty Graham, 18, Omaha; Stephen Green, 21, Chicago; and Marilyn Spulak, 17, Schuyler. He said evidence did not disclose they had possession "by the mere fact that they were on the premises at the time the officers entered . . ."

He found Scott Misner, 23, Schuyler, Paul Ehrenberger, 20, Schuyler, David Cook, 20, Schuyler, and Charlene Mildrexler, 18, Omaha guilty of unlawful possession of marijuana.

Misner, Ehrenberger and Cook were sentened to seven days each in the county jail, ordered to attend a course of instruction on drug misuse conducted by the State Health Department as prescribed by law and to take medical treatment. They also were assessed court costs.

Charlene Mildrexler also was found guilty but Judge Broz ordered her put on probation to her parents for three months. She was ordered also to take the state approved instruction on drug misuse and to furnish proof to the court of compliance, and to obtain medical treatment.

Omaha Woman Electrocuted While Cleaning Refrigerator

Omaha (AP) — Mrs. Larry W. Cerveny, 27, was electrocuted late Monday while cleaning a refrigerator in the basement of their home, police reported.

Cerveny said his 6-year-old daughter, Kristine, met him in the driveway and told him to go to the basement because her mother was sick. The girl said she found her mother on the floor but received a shock and was knocked to the floor when she touched her. Cerveny said he was able to pull his wife away from the refrigerator but he could not revive her.

City electrical inspectors told police the basement refrigerator was not properly grounded.

Howells Resident Quietly Marks Her 101st Birthday Anniversary

Howells (AP) — Mrs. Anna Stangel spent her 101st birthday quietly here Tuesday. At least more quiet than last year when numerous relatives and friends came to call.

Mrs. Stangel, who has lived in Howells since her marriage to Wenzel Stangel in 1893, remains in reasonably good health. She crochets, knits and sews, has a small garden and does some of her own housework.

A daughter, Mr. Agnes Myers, lives with her. Her husband, Wenzel, a harnessmaker in Schuyler, died in the 1930s.

Besides Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Stangel has eight living children: Egon, Joe, George and Ferd, all of Onawa, Iowa; Carl of Omaha; Mrs. Bertha Fiala and Mrs. Clara Baumert of Howells, and Mrs. Jack Nagengast of Pocahontas, Iowa.

Mrs. Stangel was born in Germany in 1870 and moved to Omaha at the age of 16.

She has 23 grandchildren, 64 great-grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

Fremont Youth Dies In Mishap On Family Farm

Fremont (AP) — Brian Snider, 2, was dead on arrival at a Fremont hospital Monday after an accident on his family's farm southwest of Fremont.

Deputy Saunders Co. Atty. Everett Inbody said the boy was playing on a flat-bed trailer with a roof on it when the roof fell on him, pinning him underneath.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Snider.

Butler County Hospital OKd

David City (UPI — Butler County voters Tuesday approved bonds for construction of a new $1.3 million county hospital by a vote of 1,978 for and 1,296 against.

A simple majority was needed and the approximate 100 absentee ballots cannot change the outcome.

The 33-bed hospital will be financed by 15-year bonds. The building will be located in the southeast part of David City.

The structure will replace a 23-bed hospital operated by a non-profit corporation. Usable facilities in the old hospital will be utilized in the new structure.

The present hospital was said to be overcrowded and could not be effectively remodeled. It was built in 1911, remodeled in 1929 and a wing added in 1961.

CAP Searching For Missing Pilot

Scottsbluff (AP) — Nebraska and South Dakota Civil Air Patrol pilots continued to search Tuesday for a Lead, S.D., pilot last heard from at 1:11 p.m. Monday.

The pilot is Darrel D. Moore, about 50, who filed a flight plan from Belle Fourche, S.D., to North Platte, Neb. He was bound for Kearney where his father is hospitalized. His last radio contact was with the Rapid City, S.D., flight service.

The South Dakota CAP wing had six planes in the air Tuesday flying a search pattern between Rapid City and Chadron, Neb.

Strawders Buy Furman Ranch

Alliance (UPI) — The sale of the 3,850 acre Furman Hereford ranch along the Niobrara River in Dawes and Box Butte Counties has been reported.

Purchasers were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Strawder and their son of Hudson, Colo. The price was not disclosed.

Seller was Mrs. Frances Chicoine of Chadron, Neb., formerly Mrs. John Furman, and her two children, Steve Furman of Crawford, Neb., and Mrs. Susan Geister of Chadron.

Prison Trusty Turns Himself In

Omaha (AP) — Omaha police say a trusty who walked away from the State Reformatory on April 26 has turned himself in.

They identified him as Marshall Lee Washington, 27. He was sentenced last October to a one-to-five year term for forcible rape.

Prison Trusty Turns Himself In

Omaha (AP) — Omaha police say a trusty who walked away from the State Reformatory on April 26 has turned himself in.

They identified him as Marshall Lee Washington, 27. He was sentenced last October to a one-to-five year term for forcible rape.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Ralph Nader isn't always right but what he said to the Senate Commerce Committee this week contains a lot of meat, It is important that we recognize the principle of what he was talking about as well as his specific complaints against the auto industry.

"Coldly and with slide-rule precision," Nader said. "the auto industry has produced cars which need repairs so often that it creates a multi-billion-dollar replacement market marked by enormous and monopolistic company markups" on parts. "If there are criminal penalties for the poor and deprived when they break the law," he said, "then there must be criminal penalties for the automobile industry when its executives knowingly violate standards designed to protect citizens from injuries and systematic fraud."

What he is talking about in principle is the dual standard of measure that is so often applied in our society. It is not something that hits you in the face. but rather, something cloaked in a mantle of righteousness and nurtured in political and economic power.

This week, the Census Bureau reported that the number of Americans living in poverty increased sharply in the last two years. Another 1.2 million have entered the poverty ranks in the past two years. bringing their total in the nation to 25.5 million.

For the sake of the record, the poverty level is drawn at $3,944 or less a year for a family of four.

Now how, you might ask. does the poverty matter relate to what Mr. Nader has to say about the auto industry? In criticizing the auto industry. Nader is talking in behalf of mostly little people in the nation — people who sink a large percentage of their income into an automobile from which they then receive poor service.

Who is it that suffers as a result of the practices that are followed by the auto industry? Those who suffer the most are those who can afford it the least and this is constantly the case in this nation.

This is a part of what our young people are talking about, the disparities that exist among people and the national values that seem to take no cognizance of the injustices that prevail. These are values which, somehow. seem to say that it is all right for big industry to do anything that makes it a profit.

These are values that say to an administration in Washington that you fight inflation by making the poor people pay for it. Now some of the so-called rich people suffer, too, in the slowdown of the economy that accompanies the fight against inflation.

These are the middle executive group where salaries may be $20.000 to even $40.000 a year. But are these really the rich? They are not rich compared to a lot of corporate executives and to management and ownership individuals who are in the $100,000-a-year-and-up bracket.

And the middle executive group are a very small part of the total unemployment picture. Most in that group are far lower on the economic scale and there are millions others who. while not unemployed, have suffered a great deal as a result of high interest rates alone.

What we are talking about are values that call for high interest rates to control inflation, a device for further entrenching the wealth of the nation in the hands of a few people.

What Nader is talking about is not only industrial practices that rob the poor and middle-income group, but other aspects of our system, as well, that do the same thing. Big investments overseas are a significant contribution to our nation's deficit balance of payments, another ultimate expense to the average wage-earner, but it is said that there is little we can do about this.

When we talk about heating up the economy to stop the downturn from the fight against inflation, President Nixon talks and works for greater depreciation write-offs for industry. That is another example of the kind of values to which Nader refers.

We have talked a lot in recent years in this country about greater equality and opportunity among people but we have done precious little about it. We still persist, quite mistakenly, in the theory that if a few at the top have enough more than they need. something will trickle down to those below.

Call For Decison Grows On War-Making Powers

WASHINGTON — Like Topsy, the war powers of the president just grew. They have grown so extensively that they now exceed those of the Congress, in which the Constitution vested sole authority to declare war. Now the legislative branch is belatedly trying to redress the balance.

S731 and two similar bills undertake to lay down rules governing use of the armed forces in the absence of a congressional declaration of war. For example. S731 specifies that the president. acting as commander-in-chief, may order U.S. forces into combat to (1) repel a sudden attack against American territory; (2) repel an attack against U.S. forces on the high seas or lawfully stationed on foreign territory; (3) protect American lives and property abroad; (4) comply with a treaty or similar commitment, provided it was approved by Congress.

The key provision of the bill stipulates that "military hostilities, in the absence of a declaration of war, shall not be sustained beyond 30 days from the date of their initiation except as provided in legislation enacted by the Congress." If such legislation had been enacted seven years ago, the Vietnam war could have been ended by congressional fiat on Sept. 9, 1964—30 days after adoption of the so-called Tonkin Gulf Resolution.

In the early days of the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln used not only the war powers at his disposal but also some of the powers reserved to Congress. Without congressional authorization, Lincoln issued a proclamation, May 3, 1861, increasing the size of the regular Army and the Navy and calling for 80.000 volunteers. Moreover, he ordered 19 vessels added to the Navy.

When Congress convened, July 4, 1861, the president declared that some of his emergency measures, "whether strictly legal or not, were ventured upon under what appeared to be a popular demand and a public necessity, trusting then, as now, Congress would readily ratify them." Congress did.

Bills questioning the president's power to conduct undeclared wars have been introduced in the legislatures of at least 10 states. The prototype of such legislation is a bill that became law in Massachusetts last April 2. It provided that Bay State servicemen. in the absence of a congressional declaration of war, could refuse to engage in "armed hostilities" that are "not an emergency" and "not otherwise authorized in the powers granted to the . . . commander-in-chief."

The U.S. Supreme Court refused last autumn to pass on the constitutionality of the Massachusetts law until it had been tested in the lower federal courts. Steven Worth, a Northeastern University faculty member who helped draft the measure, hopes to induce several other states to undertake similar court tests. These states, plus Massachusetts, would then present a joint appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The objective, win or lose, would be to bring pressure on the federal government to define its war powers — and thereby perhaps limit them.

'I'm Accustomed To A Greeting Of Cordiality And Respect—'

Some Prefer Lip Service

Monday the City Council, to its credit, adopted a strong stand in opposition to racial discrimination by private clubs in their membership policies. Support for the resolution was not unanimous, as one might have hoped for, however. It was approved on a narrow 4-3 vote, as three members of the council apparently still prefer to pay lip service to the concept of racial equality.

The resolution was born out of an earlier council action which recommended approval of liquor license for the Elks, Moose and Eagles lodges. City Atty. Dick Wood had told the council that it had no legal choice under the State Liquor Control Act other than to recommend approval since discrimination in membership is not illegal under the act.

The council majority's intent, however, was expressed in Monday's resolution which stated that the council "does not condone any governmental agency bestowing a privilege in the nature of a liquor license on any association or organization which maintains a policy of racial discrimination in its membership."

Councilmen Merle Hale, Ervin Peterson and Dick Hartsock opposed the strong stand, with Hale and Council Chairman Peterson agreeing that its wording amounts to "coercion." Hale further argued that the resolution represents "an invasion of privacy and an attempt to dictate membership policies." "I do not condone the restriction (on membership by the lodges) but I do not like to see force such as this used to accomplish such a purpose," Hale said. He said he would agree only to a resolution as earlier proposed expressing opposition to discrimination in general.

It is such "general" resolutions, vapid and condescending in nature, which generate only frustration and accomplish nothing useful. The council is already on record as opposing discrimination in general. It is a fact of life that it has taken moral coercion and the force of respected opinion — as well as violence — to further the goal of racial equality. The citizens of Lincoln gain nothing if the council refuses to meet the issue.

Council members Pete Peterson, Helen Boosalis. Bill Davidson and Tom Allman are to be commended for taking the stronger stand.

New Library Needed

It is hoped that the persuasive powers of Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln prevail when his colleagues in the Legislature consider the request he will make for funds to finance an addition to Love Library on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus. Simpson will be seeking to expand the capital construction funds by $5 million for this purpose.

As things now stand, the capital construction budget promises to be a strict one, with $180,000 in planning for the library. This is an injustice on two counts. For one thing, the planning is basically done and nothing in this line would be needed except some minor alterations to meet demands of the moment.

Secondly, the facility in question is needed now, not two or three years from now. The library just hit the one-million-volume mark and is still growing. But much of its inventory is scattered throughout the university, making it difficult and nearly impossible in some cases for the material needed to be found.

The library is the focal point of the educational process at the university, higher education relying heavily upon the research ability of the individual student. Not only are the materials of the library scattered, but there is a serious lack of room for students to use the facility.

It all boils down to the fact that the real potential of the library can never be realized without the addition which Simpson is championing. Beyond that, the potential of the library needs to be constantly improved and this cannot be done with the existing physical plant.

The library program is one that deserves a high priority rating by senators and one that we cannot, in honesty. put off to another time. This is a responsibility we have today, just as another generation in time past had the responsibility and assumed it to provide those facilities we are currently enjoying.

Kissinger Holds To Fundamentals Of Resistance Despite Proof Of Futility Of Vietnam Conflict

LONDON — On May 8, 1970, shortly after American forces entered Cambodia, a dozen of Henry Kissinger's old colleagues at Harvard went down to Washington to talk with him. Kissinger or someone later put it about that they had threatened to keep him from returning to Harvard, which was false. What they did do was express their despair at the administration's war policy, and their bewilderment at the part played in it by a man of his intellect and experience.

At the end, Kissinger said he hoped they would all come back in a year and agree that they had been wrong. The year is up. No anniversary meeting is in fact taking place. But Kissinger hardly needs a meeting to know that his friends would still be deeply concerned, would still in effect ask him: how can you do it?

Like the President he advises, Kissinger is evidently a fundamentalist on America's duty to resist communism in the world. In Vietnam that hard-line instinct has had to be squared with his awareness of the military difficulties there and of the war's political cost at home. The contradictory themes can be sensed in the policy.

On the one hand. American ground troops are being steadily withdrawn — a trend that Kissinger would rightly tell his friends was a great change. On the other, the war has been widened in the last year. American bombing of all four Indochinese states goes on, with the effects on civilians that we now cannot avoid knowing, and President Nixon has refused to put any limit on American military involvement.

The objective is clear enough. It is to win a political settlement even as the United States pulls out — by punishing the enemy until he gives up or makes basic political concessions to the existing Saigon government.

Kissinger has made no secret of his personal reasons for thinking we must carry on the war in that way. They are two. One is to maintain our credibility as a world power — not to look, as the President said, like a pitiful helpless giant. The other, with Weimar in mind, is to avoid a sense of defeat at home that could swing America disastrously to the right.

☆ ☆ ☆

Those ends might indeed justify the attempt if there were any realistic hope of the other side's giving up. But there is no such hope.

That is the burden of a brilliant analysis published recently by a former colleague of Kissinger, Prof. Stanley Hoffmann of Harvard. It appears in the spring issue of the new quarterly, "Foreign Policy."

It is "bizarre" to think that what we are doing in Vietnam will enhance our credibility in the world, Hoffmann writes. For we have proved that the U.S. cannot finally defeat, any more than other powers can, a rebellion fed by both domestic conditions and external aid. All we can do is keep an endless and punishing war going on our own client's territory.

The policy of endless war is just as unlikely to achieve the other objective, domestic tranquility. An extraordinary Louis Harris poll last week showed that a 2-to-1 majority of Americans think it "morally wrong" for the U.S. to be fighting in Vietnam. And practical reasons — military fears about the effect on Army morale, for example — also argue that a quick exit is more important domestically than a seemingly victorious one. The Weimar parallel is false.

The alternative to war without end, the painful one, is to admit that there has to be political accommodation in South Vietnam and that the communists cannot be made to do all the accommodating. There must be change in Saigon.

The U.S. cannot properly force change. But it can stop supporting General Thieu and thus, as Hoffmann says, stop sitting on the lid of South Vietnamese politics. It can encourage change merely by making clear to friends and enemies that we do not envisage endless war. We can do that by fixing a date for total withdrawal, or even symbolically by changing ambassadors in Saigon.

The special function of a foreign affairs expert serving in the White House is to steer a president away from wishful thinking, to make him face the hard alternatives that exist in real life. The dangerous temptation is one that President Kennedy noted with irony is some of his professorial advisers, to be more political than the politicians.

The Follies

Lincoln, Neb.

This letter is in reply to the letter, "A Challenge," of May 4. The writer had something to say about the morals of the young people. The production of the Ziegfeld Follies was just being used as an example but I'm afraid the lady doesn't know what she has done to the reputation of the faculty, administration and student body of Lefler. Anyone who didn't see the spring festival would think that Lefler were a terribly corrupt school.

In defense of the Ziegfied Follies, I would like to say that the skits were written by the students of the drama classes. The ideas for the skits came from television soap operas and variety shows. If this lady would like to wipe out the breakdown of morals, I suggest she write to the television networks and complain. It was her generation who invented TV. If she was so concerned, why didn't she sign her name?

Only Satire

Lincoln, Neb.

As a participant in the Ziegfeld Follies part of the Millard Lefler spring festival, I found the letter from "Concerned Parent" very disappointing. If she couldn't see and appreciate the satire and humor in the program, she is a very unique person.

If she doesn't think that parents today teach their youngsters the evils of alcohol and marital problems, then she is wrong. For one thing, the skits concerning drunkenness and extra-marital affairs were written entirely by students, which proves that we know about it. Also, both skits were satire; they ridiculed and pointed out, not condoned or encouraged these two human faults.

Students at Millard Lefler aren't stupid or degenerate, so I feel deeply hurt that she suggested this in her letter. Next time she watches television, reads a satire, sees a satirical play, or attends a school program, she should try to recognize and separate satire (for humor and education) from just plain "smut."

Cigarette Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

I can't understand all the criticism directed at Bob Devaney because of the cigarette tax raise. Coach Devaney merely lobbied on behalf of obtaining money for a new fieldhouse. He didn't draft the bill or vote it in.

I can't believe that the senators passed the bill merely because of Devaney. I think they passed it because they believed the state needs a new fieldhouse as well as the state office building and the Beatrice State Home building.

If this new tax results in a lot of people's giving up cigarettes, maybe they will be better off. I doubt, however, that many people will give up their cigarettes. If a person wants to smoke cigarettes, he is going to keep it up regardless of the price.

I agree that the cigarette tax seems unfair to a lot of people Many people who help pay for the fieldhouse will not get any benefit from it and some who get the benefit will have paid nothing on it. But this is true of other taxes, too. For instance, our city wheel tax. We in town pay the wheel tax for street improvements and many people live just out of the city limits and pay no wheel tax though most of their driving is done in the city.

No tax will ever satisfy everybody.

Cycle Danger

Lincoln, Neb.

An editorial in the May 6 Star dealt with the hazards of operating a motorcycle in Lincoln.

Physicians, nurses, police officers and ambulance personnel realize the extreme danger of the motorcycle, but little is said to the public.

The fact that automobile drivers simply do not watch for motorcycles, along with the lack of protection cycles offer their riders in the event of a crash, makes them a dangerous machine.

The chance of serious injury or even death must outweigh the fun and economy of cycles and the inconvenience of helmets.

Serious motorcycle accidents are skyrocketing to the degree that some steps must be taken to protect these citizens.

Promises

Burwell, Neb.

Well, more promises — recession leveling off, '71 good and '72 better. Guess I should have voted for Nixon, but on second thought, I just happened to remember the promises he made in '68.

One writer said we should give Nixon a chance. How about Nixon's giving the poor people a chance?

Public opinion is anti-war. I think the sooner we withdraw, the fewer lives will be lost. If one boy is killed one day too late, his life was worth as much to him as the lives of more boys, so let's get them back home.

Nixon will try most anything for a credit and anything for votes. He has screwed his face into many shapes to create the right image.

I think the people would give Nixon a chance if he would leave politics out of the picture and really try to end the war.

Raising Social Security payments is just bait, I think, and in such a way that the poor and middle-class will pick up the tab. The welfare of our country should be the concern of our President and that doesn't seem to be happening at this time.

Farmer's Load

Avoca, Neb.

Nebraska is fortunate in having a governor with the courage to represent the majority of the people instead of the special interests only. Let's get behind him and let him know we appreciate the great job he is doing.

It is very sad that the majority of our senators have chosen to represent only the selfish interests. It is unfortunate that so many of our family farmers and small business firms have been so brainwashed by the proponents of the personal property tax bill. Don't they realize the benefits will go to the corporate giants. who already pass on all their taxes to the consumer. This will just give them more money to gobble up the small farms and businesses.

It would be very wise for the people to find out from their assessors what comes under the category of personal property.

Many farmers have been led to believe that taxes are their problem. If farm prices were on a level with the rest of the economy, taxes would not be a burden. It would be much wiser to pull together for better farm prices than to shift our taxes to someone else.

Remember, when the sales tax is increased, the farmer pays it, too. The family farmer will usually pay more than he did in personal property taxes.

Law's Purpose

Lincoln, Neb.

The furor over the decision of the City Council to grant liquor licenses to Eagles, Elks and Moose lodges, despite the fact that they practice segregation, is both ridiculous and sickening.

The issue at stake in granting a liquor license should not be whether such an establishment is in violation of some federal "civil rights" or "social progress" law, but whether said establishment can conduct its trade in a peaceful and orderly manner and refrain, for example, from selling liquor to minors.

The true purpose of law is to preserve order and domestic tranquility, protect the goods, the lives and the well-being of the decent from violence, theft or fraud, and to set forth penalties for the breaking of the law. When law is used for purposes of "social progress" — then the law is being misused!

I am not saying these lodges are in the right when they bar non-white races from their premises. They are not! But I am saying that it would have been wrong for the City Council to refuse to grant them liquor licenses for that reason.

Big Brother

Hebron, Neb.

Sometimes significant happenings are overlooked by reporters and the general public. At the people's hearing on Legislative Resolution 32 (a call to end the war in Indochina), there was such a happening. It seems rather significant that the Lincoln police were filming everyone present. Here was a peaceful hearing with many respectable state leaders and the police taking a photographic record of everyone!

Does this mean that the Lincoln police consider it dangerous to express a view that is at variance with national official practice? Have they decided there is danger and wrong in expressing differences? If so, there is danger in the U.S. Constitution! This kind of surveillance should be reported to the public. It could tend to intimidate and cut off debate on important issues. If so, that would be the death of the democratic system and a very high price to pay for whatever the purpose of the watchful eye of Big Brother.

WASHINGTON — Like Topsy, the war powers of the president just grew. They have grown so extensively that they now exceed those of the Congress, in which the Constitution vested sole authority to declare war. Now the legislative branch is belatedly trying to redress the balance.

S731 and two similar bills undertake to lay down rules governing use of the armed forces in the absence of a congressional declaration of war. For example, S731 specifies that the president, acting as commander-in-chief, may order U.S. forces into combat to (1) repel a sudden attack against American territory; (2) repel an attack against U.S. forces on the high seas or lawfully stationed on foreign territory; (3) protect American lives and property abroad; (4) comply with a treaty or similar commitment, provided it was approved by Congress.

The key provision of the bill stipulates that "military hostilities, in the absence of a declaration of war, shall not be sustained beyond 30 days from the date of their initiation except as provided in legislation enacted by the Congress." If such legislation had been enacted seven years ago, the Vietnam war could have been ended by congressional fiat on Sept. 9, 1964—30 days after adoption of the so-called Tonkin Gulf Resolution.

In the early days of the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln used not only the war powers at his disposal but also some of the powers reserved to Congress. Without congressional authorization, Lincoln issued a proclamation, May 3, 1861, increasing the size of the regular Army and the Navy and calling for 80,000 volunteers. Moreover, he ordered 19 vessels added to the Navy.

When Congress convened, July 4, 1861, the president declared that some of his emergency measures, "whether strictly legal or not, were ventured upon under what appeared to be a popular demand and a public necessity, trusting then, as now, Congress would readily ratify them." Congress did.

Bills questioning the president's power to conduct undeclared wars have been introduced in the legislatures of at least 10 states. The prototype of such legislation is a bill that became law in Massachusetts last April 2. It provided that Bay State servicemen, in the absence of a congressional declaration of war, could refuse to engage in "armed hostilities" that are "not an emergency" and "not otherwise authorized in the powers granted to the . . . commander-in-chief."

The U.S. Supreme Court refused last autumn to pass on the constitutionality of the Massachusetts law until it had been tested in the lower federal courts. Steven Worth, a Northeastern University faculty member who helped draft the measure, hopes to induce several other states to undertake similar court tests. These states, plus Massachusetts, would then present a joint appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The objective, win or lose, would be to bring pressure on the federal government to define its war powers — and thereby perhaps limit them.

'I'm Accustomed To A Greeting Of Cordiality And Respect—'

Some Prefer Lip Service

Monday the City Council, to its credit, adopted a strong stand in opposition to racial discrimination by private clubs in their membership policies. Support for the resolution was not unanimous, as one might have hoped for, however. It was approved on a narrow 4-3 vote, as three members of the council apparently still prefer to pay lip service to the concept of racial equality.

The resolution was born out of an earlier council action which recommended approval of liquor license for the Elks, Moose and Eagles lodges. City Atty. Dick Wood had told the council that it had no legal choice under the State Liquor Control Act other than to recommend approval since discrimination in membership is not illegal under the act.

The council majority's intent, however, was expressed in Monday's resolution which stated that the council "does not condone any governmental agency bestowing a privilege in the nature of a liquor license on any association or organization which maintains a policy of racial discrimination in its membership."

Councilmen Merle Hale, Ervin Peterson and Dick Hartsock opposed the strong stand, with Hale and Council Chairman Peterson agreeing that its wording amounts to "coercion." Hale further argued that the resolution represents "an invasion of privacy and an attempt to dictate membership policies." "I do not condone the restriction (on membership by the lodges) but I do not like to see force such as this used to accomplish such a purpose," Hale said. He said he would agree only to a resolution as earlier proposed expressing opposition to discrimination in general.

It is such "general" resolutions, vapid and condescending in nature, which generate only frustration and accomplish nothing useful. The council is already on record as opposing discrimination in general. It is a fact of life that it has taken moral coercion and the force of respected opinion — as well as violence — to further the goal of racial equality. The citizens of Lincoln gain nothing if the council refuses to meet the issue.

Council members Pete Peterson, Helen Boosalis, Bill Davidson and Tom Allman are to be commended for taking the stronger stand.

New Library Needed

It is hoped that the persuasive powers of Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln prevail when his colleagues in the Legislature consider the request he will make for funds to finance an addition to Love Library on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus. Simpson will be seeking to expand the capital construction funds by $5 million for this purpose.

As things now stand, the capital construction budget promises to be a strict one, with $180,000 in planning for the library. This is an injustice on two counts. For one thing, the planning is basically done and nothing in this line would be needed except some minor alterations to meet demands of the moment.

Secondly, the facility in question is needed now, not two or three years from now. The library just hit the one-million-volume mark and is still growing. But much of its inventory is scattered throughout the university, making it difficult and nearly impossible in some cases for the material needed to be found.

The library is the focal point of the educational process at the university, higher education relying heavily upon the research ability of the individual student. Not only are the materials of the library scattered, but there is a serious lack of room for students to use the facility.

It all boils down to the fact that the real potential of the library can never be realized without the addition which Simpson is championing. Beyond that, the potential of the library needs to be constantly improved and this cannot be done with the existing physical plant.

The library program is one that deserves a high priority rating by senators and one that we cannot, in honesty, put off to another time. This is a responsibility we have today, just as another generation in time past had the responsibility and assumed it to provide those facilities we are currently enjoying.

Kissinger Holds To Fundamentals Of Resistance Despite Proof Of Futility Of Vietnam Conflict

LONDON — On May 8, 1970, shortly after American forces entered Cambodia, a dozen of Henry Kissinger's old colleagues at Harvard went down to Washington to talk with him. Kissinger or someone later put it about that they had threatened to keep him from returning to Harvard, which was false. What they did do was express their despair at the administration's war policy, and their bewilderment at the part played in it by a man of his intellect and experience.

At the end, Kissinger said he hoped they would all come back in a year and agree that they had been wrong. The year is up. No anniversary meeting is in fact taking place. But Kissinger hardly needs a meeting to know that his friends would still be deeply concerned, would still in effect ask him: how can you do it?

Like the President he advises, Kissinger is evidently a fundamentalist on America's duty to resist communism in the world. In Vietnam that hard-line instinct has had to be squared with his awareness of the military difficulties there and of the war's political cost at home. The contradictory themes can be sensed in the policy.

On the one hand, American ground troops are being steadily withdrawn — a trend that Kissinger would rightly tell his friends was a great change. On the other, the war has been widened in the last year. American bombing of all four Indochinese states goes on, with the effects on civilians that we now cannot avoid knowing, and President Nixon has refused to put any limit on American military involvement.

The objective is clear enough. It is to win a political settlement even as the United States pulls out — by punishing the enemy until he gives up or makes basic political concessions to the existing Saigon government.

Kissinger has made no secret of his personal reasons for thinking we must carry on the war in that way. They are two. One is to maintain our credibility as a world power — not to look, as the President said, like a pitiful helpless giant. The other, with Weimar in mind, is to avoid a sense of defeat at home that could swing America disastrously to the right.

☆ ☆ ☆

Those ends might indeed justify the attempt if there were any realistic hope of the other side's giving up. But there is no such hope.

That is the burden of a brilliant analysis published recently by a former colleague of Kissinger, Prof. Stanley Hoffmann of Harvard. It appears in the spring issue of the new quarterly, "Foreign Policy."

It is "bizarre" to think that what we are doing in Vietnam will enhance our credibility in the world, Hoffmann writes. For we have proved that the U.S. cannot finally defeat, any more than other powers can, a rebellion fed by both domestic conditions and external aid. All we can do is keep an endless and punishing war going on our own client's territory.

The policy of endless war is just as unlikely to achieve the other objective, domestic tranquility. An extraordinary Louis Harris poll last week showed that a 2-to-1 majority of Americans think it "morally wrong" for the U.S. to be fighting in Vietnam. And practical reasons — military fears about the effect on Army morale, for example — also argue that a quick exit is more important domestically than a seemingly victorious one. The Weimar parallel is false.

The alternative to war without end, the painful one, is to admit that there has to be political accommodation in South Vietnam and that the communists cannot be made to do all the accommodating. There must be change in Saigon.

The U.S. cannot properly force change. But it can stop supporting General Thieu and thus, as Hoffmann says, stop sitting on the lid of South Vietnamese politics. It can encourage change merely by making clear to friends and enemies that we do not envisage endless war. We can do that by fixing a date for total withdrawal, or even symbolically by changing ambassadors in Saigon.

The special function of a foreign affairs expert serving in the White House is to steer a president away from wishful thinking, to make him face the hard alternatives that exist in real life. The dangerous temptation is one that President Kennedy noted with irony in some of his professorial advisers, to be more political than the politicians.

The Follies

Lincoln, Neb.

This letter is in reply to the letter, "A Challenge," of May 4. The writer had something to say about the morals of the young people. The production of the Ziegfeld Follies was just being used as an example but I'm afraid the lady doesn't know what she has done to the reputation of the faculty, administration and student body of Lefler. Anyone who didn't see the spring festival would think that Lefler were a terribly corrupt school.

In defense of the Ziegfied Follies, I would like to say that the skits were written by the students of the drama classes. The ideas for the skits came from television soap operas and variety shows. If this lady would like to wipe out the breakdown of morals, I suggest she write to the television networks and complain. It was her generation who invented TV. If she was so concerned, why didn't she sign her name?

Only Satire

Lincoln, Neb.

As a participant in the Ziegfeld Follies part of the Millard Lefler spring festival, I found the letter from "Concerned Parent" very disappointing. If she couldn't see and appreciate the satire and humor in the program, she is a very unique person.

If she doesn't think that parents today teach their youngsters the evils of alcohol and marital problems, then she is wrong. For one thing, the skits concerning drunkenness and extra-marital affairs were written entirely by students, which proves that we know about it. Also, both skits were satire; they ridiculed and pointed out, not condoned or encouraged these two human faults.

Students at Millard Lefler aren't stupid or degenerate, so I feel deeply hurt that she suggested this in her letter. Next time she watches television, reads a satire, sees a satirical play, or attends a school program, she should try to recognize and separate satire (for humor and education) from just plain "smut."

Cigarette Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

I can't understand all the criticism directed at Bob Devaney because of the cigarette tax raise. Coach Devaney merely lobbied on behalf of obtaining money for a new fieldhouse. He didn't draft the bill or vote it in.

I can't believe that the senators passed the bill merely because of Devaney. I think they passed it because they believed the state needs a new fieldhouse as well as the state office building and the Beatrice State Home building.

If this new tax results in a lot of people's giving up cigarettes, maybe they will be better off. I doubt, however, that many people will give up their cigarettes. If a person wants to smoke cigarettes, he is going to keep it up regardless of the price.

I agree that the cigarette tax seems unfair to a lot of people. Many people who help pay for the fieldhouse will not get any benefit from it and some who get the benefit will have paid nothing on it. But this is true of other taxes, too. For instance, our city wheel tax. We in town pay the wheel tax for street improvements and many people live just out of the city limits and pay no wheel tax though most of their driving is done in the city.

No tax will ever satisfy everybody.

Cycle Danger

Lincoln, Neb.

An editorial in the May 6 Star dealt with the hazards of operating a motorcycle in Lincoln.

Physicians, nurses, police officers and ambulance personnel realize the extreme danger of the motorcycle, but little is said to the public.

The fact that automobile drivers simply do not watch for motorcycles, along with the lack of protection cycles offer their riders in the event of a crash, makes them a dangerous machine.

The chance of serious injury or even death must outweigh the fun and economy of cycles and the inconvenience of helmets.

Serious motorcycle accidents are skyrocketing to the degree that some steps must be taken to protect these citizens.

Promises

Burwell, Neb.

Well, more promises — recession leveling off, '71 good and '72 better. Guess I should have voted for Nixon, but on second thought, I just happened to remember the promises he made in '68.

One writer said we should give Nixon a chance. How about Nixon's giving the poor people a chance?

Public opinion is anti-war. I think the sooner we withdraw, the fewer lives will be lost. If one boy is killed one day too late, his life was worth as much to him as the lives of more boys, so let's get them back home.

Nixon will try most anything for a credit and anything for votes. He has screwed his face into many shapes to create the right image.

I think the people would give Nixon a chance if he would leave politics out of the picture and really try to end the war.

Raising Social Security payments is just bait, I think, and in such a way that the poor and middle-class will pick up the tab. The welfare of our country should be the concern of our President and that doesn't seem to be happening at this time.

Farmer's Load

Avoca, Neb.

Nebraska is fortunate in having a governor with the courage to represent the majority of the people instead of the special interests only. Let's get behind him and let him know we appreciate the great job he is doing.

It is very sad that the majority of our senators have chosen to represent only the selfish interests. It is unfortunate that so many of our family farmers and small business firms have been so brainwashed by the proponents of the personal property tax bill. Don't they realize the benefits will go to the corporate giants, who already pass on all their taxes to the consumer. This will just give them more money to gobble up the small farms and businesses.

It would be very wise for the people to find out from their assessors what comes under the category of personal property.

Many farmers have been led to believe that taxes are their problem. If farm prices were on a level with the rest of the economy, taxes would not be a burden. It would be much wiser to pull together for better farm prices than to shift our taxes to someone else.

Remember, when the sales tax is increased, the farmer pays it, too. The family farmer will usually pay more than he did in personal property taxes.

Law's Purpose

Lincoln, Neb.

The furor over the decision of the City Council to grant liquor licenses to Eagles, Elks and Moose lodges, despite the fact that they practice segregation, is both ridiculous and sickening.

The issue at stake in granting a liquor license should not be whether such an establishment is in violation of some federal "civil rights" or "social progress" law, but whether said establishment can conduct its trade in a peaceful and orderly manner and refrain, for example, from selling liquor to minors.

The true purpose of law is to preserve order and domestic tranquility, protect the goods, the lives and the well-being of the decent from violence, theft or fraud, and to set forth penalties for the breaking of the law. When law is used for purposes of "social progress" — then the law is being misused!

I am not saying these lodges are in the right when they bar non-white races from their premises. They are not! But I am saying that it would have been wrong for the City Council to refuse to grant them liquor licenses for that reason.

Big Brother

Hebron, Neb.

Sometimes significant happenings are overlooked by reporters and the general public. At the people's hearing on Legislative Resolution 32 (a call to end the war in Indochina), there was such a happening. It seems rather significant that the Lincoln police were filming everyone present. Here was a peaceful hearing with many respectable state leaders and the police taking a photographic record of everyone!

Does this mean that the Lincoln police consider it dangerous to express a view that is at variance with national official practice? Have they decided there is danger and wrong in expressing differences? If so, there is danger in the U.S. Constitution! This kind of surveillance should be reported to the public. It could tend to intimidate and cut off debate on important issues. If so, that would be the death of the democratic system and a very high price to pay for whatever the purpose of the watchful eye of Big Brother.

NU Faculty Senate Report Sees 'Sexual Caste System'

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The faculty senate at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln was told Tuesday that "institutional sexual discrimination" on the Lincoln campuses "takes its form through what is virtually a sexual caste system."

In a report to the senate's human rights committee, the NU-Lincoln women's rights committee said "the university has not consciously discriminated against women through any policy or policies of nonemployment of women."

But the report said its research has shown that "the patterns of employment, promotion and ages surrounding women employes . . . constitute sexually discriminatory practices which deny equal opportunity for employment, promotion and raises."

'In Lower Ranks'

In every area of the university, the report said, "women are found primarily, sometimes almost exclusively, in the lower ranks and lower pay scales."

The report was transmitted to the faculty senate in a report from the human rights committee.

"The majority of women employed in the university are in low-paying clerical positions where there is little opportunity for advancement or pay raise," the human rights committee commented.

The women's rights committee was formed last spring as a subgroup of the human rights panel. It was charged with investigating discriminatory sexual practices in the areas of faculty, students and clerical staff and concentrated its initial efforts on a survey of the latter.

Full Report Later

It said a full report will be made to the faculty senate in the fall.

The report noted that although women constitute 51% of the total population, 39% of undergraduates at Lincoln are women and only 13% of faculty members are women.

Forty-one per cent of the women faculty members are of instructor rank, the report added, compared with 13% of the male faculty members. The remainder are assistant professors or above.

The report said "the vast majority of women employes in the university are found in the lowest paying jobs, denied promotion, held to minimum raises, if any at all, and refused even procedures through which to air grievances."

'High Turnover Rate'

The result, the report concluded, is low morale among secretaries and a "high turnover rate which must seriously effect the efficiency level."

The subcommittee said the most encouraging sign that the institution "desires to correct" the patterns of sexual discrimination is an "affirmative action program" introduced by Vice Chancellor Howard Neville and subsequently adopted by the regents.

The program, the group said, is designed to insure that all applicants and employes will be treated without regard to race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

Complaint Investigated

The subcommittee also said it investigated a complaint of sexual discrimination in the selection of members of the NU marching band.

The committee was assured, it reported, that "in the future the marching band would be open to both men and women."

The human rights committee also reported that at its request the dean of faculties has established one committee to advise departments in the recruitment of minority staff members and another to aid in development of curricular programs dealing with minorities.

The committee said it is now forming another committee to study policy for police surveillance of campus activities.

Calendar Changed

In action Tuesday, the senate voted to change dates in the 1972-73 calendar to begin the school year after Labor Day and reduce the Thanksgiving vacation to Thursday only.

It also voted to establish the spring vacation as the tenth week of the second semester, a move which would change the practice of tying the spring vacation to the Easter holiday.

The action are in line with a new calendar, to go into effect for the first time next year, under which the first semester ends before the Christmas vacation

Furrow Receives Year's Sentence

Hastings (UPI) — Ronald Furrow, 35, Hastings was sentenced to one year in the state penal complex Tuesday on a motor vehicle homicide conviction in Adams County District Court here.

He had pleaded no contest to the charge last month in connection with the death of Richard Miller, 42, of Hastings last Dec. 17.

Miller, an employee of the Burlington Northern Railroad, had been called from his home shortly after midnight to fix a railroad crossing signal alarm on the Highway 281 bypass east of here, and was struck and killed by the Furrow vehicle.

PROGRESS REPORT NO. 1

Expansion and progress . . . an important part of Total Savings of Lincoln's No. 1 Supermarkets.

The leader in low prices is also the leader in modern supermarkets. We're growing with Lincoln.

Now in the final stages of construction is our brand new supermarket at the Gateway Shopping Center. Located just North and East of the main complex, this new store will bring greater access and parking in addition to being much larger. There'll be loads of plus features and new departments. Watch for opening soon.

At 59th and Adams we are in the early stages of a complete remodeling and expansion program. It's Lincoln's most beautiful supermarket. We're pushing out the walls to make room for new departments and the very latest in fixturing. We're striving to keep any inconveniences to a minimum. PROGRESS REPORT NO. 1

Expansion and progress . . . an important part of Total Savings of Lincoln's No. 1 Supermarkets.

The leader in low prices is also the leader in modern supermarkets. We're growing with Lincoln.

Now in the final stages of construction is our brand new supermarket at the Gateway Shopping Center. Located just North and East of the main complex, this new store will bring greater access and parking in addition to being much larger. There'll be loads of plus features and new departments. Watch for opening soon.

At 59th and Adams we are in the early stages of a complete remodeling and expansion program. It's Lincoln's most beautiful supermarket. Defector Doubts N. Vietnam To Free All U.S. Prisoners

Saigon (UPI) — A Vietnamese doctor who rose through the ranks of the Communist Party until he defected in 1969 said Tuesday he doubted that all American prisoners of war would eventually be permitted to return home.

"Evidence of this is that not all of the French prisoners of war have been released even to the present day," said Dr. Dan Tan, 42, who was born in central South Vietnam and began his career as a guerrilla fighter when the Viet Minh were fighting the French and Japanese in 1945.

Tan, speaking at a news conference called by the South Vietnamese government, said, "Instead of according these POWs even a modicum of humane treatment and of attempting to sincerely solve this problem in a civilized manner, North Vietnam considers these POWs as bargaining tools, as commodities to be used to help achieve North Vietnam's political objectives.

"North Vietnam has steadfastly refused to solve the problem related to POWs. The reason North Vietnam has refused even to receive the disabled POWs who were returned to the North by the South is because North Vietnam wishes to deny its own aggression in South Vietnam."

Under questioning, Tan estimated there were 300 French still held in captivity in the North. He alleged he had seen them working on road and maintenance projects in North Vietnam as late as 1965.

Deshler Telephone Co. Authorized To Borrow $510,000 To Convert

The State Railway Commission announced Tuesday it has authorized the Deshler Telephone Co. to borrow $510,000 for the purpose of converting the Deshler exchange from a manual to a dial system.

The company will use $36,000 of its own capital funds along with the loan from the Rural Electrification Administration in installing the new dial service of one-party phones.

The system will provide toll-free area service between Deshler and Byron.

The commission said it has ordered the conversion completed by Dec. 1 with the company to make monthly progress reports.

The commission said its action results from an order that the Deshler Telephone Co. show cause for its failure to install the dial system promised in 1969 when the company was purchased by American Communications Co. of Gardner, Kan.

Creative Crafts Fair Scheduled

Fremont (UPI) — More than 30 craftsmen and artisans from Nebraska and surrounding states will be exhibiting at the first annual Midland College creative crafts fair Saturday and Sunday.

The exhibit will be held in the Hopkins arena.

Geneva — Police banned bathers from the Swiss shores of Lake Lugano after official tests showed that pollution in some parts had reached nearly twice the safety limit.

The tests showed that pollution in Lugano's public bathing area had reached between 270 and 370 points on a scale used to test water purity. The safe human tolerance is 200 points.

The public bathing area was closed down, and the nearby Lido had to close its bathing shore, though it still operates two chlorinated swimming pools.

Tass Says Popov Inventor Of Radio

Moscow (UPI) — Who invented radio? Guglielmo Marconi? Nyet. The Russians say it was Alexander Popov.

Tass news agency said, "A scientific session to mark the 76th anniversary of the invention of radio by Alexander Popov opened here today."

Popov lived from 1859 to 1906. The Russians say he demonstrated the first radio transmitter May 7, 1895. Marconi transmitted his first signals the same year.

$12 Million In Heroin Seized; Frenchman Charged

Newark, N.J. (UPI) — Federal officials Tuesday announced one of the largest seizures of heroin in the nation's history — 96 pounds valued at $12 million — and the indictment of a Frenchman on charges of smuggling it into the United States.

U.S. Atty. Herbert J. Stern said the heroin, in one-pound plastic bags, was concealed in a Volkswagen bus which was aboard a French freighter that landed at Port Elizabeth, N.J., last April 5 after a voyage from Le Havre.

Stern said most of the pure heroin was concealed in the floorboards of the bus but that 15 pounds were hidden in a water tank.

He said a customs agent, Lynn Pellettier, 22, discovered the cache. Miss Pellettier has been a customs agent only since last July.

Roger Xavier Leon DeLouette 48, of Paris, was indicted on a charge of "fraudulently importing, concealing and causing to be transported" the pure heroin.

Stern said DeLouette was arrested April 7 at Port Elizabeth. He said the bus, a 1971 model on which the drug was concealed was aboard the freighter, "Atlantic Cognac," of French registry.

The U.S. attorney said the bus was being sent to DeLouette at a New York hotel address. DeLouette is being held in federal prison in New York, Stern said, in lieu of $500,000 bond, pending a May 21 arraignment.

If convicted, he could be sentenced to 40 years in prison and fined $40,000.

Stern said the $12 million was the "street value" of the drug after it was diluted from its pure form and repackaged for sale.

Bill Would Break Up Gas-Power Firms

Washington (AP) — A Senate antitrust subcommittee has been urged to approve legislation to break up corporate utility conglomerates that hold both gas and electric companies.

In a hearing the bid was strongly opposed by corporate spokesmen and by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who condemned the idea as an encroachment on states' rights.

Offered by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., the bill would make it unlawful after Jan. 1, 1973 for any gas or electric utility to own, operate, or be involved in a utility producing the rival power source.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., who has been appointed to head the hearings, said the legislation would, if adopted, affect some 78 conglomerates estimated to supply 43% of the total sales of electric power in the United States.

"A few large conglomerates, whose beneficial owners are often not a matter of record, are obtaining control of gas, electric, oil and uranium companies," Metcalf said. "Out in my country they have also obtained options on rights to water from federal reservoirs."

Metcalf said his bill "questions the notion that bigness is really good and that regulation is really effective."

Washington (AP) — A Senate antitrust subcommittee has been urged to approve legislation to break up corporate utility conglomerates that hold both gas and electric companies.

In a hearing the bid was strongly opposed by corporate spokesmen and by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who condemned the idea as an encroachment on states' rights.

Offered by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., the bill would make it unlawful after Jan. 1, 1973 for any gas or electric utility to own, operate, or be involved in a utility producing the rival power source.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., who has been appointed to head the hearings, said the legislation would, if adopted, affect some 78 conglomerates estimated to supply 43% of the total sales of electric power in the United States.

"A few large conglomerates, whose beneficial owners are often not a matter of record, are obtaining control of gas, electric, oil and uranium companies," Metcalf said. "Out in my country they have also obtained options on rights to water from federal reservoirs."

Metcalf said his bill "questions the notion that bigness is really good and that regulation is really effective."

Board Okays Reading Program Fund Request

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday gave its approval to a request for federal funds to initiate a pilot project in reading improvement in several elementary schools next fall.

If approved by the U.S. Office of Education, the $115,000 grant would constitute major support for the program, which would emphasize individualized instruction techniques.

Associate Supt. Ronald Brandt said the program would divide students, without regard to grades, into groups based on common needs.

Teachers would then concentrate on mastery of the skill identified as a priority for that group, helping each student according to his own reading needs.

"The chances we will learn a great deal about improving reading (from the project) are fairly high," Supt. John Prasch told the school board.

Brandt said he hopes the system can lead to a district-wide change in the fall of 1973.

The request for approval to apply for the grant was approved on a 5-1 vote, with Ed Copple dissenting.

In other matters, the board was told teachers have been given flexibility in grading students involved in the continuous progress math programs in junior high schools.

Brandt said in a change from previous policy teachers will be allowed to grade students at the end of the year, even though they have not completed the course.

Although school officials said parents had been sent a letter explaining the system, board members said they still are receiving comments from parents who say they don't understand it.

Under the continuous progress approach, students are permitted to work at their own rate and are expected to master each section of the course before they proceed to the next.

Parent concern grew from report cards issued at the end of the first semester, when many students were given "incompletes" because they hadn't completed half of the total number of sections in each course.

Prasch noted the "problem may be that we've identified the fact that some kids aren't learning."

Big Assumption

He said traditional courses assume each student learns all the material in a given amount of time, since each is expected to keep up with the rate of the class as a whole.

And school officials had argued previously that the student who masters whatever material he covers may gain more than the one who is "lost" throughout most of the course.

Brandt said, however, that all junior high school students will have the option of taking a traditional course next year. All math courses at Irving Junior High had been under the continuous progress system this year.

In other matters, Brandt said a series of public hearings on various instruction programs had been set for June 28-30 and July 6-8.

The hearings will allow parents and others to give their views on current programs.

Students Transferred

Prasch also told the board that kindergarten, first and second grade students from the Southwood area will go to Rousseau Elementary next year to relieve crowded conditions at Beattie School.

He said brothers and sisters of those children will also be allowed to go to Rousseau.

Prasch said he will visit with parents of Bryan School students to discuss the possibility of closing that building to regular classes after next year, and he said he hoped some parents might allow students at Bethany School, which is also crowded, to transfer to other schools next fall.

The board also:

—okayed a senior associate teacher program to allow teachers 55 and older to go to half-time work without penalty for their insurance programs and other benefits.

—attended a luncheon featuring prepared, packaged foods as a part of a plan to seek ways to hold down the costs of food services. The prepared foods plan may be tried next year in two schools.

Corporation Tax Hike Revival Nixed

The Unicameral Tuesday declined to reconsider its earlier decision to kill a proposal to increase the corporation income tax.

Sen. Willard Waldo of De Witt, sponsor of LB526, told his colleagues he would hold the bill for consideration in the 1972 legislative session if they would revive it.

Waldo's motion to reconsider failed on a 21-17 vote. He needed at least 25 affirmative votes.

The proposal, or a revised version of it, could still be presented to the 1972 Legislature by Waldo or any other senator.

LB526 would have increased the base rate on corporation income from 20% to 25% of the personal income tax rate, and added a 2% surcharge on all income above $25,000.

The bill would have raised an estimated $8 million a year assuming the personal tax rate is increased from income 10% to 13%.

Gov. J. James Exon supported the proposal.

Indians Report Refugees To Get U.S. Food Relief

New Delhi (AP) — Authoritative Indian sources said Tuesday that the U.S. government has agreed to provide $1 million in food relief to East Pakistani refugees in India.

The sources reported that food, which would be channeled through the Indian government, would last for about three months and would feed about 267,000 refugees in 130 camps.

The Indian government said last week that about two million East Pakistanis have so far entered India.

Lincoln School Board Schedules Hearing On Teacher's Dismissal

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday set for May 20 what may be the first public hearing in the district arising from a teacher dismissal case.

The case involves the termination of the contract of a veteran Lincoln teacher, Robert L. Johnson, a mathematics teacher at Millard Lefler Junior High and a former president of the Lincoln Education Association.

Although the board did not identify the teacher involved, Johnson later confirmed that he was contesting the dismissal and had asked for the hearing.

Announcement

The board announced that it had "set May 20 at 3 p.m. for a public hearing to consider termination of a contract for a tenured teacher in the district.

"The board responded to a request from the employe for the hearing in accordance with state statutes," the announcement said.

There was no word on the reason for the district's action.

Johnson, 44, said he has been a member of the Lincoln teaching staff for 20 years, beginning at Northeast High. He is in his second year at Lefler, where he teaches eighth grade math.

Active in professional association affairs, he served as LEA president from 1964 to '66 and has been on the organization's board of directors since then.

He is a former member of the negotiating team and a former president of the LEA salary committee.

Johnson is also currently the president of the National Council of Urban Education Associations, a group representing about 150 associations.

Master's Degree

A 1948 graduate of the University of Nebraska, he holds an M.A. from NU and he said he has completed 54 hours of study beyond the master's degree.

Veterans of the Lincoln school scene said Johnson's hearing will constitute the first such hearing in the district "within memory."

Whether the case reaches the courts will apparently depend upon the outcome of next week's hearing before the school board. Johnson said he will be represented by Lincoln attorney Robert Grimit.

Board Of Education Okays Contract

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday unanimously ratified a contract proposal for next year's teachers salaries.

Since the pact had already been endorsed by a 2-to-1 vote of members of the Lincoln Education Association, the package will go into effect.

On the basis of the current staff, it will cost the district about 6.3% more next year in cost of salaries and fringe benefits.

Percentage Drop

That figure would include a 5.9% hike in the dollars the district spends on salaries, a percentage which will actually drop somewhat due to teacher turnover.

School district officials estimate that the package would cost an additional $751,390 in teachers salaries and $114,996 in administrators if all the current staff returned.

Yet to be finalized are raises for other than professional employes — operations and maintenance workers, food service personnel and clerical help.

A spokesman for the operations and maintenance employes told the board Tuesday that he believed a proposal for a 6.3% over-all hike would gain the approval of his colleagues.

'In Question'

Robert Pease said the only items "in question" are extra duty pay and annual leave.

Similar proposals have also been offered to food service workers and clerical employes, school officials said.

Assuming that those proposals are accepted, the district will spend close to $1 million more in salaries next year.

Actual percentage increases for individual teachers under the final proposal will run from 3.02% to 8.87%. The dollar increases for individual teachers will go from $295 to $1,010.

Demos Taking Hard Look At Curtis Record

Omaha (AP) — Democratic National Committeeman Tom Kelley of Omaha said Tuesday Democrats are taking a good hard look at the record of Sen. Carl T. Curtis, veteran Nebraska Republican who comes up for re-election next year.

Kelley said in a broadcast interview if a "dynamic young fellow comes along he would have quite an outstanding chance" against Curtis.

"I think Sen. Curtis must feel some problems also, as he has announced this time earlier than he ever had that he intends to run."

Kelley said farmers are complaining bitterly.

He said the Democrats currently are putting out a paper in Washington "where we're watching the record and doing something about it . . . I think this time he's going to be asked a lot of questions, loud and clear."

School Aid Increase Dies On Final Reading

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Apparently disenchanted more with the distribution formula than with proposed additional costs, the Legislature Tuesday buried a bill which would have triggered a hike in state aid to schools from $35 million to $89 million a year.

The measure, LB462, died on final reading on a 21-26 vote.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who inherited sponsorship of the bill from Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, cast one of the opposition votes only for the purpose of being in a position to seek reconsideration at a later date.

The death of LB462 leaves the Legislature with an alternative proposal to boost state aid by $50 million a year and pump 80% of the increase into per pupil assistance at the rate of $120 for each student.

Under that measure, LB264, chefly hammered together by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, the remaining $10 million would go for equalization purposes.

To Equalize Support

All of the additional $54 million proposed in LB462 would have gone to help equalize tax support and educational opportunities in the public schools.

And that formula, Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell argued prior to the final reading vote, is "not fair.

In order to have a final word on the subject, Whitney offered a motion to return the bill to second stage floor consideration in order to kill it.

After attacking the distribution formula in LB462, he withdrew his motion and the bill was put to the final fatal vote.

Originator of Proposal

Warner, founder of the state aid program in 1967, sponsored LB462 to provide full funding of the present assistance formula.

Carpenter assumed sponsorship of the measure at one point along the legislative route when senators for a time transformed the bill into a proposed constitutional amendment requiring the state to pay all operational school costs.

When the proposal was later returned to its original form, Carpenter remained as chief sponsor.

LB462 would have created a public school property tax relief fund to provide $89 million in state aid beginning in the 1972-73 school year.

Although it appropriated no funds, the bill had the effect of requiring the State Board of Equalization to establish tax rates for next year at a level sufficient to raise enough revenue to fund the program.

Tax Reduction

For each dollar in additional state aid, a 94-cent property tax reduction would have been required at the school district level in order to maintain eligibility for state assistance.

About half of the current $35 million in state aid goes to per pupil assistance and half for equalization purposes.

But the current formula would apply any additional aid to the equalization pot.

That, Whitney contended, would give one-fourth of the school districts in the state "either nothing or very little" in additional aid.

All taxpayers would help pay the additional $54 million a year in sale and income tax revenue, Whitney said, and "everyone should at least get something back."

The formula is particularly unfair to high-cost schools in sparsely settled areas, Whitney said.

Sees Conspiracy

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said the bill is "a conspiracy."

The opposition votes apparently represented a combination of anti-spending sentiment and dissatisfaction with the state aid formula.

Five of Lancaster County's six senators—all but Fern Hubard Orme of Lincoln — supported the bill.

Seven of Douglas County's 12 lawmakers opposed it.

Here is the final reading vote:

For: Barnett, Carstens, DeCamp, Duis, Elrod, Goodrich, Hasebroock, Johnson, Keyes, Kokes, Luedtke, Proud, Savage, Schmit, Simpson, Snyder, Stull, Swanson, Waldron, Warner, Ziebarth.

Against: Burbach, Carpenter, Carsten, Clark, Craft, Epke, Holmquist, Kennedy, Kime, Klaver, Kremer, Lewis, Mahoney, Maresh, Marvel, Morgan, Moylan, Nore, Orme, Skarda, Stahmer, Syas, Waldo, Wallwey, Whitney, Wiltse.

Not Voting: Chambers, Stromer.

Financing Plan Added To Junior Colleges Bill

By The Associated Press

The State of Nebraska would proide three-fourths of the dollars needed to finance operation of a statewide system of community technical colleges under a tentative decision made Tuesday by the State Legislature.

The remaining one-fourth, plus capital construction, would be financed by local property taxes not to exceed one mill on the dollar.

The amendments to a pending LB759 were offered by the bill's sponsor, Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox, who said Gov. J. James Exon was in accord with the amendments.

Under LB759, all of Nebraska would, by 1973, be part of eight districts, in each of which would be offered junior college education and vocational - technical schooling.

13 Institutions

Incorporated into the system, under the plan, would be 13 present institutions of higher education — junior colleges, area vocational-technical schools and state trade schools at Milford and Sidney.

Ziebarth said the 13 institutions presently require about $15 million in operating funds. With 75% of financing coming from the state's general fund, the state support would total $11,250,000, leaving $3,750,000 in operating funds, plus capital construction funds, to be raised by local property taxes.

A one mill tax on all taxable Nebraska property would yield an estimated $5.5 million, according to Ziebarth.

Ziebarth originally proposed a two-mill local property tax limit, but Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora won 33-1 approval of an amendment dropping this limit to one mill.

Liquor Tax Hike

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he hopes the Legislature will increase state liquor and beer taxes as called for in a pending LB66, and earmark the revenue for state funding of the community technical colleges.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell sought to amend LB759 so that voters in areas not now included in junior college or area vocational-technical districts could vote on whether to become part of a district. He denied accusations that his amendment was designed to kill the bill. His motion to return the bill to select file for the amendment was defeated 21-12.

The bill should show up next for final reading several days hence.

Administration Change OKd For Police Training Center

General responsibility for administering the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center at Grand island would be shifted from the State Patrol chief to the Crime Commission under a bill passed in the Legislature Tuesday.

The measure, LB929, sponsored by Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln was approved 45-0 on final reading. Because it carries the emergency clause, it will take effect immediately when signed by Gov. J. James Exon.

Other bills passed Tuesday:

—Variously recodifying, revising and clarifying provisions of law for the creation of new school districts or changing boundaries. LB468. Ziebarth, Simpson, 42-0.

—Authorizing bottle clubs to purchase liquor at wholesale, and authorizing importation of beer in odd size containers. LB754. Holmquist. 33-6.

—Providing procedures for the removal and disposition of abandoned vehicles. LB295. (E). Snyder, Keyes, Elrod. 46-0.

Interim Study Of Equalization Methods Urged

A resolution was introduced in the Legislature Tuesday which would call for an interim study of property tax equalization methods between counties.

The measure was offered jointly by Sens. William F. Swanson of Lincoln and Leslie Stull of Alliance.

The resolution said a major reason for the study is many school, junior college, vocational-technical school districts and educational service units extend across county lines, resulting in "inequitable tax loads."

The study committee would be charged with comparing methods used by other states in solving the inequities and then report findings in the form of proposed legislation to the 1972 session of the Unicameral.

Bicycle Path Planned

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — Plans have been announced for a 28½-mile bicycle path system in Madison with much of the bikeways on the sprawling University of Wisconsin campus. The system will be developed over a two-year period at a cost of $180,000, it was announced as Gov. Patrick J. Lucey declared this week bikecology week.

Regents, Education Board Reapportionment Advanced

With no opposition or debate, the Legislature gave first round approval Tuesday to reapportionment bills for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents and the State Board of Education.

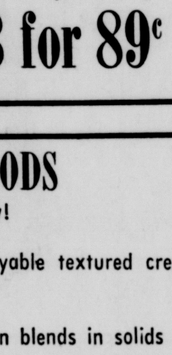

Under the terms of the bill, the eight districts from which members are elected for the two boards would be the same.

The Regents redistricting bill (LB1035) was sent over its first floor hurdle on a 33-0 vote. The state board reapportionment bill (LB735) was giiven a 32-0 initial vote of approval.

Financing Plan Added To Junior Colleges Bill

By The Associated Press

The State of Nebraska would proide three-fourths of the dollars needed to finance operation of a statewide system of community technical colleges under a tentative decision made Tuesday by the State Legislature.

The remaining one-fourth, plus capital construction, would be financed by local property taxes not to exceed one mill on the dollar.

The amendments to a pending LB759 were offered by the bill's sponsor, Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox, who said Gov. J. James Exon was in accord with the amendments.

Under LB759, all of Nebraska would, by 1973, be part of eight districts, in each of which would be offered junior college education and vocational - technical schooling.

13 Institutions

Incorporated into the system, under the plan, would be 13 present institutions of higher education — junior colleges, area vocational-technical schools and state trade schools at Milford and Sidney.

Ziebarth said the 13 institutions presently require about $15 million in operating funds. With 75% of financing coming from the state's general fund, the state support would total $11,250,000, leaving $3,750,000 in operating funds, plus capital construction funds, to be raised by local property taxes.

A one mill tax on all taxable Nebraska property would yield an estimated $5.5 million, according to Ziebarth.

Ziebarth originally proposed a two-mill local property tax limit, but Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora won 33-1 approval of an amendment dropping this limit to one mill.

Liquor Tax Hike

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he hopes the Legislature will increase state liquor and beer taxes as called for in a pending LB66, and earmark the revenue for state funding of the community technical colleges.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell sought to amend LB759 so that voters in areas not now included in junior college or area vocational-technical districts could vote on whether to become part of a district. He denied accusations that his amendment was designed to kill the bill. His motion to return the bill to select file for the amendment was defeated 21-12.

The bill should show up next for final reading several days hence.

Administration Change OKd For Police Training Center

General responsibility for administering the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center at Grand Island would be shifted from the State Patrol chief to the Crime Commission under a bill passed in the Legislature Tuesday.

The measure, LB929, sponsored by Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln was approved 45-0 on final reading. Because it carries the emergency clause, it will take effect immediately when signed by Gov. J. James Exon.

Reapportionment Bill Final Reading Slated

By The Associated Press

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway said Tuesday a bill to reapportion the Legislature according to the 1970 Census will probably come up for final reading Thursday or Friday.

"It'll be Monday at the latest," said Waldron, chairman of the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee which drew up the reapportionment plan.

The bill, LB954, has already been given preliminary approval by the Legislature.

According to the census, Sarpy and Douglas Counties will each gain one senator. With the Legislature deciding to stay at 49 members — one under the constitutional maximum —it means two senators from outstate will be eliminated.

One of those is Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte and the other is Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt. Both would retain their current seats but would be prevented from running again next year.

Under LB954, Waldron would take over all of Lincoln County and a small portion of Custer County which includes his home town.

He said he would move his law practice from Callaway to North Platte "as soon as it is constitutionally feasible," assuming the bill is passed in its present form.

Waldron has said the reapportionment plan developed by his committee "is about the only one that is reasonably feasible. Two senators have to go any way you do it."

Sen. Craft, after losing in a bid Monday to retain her seat, said, "I don't think I'll try to do anything more about it." She pointed out that the bill is now off select file, the second of three stages of legislative consideration and the last point at which a bill can be amended.

"It appears the senators are happy with the reapportionment map the way it's been drawn," she said.

She had attempted to retain her seat, having Waldron move into the district now held by Sen. Otho Kime of Valentine, a move which would have had the effect of blocking Kime from a re-election bid.

Her motion was voted down, 15-11.

Major Amendments Made To State Anti-Pollution Bill

By United Press International

With little discussion, the Legislature Tuesday approved a major overhaul of an anti-pollution bill which supporters hope would please both Gov. J. James Exon and einvironmentalists.

On a 36-4 vote, the Unicameral adopted five amendments to the bill, LB939, which result in the State Health Board having the principal voice in pollution and environment matters in Nebraska.

The amendments, offered by Sen. Willard Waldo of De Witt. would make the following changes in the original bill:

—Change the proposed executive board for administering pollution laws from a decision-making body to an advisory council.

—Eliminate a provision that would have allowed Nebraska to have stricter anti-pollution standards than the federal government.

—Shift from the executive board to the governor the duty of appointing the director. Under the revised proposal, the board would recommend a list of appointees to the governor who would make the appointment subject to legislative confirmation.

—Require the advisory board to meet at least four times a year.

—Designate the "Keep Nebraska Beautiful" Council as a body to carry out special projects for the board.

Although the amendments were designed as a compromise, there was some question whether they would be acceptable to environmentalists.

Expected to be critically attacked by the environmentalists was the amendment which would prohibit the state from enacting any pollution standards greater than the federal government's.

Earlier in the day, members of the Nebraska League of Women Voters was seen talking with lawmakers in an effort to block adoption of the amendment and another observer said the amendment "would take the power to set the standards from the hands of the people."

Under the revised proposal, sponsored by Sen. Loran Schmit of David City, an environmental protection agency would be established under the authority of the State Health Board.

Matzke Given Committee OK

Without a dissenting vote, the Legislature's Committee on Committees Tuesday recommended the confirmation of Stanley Matzke Jr. as the director of the State Department of Economic Development.

The appointment, announced a month ago by Gov. J. J. Exon, will now go before the full Legislature for confirmation.

Matzke, 37, received a 9-0 vote from the committee.

He told the committee "off the cuff," he doesn't think his department will be able to buy the amount of space in the Nebraskaland magazine which is allocated to tourism.

The fate of the magazine is one of the central issues in a question now before the Legislature to move tourism, now in the Game and Parks Department, either into Matzke's agency or establish it as a separate entity. Currently, the magazine is put out by the Game Commission.

'Correspondent Status' Won By Technical College

The Lincoln Technical College has been notified that it has received "correspondent status" from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The action was based on a study last winter by examiners for the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education for North Central.

According to Dr. James Lightbody, assistant superintendent for the Technical College, correspondent status is limited to a flexible two to four-year period. The college will apply for "recognized candidate for accreditation status" within two years. The next step would be full accreditation before the end of the four-year period.

Reapportionment Bill Final Reading Slated

By The Associated Press

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway said Tuesday a bill to reapportion the Legislature according to the 1970 Census will probably come up for final reading Thursday or Friday.

"It'll be Monday at the latest," said Waldron, chairman of the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee which drew up the reapportionment plan.

The bill, LB954, has already been given preliminary approval by the Legislature.

According to the census, Sarpy and Douglas Counties will each gain one senator. With the Legislature deciding to stay at 49 members — one under the constitutional maximum —it means two senators from outstate will be eliminated.

One of those is Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte and the other is Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt. Both would retain their current seats but would be prevented from running again next year.

Under LB954, Waldron would take over all of Lincoln County and a small portion of Custer County which includes his home town.

He said he would move his law practice from Callaway to North Platte 'as soon as it is constitutionally feasible," assuming the bill is passed in its present form.

Waldron has said the reapportionment plan developed by his committee "is about the only one that is reasonably feasible. Two senators have to go any way you do it."

Sen. Craft, after losing in a bid Monday to retain her seat, said, "I don't think I'll try to do anything more about it." She pointed out that the bill is now off select file, the second of three stages of legislative consideration and the last point at which a bill can be amended.

"It appears the senators are happy with the reapportionment map the way it's been drawn," she said.

She had attempted to retain her seat, having Waldron move into the district now held by Sen. Otho Kime of Valentine, a move which would have had the effect of blocking Kime from a re-election bid.

Her motion was voted down, 15-11.

Major Amendments Made To State Anti-Pollution Bill

By United Press International

With little discussion, the Legislature Tuesday approved a major overhaul of an anti-pollution bill which supporters hope would please both Gov. J. James Exon and einvironmentalists.

On a 36-4 vote, the Unicameral adopted five amendments to the bill, LB939, which result in the State Health Board having the principal voice in pollution and environment matters in Nebraska.

The amendments, offered by Sen. Willard Waldo of De Witt. would make the following changes in the original bill:

—Change the proposed executive board for administering pollution laws from a decision-making body to an advisory council.

—Eliminate a provision that would have allowed Nebraska to have stricter anti-pollution standards than the federal government.

—Shift from the executive board to the governor the duty of appointing the director. Under the revised proposal, the board would recommend a list of appointees to the governor who would make the appointment subject to legislative confirmation.

—Require the advisory board to meet at least four times a year.

—Designate the "Keep Nebraska Beautiful" Council as a body to carry out special projects for the board.

Although the amendments were designed as a compromise, there was some question whether they would be acceptable to environmentalists.

Expected to be critically attacked by the environmentalists was the amendment which would prohibit the state from enacting any pollution standards greater than the federal government's.

Earlier in the day, members of the Nebraska League of Women Voters was seen talking with lawmakers in an effort to block adoption of the amendment and another observer said the amendment "would take the power to set the standards from the hands of the people."

Under the revised proposal, sponsored by Sen. Loran Schmit of David City, an environmental protection agency would be established under the authority of the State Health Board.

Matzke Given Committee OK

Without a dissenting vote, the Legislature's Committee on Committees Tuesday recommended the confirmation of Stanley Matzke Jr. as the director of the State Department of Economic Development.

The appointment, announced a month ago by Gov. J. J. Exon, will now go before the full Legislature for confirmation.

Matzke, 37, received a 9-0 vote from the committee.

He told the committee "off the cuff," he doesn't think his department will be able to buy the amount of space in the Nebraskaland magazine which is allocated to tourism.

The fate of the magazine is one of the central issues in a question now before the Legislature to move tourism, now in the Game and Parks Department, either into Matzke's agency or establish it as a separate entity. Currently, the magazine is put out by the Game Commission.

'Correspondent Status' Won By Technical College

The Lincoln Technical College has been notified that it has received "correspondent status" from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The action was based on a study last winter by examiners for the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education for North Central.

According to Dr. James Lightbody, assistant superintendent for the Technical College, correspondent status is limited to a flexible two to four-year period. The college will apply for "recognized candidate for accreditation status" within two years. The next step would be full accreditation before the end of the four-year period.

Businessmen Eye Junior Achievement Program

Representatives of Lincoln major businesses met Tuesday to explore the possibilities of establishing a Junior Achievement Program for Lincoln's youth.

Junior Acheivement is a program in which young people learn the operations of businesses by forming their own companies. They sell stock, elect company officers, issue stockholders' reports — in short, go through all the operations of large corporations.

Eighty per cent of these J. A. companies deal in manufacturing some type of goods to be sold for a profit. "Company" members make the items themselves.

According to John Dickinson, executive director of National Junior Achievement, some $30,000 would be needed to launch a J.A. program in Lincoln. This figure would include the salary for a paid, full-time Lincoln director and a secretary.

Also needed to launch a Lincoln program would be a business center" for J.A. activities. The center would require 5-6,000 square feet, Dickinson said.

Dickinson pointed out that Lincoln has an ample population base to support a Junior Achievement program. He said there are about 7,000 high school sophomore, juniors and seniors — the age group usually making up J.A. membership — in Lancaster County.

Dickinson pointed out that Des Moines, Iowa, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Sioux Falls, S.D., and Omaha all have successful programs that Lincoln businessmen should look to for models.

Because Junior Achievement is business-oriented, impetus to bring it into a community usually comes from business sectors. Local businessmen likewise form advisor teams for J.A. projects.

Should the project find support among Lincoln businessmen, membership recruiting will begin in the local high schools in September, according to Dan Remigio, Lincoln Goodyear plant manager and chairman of the steering committee for a Lincoln J.A. project.

$133,050 Said Slated For Theresa Plant

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf announced Tuesday he has received word from 1st District Rep. Charles Thone that the city has been awarded another $133,050 in federal aid for expansion of the Theresa St. sewage treatment plant.

The federal grant, which reduces the city's share for the $4,435,000 project to 17% of the the cost, was awarded after the federal government reviewed and okayed the city's comprehensive planning program.

The Theresa St. expansion is scheduled to be completed by the latter part of next year and will double the capacity of the plant from 15 million gallons per day to 30 million. The plant is presently operating with an overload.

The state will pay 25% of the cost and the federal government, 58%.

Teachers College Scholarships Go To Four Seniors

Four Lincoln seniors have been awarded $200 tuition scholarships for study next year in a Nebraska teachers college.

The scholarships, sponsored yearly by the Lincoln Education Association, were awarded to Joanne Bonneau of Northeast High, Rae Ann Henninger of Southeast, Mary O'Boyle of Lincoln High and Susan Dee Pierce of East High.

LEA Executive Secretary Ely Feistner said the winners were chosen from names submitted by each of the high schools and judged by a committee of elementary school principals.

To be eligible, the students had to be in the upper one-fourth of their high school class and had to have indicated a desire in a career in education.

Feistner said the awards were announced at a dinner honoring the district's 25 retiring teachers.

Businessmen Eye Junior Achievement Program

Representatives of Lincoln major businesses met Tuesday to explore the possibilities of establishing a Junior Achievement Program for Lincoln's youth.

Junior Acheivement is a program in which young people learn the operations of businesses by forming their own companies. They sell stock, elect company officers, issue stockholders' reports — in short, go through all the operations of large corporations.

Eighty per cent of these J. A. companies deal in manufacturing some type of goods to be sold for a profit. "Company" members make the items themselves.

According to John Dickinson, executive director of National Junior Achievement, some $30,000 would be needed to launch a J.A. program in Lincoln. This figure would include the salary for a paid, full-time Lincoln director and a secretary.

Also needed to launch a Lincoln program would be a business center" for J.A. activities. The center would require 5-6,000 square feet, Dickinson said.

Dickinson pointed out that Lincoln has an ample population base to support a Junior Achievement program. He said there are about 7,000 high school sophomore, juniors and seniors — the age group usually making up J.A. membership — in Lancaster County.

Dickinson pointed out that Des Moines, Iowa, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Sioux Falls, S.D., and Omaha all have successful programs that Lincoln businessmen should look to for models.

Because Junior Achievement is business-oriented, impetus to bring it into a community usually comes from business sectors. Local businessmen likewise form advisor teams for J.A. projects.

Should the project find support among Lincoln businessmen, membership recruiting will begin in the local high schools in September, according to Dan Remigio, Lincoln Goodyear plant manager and chairman of the steering committee for a Lincoln J.A. project.

POSTCARD by

We have passed Mother's Day, and it was such a whopping success we are now preparing for Father's Day.

"Father, can I have a dollar? It's for a Father's Day present!"

Father is a handy thing to have around a house. Unlimited source of dollars. Handy for zipping small girls up the back. Bringer of presents. Part-time chauffeur. The place we lay our complaints.

"He hit me first!" "I did not!" "He did so!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Wonder who the National Father will be. Or maybe they've quit electing the Father Of The Year. First National Father was General Douglas MacArthur. He was elected in 1942.

Father's Day really doesn't get the ink that Mother's Day gets.

Mother's Day is emotional. Mom's Apple Pie. The hand that rocks the cradle.

Father's Day is more a matter of reminding us that we have a Father. And being sure he is still useful. Testing his batteries.

"Father, can I have a new bike?"

☆ ☆ ☆

The best thing about Father's Day is it doesn't cost anything. You get a present from the store. You put it on Father's charge account.

You borrow a quarter from Father. You buy him a card. "Dear Old Dad." "Not that old," I said. Who makes up these cards? A writer who decides to ruin your day.

☆ ☆ ☆

Billfolds are highly regarded as Father's Day presents. Where else can Father keep the dollar you are going to borrow?

After-shave lotion is good. You can rub some on yourself. It smells groovy.

I said: "Don't make a big fuss over the Day. Just fetch your poor old Father a little gin from the supermarket."

☆ ☆ ☆

Father's Day. O glorious day! It was started Year 1910. The founder was Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Washington.

The books don't say why Mrs. Dodd decided to honor Fathers.

I imagine she just went to her father and said: "Happy Father's Day! Can I borrow a dollar?"

Most of us Fathers today were not Fathers whent he day was invented. We had no vote. We simply inherit the Day. The Day with all its joys, all its sorrows.

Noblesse oblige.

I said: "I want to resign." The children said: "Let's have a big party for Father. And invite all our friends."

☆ ☆ ☆

Mother's Day was a big event. Mother's are big participants in such a day. They don't wait to be surprised by their presents.

They go out and buy them. Thus the day is as happy as they can make it.

The Mother says: "And I charged it. So you don't have to pay for it until next month."

We count this as one of our blessings.

☆ ☆ ☆

One Father's Day I got an electric spinner that shined your shoes. I went in and turned it on. I let it shine one pair of shoes. Then I changed shoes and let it shine my other pair.

After I stopped, the youngest boy wound the cord around the spinner and turned it on.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, it started a splendid fire. Everybody screamed: "Fire Fire!" I shouted: "Don't throw water on it, it's electrical!" The Mother said: "They have extinguishers at school." I said: "That's a mile away for heaven's sake!"

A repairman in the street brought an extinguisher from his truck and put it out.

I went back to polishing my shoes with an old bathtowel. Everybody said: "One good thing about it. It's good exercise for you."

We have passed Mother's Day, and it was such a whopping success we are now preparing for Father's Day.

"Father, can I have a dollar? It's for a Father's Day present!"

Father is a handy thing to have around a house. Unlimited source of dollars. Handy for zipping small girls up the back. Bringer of presents. Part-time chauffeur. The place we lay our complaints.

"He hit me first!" "I did not!" "He did so!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Wonder who the National Father will be. Or maybe they've quit electing the Father Of The Year. First National Father was General Douglas MacArthur. He was elected in 1942.

Father's Day really doesn't get the ink that Mother's Day gets.

Mother's Day is emotional. Mom's Apple Pie. The hand that rocks the cradle.

Father's Day is more a matter of reminding us that we have a Father. And being sure he is still useful. Testing his batteries.

☆ ☆ ☆

The best thing about Father's Day is it doesn't cost anything. You get a present from the store. You put it on Father's charge account.

You borrow a quarter from Father. You buy him a card. "Dear Old Dad." "Not that old," I said. Who makes up these cards? A writer who decides to ruin your day.

☆ ☆ ☆

Billfolds are highly regarded as Father's Day presents. Where else can Father keep the dollar you are going to borrow?

After-shave lotion is good. You can rub some on yourself. It smells groovy.

I said: "Don't make a big fuss over the Day. Just fetch your poor old Father a little gin from the supermarket."

☆ ☆ ☆

Father's Day. O glorious day! It was started Year 1910. The founder was Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Washington.

The books don't say why Mrs. Dodd decided to honor Fathers.

I imagine she just went to her father and said: "Happy Father's Day! Can I borrow a dollar?"

Most of us Fathers today were not Fathers whent he day was invented. We had no vote. We simply inherit the Day. The Day with all its joys, all its sorrows.

Noblesse oblige.

I said: "I want to resign." The children said: "Let's have a big party for Father. And invite all our friends."

☆ ☆ ☆

Mother's Day was a big event. Mother's are big participants in such a day. They don't wait to be surprised by their presents.

They go out and buy them. Thus the day is as happy as they can make it.

The Mother says: "And I charged it. So you don't have to pay for it until next month."

We count this as one of our blessings.

☆ ☆ ☆

One Father's Day I got an electric spinner that shined your shoes. I went in and turned it on. I let it shine one pair of shoes. Then I changed shoes and let it shine my other pair.

After I stopped, the youngest boy wound the cord around the spinner and turned it on.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, it started a splendid fire. Everybody screamed: "Fire Fire!" I shouted: "Don't throw water on it, it's electrical!" The Mother said: "They have extinguishers at school." I said: "That's a mile away for heaven's sake!"

A repairman in the street brought an extinguisher from his truck and put it out.

I went back to polishing my shoes with an old bathtowel. Everybody said: "One good thing about it. It's good exercise for you."

Ellington Visits Prisoner Group

Baltimore, Md. (AP) — Jazzman Duke Ellington made a surprise visit to the annual dinner of the Seventh Step Foundation, a prisoner's self-help organization.

In Baltimore for a one-night stand at a local nightspot, Ellington did a solo of "Take the A Train," then was joined by vocalist Janet Lawson for several other numbers.

TALK OF THE TOWN

MISS JILL GUENZEL

Of much more than casual interest to Lincoln and to University of Nebraska campus circles is the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Guenzel of the engagement of their daughter, Kathryn Jill, to Ron G. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert N. Nelson.

Saturday, Nov. 20, has been chosen as the date of the wedding.

Miss Guenzel is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Nelson is a senior in pre-law at the University of Nebraska.

If our memory serves us well we mentioned just the other day that interesting events were looming up on the week's horizon. They are.

First we'll do some talking about Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, Jr., and their daughter, Miss Avery Woods, who are just home from a month devoted to South America — The itinerary included Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, and other South American countries. The three travelers particularly enjoy archeology, anthropology, and natural history of all varieties, and they feasted upon them in South America.

From Lima, Peru, for instance, they went to Cuzco, Peru, and from there had a train ride high into the mountains — and to Machupicchu which, as it turned out, was one of their favorite spots during all of their travel. Machupicchu, you see, is the 'Lost City of the Incas' and is steeped in history.

After Peru and Chili, Mr. and Mrs. Woods and their daughter turned eastward — to Argentina in general, and Buenos Aires in particular. From there to Brazil, and on the way they saw a most magnificent sight — the Iguassu Falls — which are located on the border between Argentina and Brazil — and to give you an idea of their magnificence we'll tell you they are five times larger than Niagara Falls.

But, as we said before — the three travelers are home and have lost none of their interest in natural history. It really isn't surprising, then, that Mr. and Mrs. Woods will be a dinner host and hostess on Thursday evening when their guest list will be impressive.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods will be entertaining the men (plus the wives of a few) who will be attending the directors of the outstanding Museums of Natural History in the United States and Canada. Twenty of these museums, including one of the great ones is on the University of Nebraska campus, and doubtless is better known as Morrill Hall to Nebraskans.

The museum directors, plus eight observers, including one or two from the Natural Science Foundations, will be holding the 15th annual conference of the Directors of Systematic Collectors on Thursday at the Nebraska Center. Lincoln was chosen for the conference as a tribute to the Centennial.

* * *

Now we'll turn backward to Wednesday which, of course is today, and the luncheon for which Mrs. Joe Carroll will be hostess at the Lincoln Country Club. The party will pay courtesy to Miss Jean McIntosh, coed at the University of Nebraska and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. McIntosh of Luverne, Minn., whose marriage to Douglas Vickstrom will take place in June.

In town at the moment are the bride-elect's parents, but only one of them will be attending the luncheon — Mrs. McIntosh, of course.

* * *

There are parties planned for late week, too, and we have just time enough to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Agee have plans for Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Agee have invited a very small group of guests for cocktails at their home.

* * *

Engagements always are of interest — especially so when the fiancee is a young lady from Lincoln whose name is exceptionally well known.

We'll be telling you who she is in a few days.

MISS JANICE HEGEMANN

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hegemann of Howells make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Janice, to Galen Renner, son of Mrs. Ellen Renner, also of Howells.

Saturday, July 31, has been chosen as the date of the wedding.

Miss Hegemann attended the Lincoln School of Commerce and now is careering at the First National Bank and Trust Co., in Lincoln.

Mr. Renner is a student at Wayne State College.

Wednesday Meeting

The University of Nebraska Faculty Women's Newcomers Club will hold its last meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, May 12.

The 8 o'clock get-together will be held at Union Loan and Savings, 5555 O St., and Mrs. Esther Humann will be the guest speaker. Her talk is entitled, "Happiness Is — Entertaining."

MISS DEBORAH FLYNN

Town and campus will share interest this morning in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Flynn of the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Sue, to Thomas Fogelman, son of Mrs. Floyd Fogelman, and the late Mr. Fogelman.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Aug. 14.

Miss Flynn is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Her college major is elementary education.

Mr. Fogelman has completed a tour of duty with the United States Navy aboard the Bon Homme Richard CVA 31.

Nebraskans To Attend Convention

Nebraska delegates to the General Federation of Women's Clubs convention are already making plans to attend the event which will be held at the Hilton Hotel in Pittsburgh, Pa., from Sunday, June 6, through Thursday, June 10.

Planning their convention wardrobes are Mrs. Everett R. Green, president of the Lincoln Woman's Club; Mrs. Ervin L. Watkins of Venango, president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Don Kolterman of Seward, first vice president of the state organization; Mrs. David Proctor of Aurora, state director of Junior Clubs; Mrs. Walter Kirchhefer of Sutton, secretary of the Mississippi Valley Conference; and Mrs. William Hasebroock of West Point, honorary president of the International Federation.

Mrs. Hasebroock will present the musical-vocal portion at the luncheon honoring past state presidents which will be held on Tuesday, June 8, and she will also preside at one of the general sessions. While in the area, the national past-president, who served in that capacity from 1965 through 1967, will serve as one of 12 co-hostesses for the American-Korean Foundation Scholarship Fund to honor Mamie Eisenhower. Mrs. Richard M. Nixon is the principal hostess for the event.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, will be the keynote speaker on Tuesday evening, June 8, at the 80th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Earle A. Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa., current national president, will be honored at a banquet on Monday evening, June 7, and the Junior Club women will present their program on Wednesday, June 9. Miss Joan Buchanan, national director of Junior Clubs, will preside.

International delegates will be honored at a banquet on Thursday evening, June 10. The General Federation has a membership of more than 11 million, and is represented in every state as well as in 54 foreign countries.

Speakers and panel members who will share the spotlight during the four-day meeting will include Frank Shakespeare, director of the United States Information Agency; Dr. Edward D. Eddy, president of Chatham College; Rod MacLeish, news commentator; Jesse Owens, former Olympic star; Mrs. Paul Ignatius, president of Concern, Inc.; D. Grant Mickle, president of the Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility; the Rev. Robert A. Messenger, director of the Wesley Institute; Mrs. Karen Miyares and Miss Mary Kay Caridis, representatives of the Teen Hotline; Frank L. Goffio, executive director of CARE, Inc.; Dr. James W. MISS JILL GUENZEL

Of much more than casual interest to Lincoln and to University of Nebraska campus circles is the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Guenzel of the engagement of their daughter, Kathryn Jill, to Ron G. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert N. Nelson.

Saturday, Nov. 20, has been chosen as the date of the wedding.

Miss Guenzel is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Nelson is a senior in pre-law at the University of Nebraska.

TALK OF THE TOWN

If our memory serves us well we mentioned just the other day that interesting events were looming up on the week's horizon. They are.

First we'll do some talking about Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, Jr., and their daughter, Miss Avery Woods, who are just home from a month devoted to South America — The itinerary included Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, and other South American countries. The three travelers particularly enjoy archeology, anthropology, and natural history of all varieties, and they feasted upon them in South America.

From Lima, Peru, for instance, they went to Cuzco, Peru, and from there had a train ride high into the mountains — and to Machupicchu which, as it turned out, was one of their favorite spots during all of their travel. Machupicchu, you see, is the 'Lost City of the Incas' and is steeped in history.

After Peru and Chili, Mr. and Mrs. Woods and their daughter turned eastward — to Argentina in general, and Buenos Aires in particular. From there to Brazil, and on the way they saw a most magnificent sight — the Iguassu Falls — which are located on the border between Argentina and Brazil — and to give you an idea of their magnificence we'll tell you they are five times larger than Niagara Falls.

But, as we said before — the three travelers are home and have lost none of their interest in natural history. It really isn't surprising, then, that Mr. and Mrs. Woods will be a dinner host and hostess on Thursday evening when their guest list will be impressive.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods will be entertaining the men (plus the wives of a few) who will be attending the directors of the outstanding Museums of Natural History in the United States and Canada. Twenty of these museums, including one of the great ones is on the University of Nebraska campus, and doubtless is better known as Morrill Hall to Nebraskans.

The museum directors, plus eight observers, including one or two from the Natural Science Foundations, will be holding the 15th annual conference of the Directors of Systematic Collectors on Thursday at the Nebraska Center. Lincoln was chosen for the conference as a tribute to the Centennial.

* * *

Now we'll turn backward to Wednesday which, of course is today, and the luncheon for which Mrs. Joe Carroll will be hostess at the Lincoln Country Club. The party will pay courtesy to Miss Jean McIntosh, coed at the University of Nebraska and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. McIntosh of Luverne, Minn., whose marriage to Douglas Vickstrom will take place in June.

In town at the moment are the bride-elect's parents, but only one of them will be attending the luncheon — Mrs. McIntosh, of course.

* * *

There are parties planned for late week, too, and we have just time enough to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Richard Agee have plans for Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Agee have invited a very small group of guests for cocktails at their home.

* * *

Engagements always are of interest — especially so when the fiancee is a young lady from Lincoln whose name is exceptionally well known.

We'll be telling you who she is in a few days.

MISS JANICE HEGEMANN

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hegemann of Howells make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Janice, to Galen Renner, son of Mrs. Ellen Renner, also of Howells.

Saturday, July 31, has been chosen as the date of the wedding.

Miss Hegemann attended the Lincoln School of Commerce and now is careering at the First National Bank and Trust Co., in Lincoln.

Mr. Renner is a student at Wayne State College.

Wednesday Meeting

The University of Nebraska Faculty Women's Newcomers Club will hold its last meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, May 12.

The 8 o'clock get-together will be held at Union Loan and Savings, 5555 O St., and Mrs. Esther Humann will be the guest speaker. Her talk is entitled, "Happiness Is — Entertaining."

MISS DEBORAH FLYNN

Town and campus will share interest this morning in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Flynn of the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Sue, to Thomas Fogelman, son of Mrs. Floyd Fogelman, and the late Mr. Fogelman.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Aug. 14.

Miss Flynn is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Her college major is elementary education.

Mr. Fogelman has completed a tour of duty with the United States Navy aboard the Bon Homme Richard CVA 31.

Nebraskans To Attend Convention

Nebraska delegates to the General Federation of Women's Clubs convention are already making plans to attend the event which will be held at the Hilton Hotel in Pittsburgh, Pa., from Sunday, June 6, through Thursday, June 10.

Planning their convention wardrobes are Mrs. Everett R. Green, president of the Lincoln Woman's Club; Mrs. Ervin L. Watkins of Venango, president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Don Kolterman of Seward, first vice president of the state organization; Mrs. David Proctor of Aurora, state director of Junior Clubs; Mrs. Walter Kirchhefer of Sutton, secretary of the Mississippi Valley Conference; and Mrs. William Hasebroock of West Point, honorary president of the International Federation.

Mrs. Hasebroock will present the musical-vocal portion at the luncheon honoring past state presidents which will be held on Tuesday, June 8, and she will also preside at one of the general sessions. While in the area, the national past-president, who served in that capacity from 1965 through 1967, will serve as one of 12 co-hostesses for the American-Korean Foundation Scholarship Fund to honor Mamie Eisenhower. Mrs. Richard M. Nixon is the principal hostess for the event.

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, will be the keynote speaker on Tuesday evening, June 8, at the 80th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Earle A. Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa., current national president, will be honored at a banquet on Monday evening, June 7, and the Junior Club women will present their program on Wednesday, June 9. Miss Joan Buchanan, national director of Junior Clubs, will preside.

International delegates will be honored at a banquet on Thursday evening, June 10. The General Federation has a membership of more than 11 million, and is represented in every state as well as in 54 foreign countries.

Speakers and panel members who will share the spotlight during the four-day meeting will include Frank Shakespeare, director of the United States Information Agency; Dr. Edward D. Eddy, president of Chatham College; Rod MacLeish, news commentator; Jesse Owens, former Olympic star; Mrs. Paul Ignatius, president of Concern, Inc.; D. Grant Mickle, president of the Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility; the Rev. Robert A. Messenger, director of the Wesley Institute; Mrs. Karen Miyares and Miss Mary Kay Caridis, representatives of the Teen Hotline; Frank L. Goffio, executive director of CARE, Inc.; Dr. James W. Auxiliary Names Its New Officers

Although St. Elizabeth's Auxiliary won't officially celebrate its seventeenth birthday until August, its members have a record of service for which they can be justifiably proud. The Gift Shop was started by a $1000 gift from Mrs. Hazel Abel and 1,000 articles donated by individuals in the community.

On Tuesday the Auxiliary honored its many volunteer workers in the hospital as well as the many people who work on special projects at a luncheon at The Knolls.

These projects have developed, through much hard work, into successful benefits which, coupled with the profits from the gift shop in the Health Center have enabled the auxiliary to give over $94,000 in direct donations to the hospital.

In the past five years the Auxiliary has given $45,000 to the United Hospital Campaign and since the opening of the St. Elizabeth Community Health Center has paid for the furnishings of their new Gift Shop in the amount of $6,000 purchased a rehabilitation therapy chair for $1,515; bought equipment for the Neo-natal Unit in the amount of $2,260 and has set aside $10,000 for another hospital project which will be announced later.

At the luncheon, which also coincided with the annual meeting of the Auxiliary, the following officers were named to head the Auxiliary for the coming year:

Mrs. J. F. Calcaterra, president; Mrs. G. W. Kallos, first vice-president; Mrs. Martin Batliner; second vice-president; Mrs. Wesley Tomhave, third vice-president; Mrs. A. S. Chaves, treasurer; and Mrs. Bryan Stromer; secretary. Chairmen for the 1971 Holly Festival are Mrs. John Clyne and Mrs. Charles E. Chace.

In charge of arrangements for the appreciation luncheon are Mrs. A. S. Chaves and Mrs. Lee Hendry.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I see a lot of your readers are "sports widows." That's rough. But until a woman has become a "stamp widow," she doesn't know what misery is. Sports are seasonal and there is a limit to the amount of time and money they take, but a stamp collector is something else.

We have stamp albums, stamp literature and stamp hinges all over the place. Also, cigar boxes filled with loose stamps. He corresponds with stamp collecting pen pals all over the world, and he reads their boring letters to me.

I didn't know he was a stamp collector until after I married him. Then it turns out he's been collecting stamps since he was 8 years old. Not only does he collect stamps, he buys collections from other collectors. It's like a disease. How can I stamp out stamps?

STAMPEDED

DEAR STAMPEDED: Why try to stamp out stamps? It's the only hobby you can lick!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if the day before your birthday your husband said to you, "Honey, do me a favor and go buy yourself a birthday gift and a card to go with it. I'll give you the money for it."

I told him I really didn't need anything, so I said, "Why don't you just pick up some roses for me?" Then he said, "Aw, heck, they don't last, and you know the price of roses nowadays."

So, Abby, I didn't buy myself anything, and he didn't get me anything either. And to top it off, he didn't even wish me a happy birthday. So what would you do next birthday?

PUZZLED BUT HAPPY

DEAR PUZZLED: I am glad you are also "Happy," because there is no way of injecting "sentiment" into a spouse who is utterly devoid of it. You could try to make him understand how delighted you'd be with just a card of his own choosing, but if you have to hit him over the head to remind him to "remember" you — forget it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Opening lead —three of spades.

Declarer sometimes cannot avoid telegraphing the nature of his hand as he proceeds with the play, and this circumstance makes it easier for the defenders to take whatever countermeasures they can to frustrate him.

Here is a typical situation. South is in three notrump and West leads a spade. East wins with the king and returns the five, West covering declarer's jack with the queen. Let's assume declarer ducks again, wins the spade continuation with the ace, and leads the A-Q of clubs.

If West were an obliging soul, he would take the queen with the king and cash his spade trick, after which he would run out of steam — since South would have nine viable tricks consisting of four clubs, three diamonds, a heart and a spade.

But if West were a downright ornery critter, he would refuse to win the queen of clubs and South would eventually have to succumb. He would finish up going down one after crossing to the king of diamonds and attempting a heart finesse.

However, there is another side to the story. South should realize that leading the A-Q of clubs is the same as shouting from the rooftops that he has a string of clubs to cash after the king is gone.

So, in order to counteract unfriendly defense, South should lead the queen of clubs at trick four instead of the ace followed by the queen. If he does this he arrives home safely, whether the queen is ducked or not.

If the queen is ducked, he simply crosses to his hand with a diamond and takes a heart finesse. In the actual case the finesse loses, but South nevertheless has nine tricks to show for his efforts.

This Scandanavian style box iron was heated by a hot stone or coals. The hot material was placed inside the iron.
(Index of American Design, Washington, D.C.)

By RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

Wrinkles have been a concern for the housewife for years. Removing the wrinkles from clothes was made possible with the help of smoothing irons sticks, sad irons, ruffling irons, goffering irons plus other types. The style of the ironing device of a country is so characteristic of the area that they can often be identified by the shape and construction.

The Danish iron of the 18th and 19th century was heated with a slab of soapstone or metal that was placed hot into a drawer at the bottom of the iron. American irons were made with removeable handles, and the iron itself was placed on the stove to heat. Chinese irons were filled with hot coals; Egyptian irons were made to be used with the feet. Nineteenth century irons were heated by kerosene, coal, electricity, or oil. Ingenuity has been in the world wide invention the iron.

Q. What is the difference between a mirror and a looking glass?

A. The term mirror means any reflecting surface. It is usually a glass with a silver-y substance as backing. The words "looking glass" were used to describe mirrors during the 17th and 18th century. It was not until 1803 that Thomas Sheraton used the term mirror in one of his design books. He referred to a very special type of convex circular glass in a frame that was popular. These mirrors distorted the view but reflected the entire room.

Old bills and inventory lists referred to all other reflecting glass types as "looking glasses." Some European and English makers often used the word "mirror" to mean any reflecting glass.

Q. My grandmother had lovely red hair. The hair jewelry that I own was made from her hair. It is now a dull brown. Can I dye it red again?

A. It is said that natural hair does not change color regardless of the length of time it has been cut and stored. It must be kept from sunlight. Sun will change the color of living or cut hair. Your jewelry may not have been made from your grandmother's hair. Maybe she was not a natural redhead. Red hair should not fade brown. Henna rinses were popular. Do not try dying hair jewelry. It will run its value. It may even destroy the piece by damaging the old hair.

We are still getting letters from readers about old calendars. Keller and White Wholesale Druggists of Evansville, Ind. issued a calendar for 1884. It was only 1½ inches by 3 inches. The Home Insurance of New York had a calendar on a trade card dated 1880. The earliest wall calendar we have heard about is the Excelsior Diary calendar dated 1881. Does anyone have an older wall hanging calendar from the United States.

DEAR STAMPEDED: Why try to stamp out stamps? It's the only hobby you can lick!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if the day before your birthday your husband said to you, "Honey, do me a favor and go buy yourself a birthday gift and a card to go with it. I'll give you the money for it."

I told him I really didn't need anything, so I said, "Why don't you just pick up some roses for me?" Then he said, "Aw, heck, they don't last, and you know the price of roses nowadays."

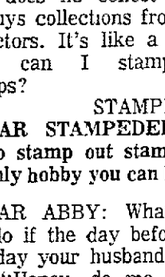

So, Abby, I didn't buy myself anything, and he didn't get me anything either. And to top it off, he didn't even wish me a happy birthday. So what would you do next birthday?

PUZZLED BUT HAPPY

DEAR PUZZLED: I am glad you are also "Happy," because there is no way of injecting "sentiment" into a spouse who is utterly devoid of it. You could try to make him understand how delighted you'd be with just a card of his own choosing, but if you have to hit him over the head to remind him to "remember" you — forget it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Ready in 15 minutes.

By RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

Wrinkles have been a concern for the housewife for years. Removing the wrinkles from clothes was made possible with the help of smoothing irons sticks, sad irons, ruffling irons, goffering irons plus other types. The style of the ironing device of a country is so characteristic of the area that they can often be identified by the shape and construction.

The Danish iron of the 18th and 19th century was heated with a slab of soapstone or metal that was placed hot into a drawer at the bottom of the iron. American irons were made with removeable handles, and the iron itself was placed on the stove to heat. Chinese irons were filled with hot coals; Egyptian irons were made to be used with the feet. Nineteenth century irons were heated by kerosene, coal, electricity, or oil. Ingenuity has been in the world wide invention the iron.

Q. What is the difference between a mirror and a looking glass?

A. The term mirror means any reflecting surface. It is usually a glass with a silvery substance as backing. The words "looking glass" were used to describe mirrors during the 17th and 18th century. It was not until 1803 that Thomas Sheraton used the term mirror in one of his design books. He referred to a very special type of convex circular glass in a frame that was popular. These mirrors distorted the view but reflected the entire room.

Old bills and inventory lists referred to all other reflecting glass types as "looking glasses." Some European and English makers often used the word "mirror" to mean any reflecting glass.

Q. My grandmother had lovely red hair. The hair jewelry that I own was made from her hair. It is now a dull brown. Can I dye it red again?

A. It is said that natural hair does not change color regardless of the length of time it has been cut and stored. It must be kept from sunlight. Sun will change the color of living or cut hair. Your jewelry may not have been made from your grandmother's hair. Maybe she was not a natural redhead. Red hair should not fade brown. Henna rinses were popular. Do not try dying hair jewelry. It will run its value. It may even destroy the piece by damaging the old hair.

We are still getting letters from readers about old calendars. Keller and White Wholesale Druggists of Evansville, Ind. issued a calendar for 1884. It was only 1½ inches by 3 inches. The Home Insurance of New York had a calendar on a trade card dated 1880. The earliest wall calendar we have heard about is the Excelsior Diary calendar dated 1881. Does anyone have an older wall hanging calendar from the United States.

County Board Defers Action On Fund Shortage

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday, after receiving an opinion from the county attorney, took no action on the problem of shortage of funds in the county's medical budget to finish out the 1970-71 fiscal year.

About a month ago, County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert told the board that the medical budget, due to unanticipated rising costs and caseload, would be about $125,000 short for the last three months of the fiscal year.

The commissioners had referred the matter to the county attorney for an opinion on whether the county's medical budget could be increased and if so, from what source might the funds be available.

Douglas, in a written opinion, informed the board that it is possible to increase the county medical budget providing the need meets the emergency requirement under the law and provided that the notice provision of the law is met.

Douglas said that if the emergency requirement is met, the $125,000 could be obtained through the following sources: unappropriated general fund money; from funds that may be transferred to the general fund; from additional levy or from inheritance tax funds if the funds are to be used for relief of worthy, in capacitated or indigent persons.

He warned of the problems and severe penalties if the need does not meet the unforseen emergency provision of the law which includes a new law passed in 1969.

Misdemeanor

"Any obligation created by the board against the county in excess of budget and not meeting the requirements of the emergency provision if void, and in creating such obligation the commissioners have committed a misdemeanor, subjecting themselves to removal from office as well as personal liability," Douglas said.

At a meeting of the commissioners sitting as a welfare board, the possibilities of borrowing money from the Lancaster Manor fund or holding back paying Lancaster Manor medical bills until after the beginning of the new fiscal year July 1, were discussed.

Trabert said he would discuss these suggestions with Douglas and see if they were legally feasible.

Back YM Plan

In other action, the commissioners gave their approval and support for the YMCA's submission of an application for federal funds through the State Lincoln.

In a letter sent to the board by Juvenile Court Judge W. W. Nuernberger, the commissioners were asked to submit the application in behalf of the YMCA since the funds must be received through a governmental agency.

Approximately three fourths of the total cost would be paid by federal funds with the remainder to be financed by the YMCA in cash and in-kind services.

Soviets Protest Ship Collision

Moscow (UPI) —The Soviet Foreign Ministry protested to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday over the May 6 collision of a U.S. warship and a Soviet vessel in the Korea Strait, the official Tass news agency said.

Tass said the protest note cited "illegal actions by a U.S. warship in the Korea Strait on May 6, as a result of which the warship collided with a Soviet rescue vessel and damaged it considerably."

Pershing Auditorium Board Defers Decision About 'Hair'

The Pershing Auditorium Board Tuesday decided to consider at a future meeting whether to approve the use of the auditorium for the production of the controversial rock musical "Hair."

Auditorium Manager Ike Hoig said he did not feel there would be a problem or any reaction to the musical, basing his comments on the experience of other municipal auditoriums with the show.

Some of the board members, though, expressed a reluctance to allow the auditorium to be used, mainly because of the controversial nude scene featured in the musical.

Hoig said according to conversations with the auditorium manager at St. Paul, the show did not generate any controversy or problems and that during a two-week showing in the theater with a capacity of 2,700, "Hair" grossed $500,000.

He said he has received only 100 cards from people either for or against the showing of "Hair" here to date.

School Committee

The Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday beginning at 8 p.m. in the Public Schools Administration Building, 720 So. 22nd.

Dyas Says Nixon Most Interested In Public Image

Democratic State Chairman Hess Dyas said Tuesday the Nixon administration is more interested in public relations than concrete programs to solve the nation's problems.

In a statement, Dyas referred to the recent "Salute to Agriculture" which was held on the White House lawn.

"At no time during the salute was a proposal made for improving farm income," he said.

"Public relations instead of programs has become the characteristic way for the Nixon administration to fight problems."

County Board Defers Action On Fund Shortage

By GERRY SWITZER

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday, after receiving an opinion from the county attorney, took no action on the problem of shortage of funds in the county's medical budget to finish out the 1970-71 fiscal year.

About a month ago, County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert told the board that the medical budget, due to unanticipated rising costs and caseload, would be about $125,000 short for the last three months of the fiscal year.

The commissioners had referred the matter to the county attorney for an opinion on whether the county's medical budget could be increased and if so, from what source might the funds be available.

Douglas, in a written opinion, informed the board that it is possible to increase the county medical budget providing the need meets the emergency requirement under the law and provided that the notice provision of the law is met.

Douglas said that if the emergency requirement is met, the $125,000 could be obtained through the following sources: unappropriated general fund money; from funds that may be transferred to the general fund; from additional levy or from inheritance tax funds if the funds are to be used for relief of worthy, in capacitated or indigent persons.

He warned of the problems and severe penalties if the need does not meet the unforseen emergency provision of the law which includes a new law passed in 1969.

Misdemeanor

"Any obligation created by the board against the county in excess of budget and not meeting the requirements of the emergency provision if void, and in creating such obligation the commissioners have committed a misdemeanor, subjecting themselves to removal from office as well as personal liability," Douglas said.

At a meeting of the commissioners sitting as a welfare board, the possibilities of borrowing money from the Lancaster Manor fund or holding back paying Lancaster Manor medical bills until after the beginning of the new fiscal year July 1, were discussed.

Mayor Wants Foul Odors From ADM Stopped

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Tuesday following a meeting of city officials and representatives of the Archer Daniels Midland plant that the city will not tolerate any further odors from its sewage treatment lagoon in northeast Lincoln caused by the soybean refinery plant.

Schwartzkopf said the city is interested in cooperating with the industry on the odor problem, but "wants action from ADM immediately" to put an end to the smells which have become very obnoxious since last Thursday.

The mayor said that ADM representatives are to meet again with the city next week to present short and long range solutions to eliminate the cause of the odor problem.

"It's a stinking mess and our citizens should not be subjected to it," he said, in expressing his feeling that the industry has not been very cooperative on the local level.

The mayor said that what steps the city would take would depend on what happens at the meeting next week.

He said that during the meeting his repeated questions as to why the heavy doses of grease keep coming into the lagoon solicited no satisfactory answer from ADM officials.

The problem with the pungent odors, according to city officials, is that the lagoon cannot adequately treat the sewage because of the excessive amount of grease from the soybean refinery plant.

A check by city officials indicated that ADM's effluent contained 8,000 parts per million of grease — 80 times the amount permitted under city ordinances.

Public-Utilities Director Lee Blocker said that bacteria in the lagoon is used to treat the waste and that the heavy amounts of grease "have knocked out the bacteria."

"It's like a person drinking about a fifth of scotch at a sitting — It takes you several days to get back on your feet," Blocker said in drawing a comparison.

The public utilities director said he expects the smells to remain for about a week while the bacteria recover from the overdose of grease.

Blocker said something needs to be done immediately to get the lagoon back into shape — or else the smells will likely continue.

He said the plant will also have to come up with a long range plan to prevent the possibility of any future odor problem.

Blocker said ADM representatives did talk about the possibility of installing some equipment by mid-September which would control the BOD (biological oxygen demand) of the effluent.

The odor problem first started in the fall of 1969.

Following meetings then with city officials, ADM installed a chemical process to help curtail the foul odors. The city also installed mechanical aerators at the lagoon to aid in the treatment process.

Spur East Of Ulysses Closed By High Water

Only one highway remained closed Tuesday night as the result of heavy rains Monday night in southeast Nebraska.

The state spur east of Ulysses was blocked by water over the road.

Elsewhere high water in streams was receding, including Turkey Creek near Wilber.

Offutt Air Force Base south of Omaha reported the most rainfall in the state of 6.57 inches in the 24-hour period ending early Tuesday.

Dannebrog recorded 4.90 inches of rain and 3.40 inches was reported northwest of Cario.

Other significant precipitation reports were 2.83 inches at Ashland, 2.70 inches southwest of St. Paul, 2.30 inches at Omaha Eppley Airfield, 2.37 inches at Hebron, and 2.93 inches at 60th and McKinley in Omaha.

Many other Nebraska points reported more than one inch of rain during the period.

Large amounts of precipitation also were reported in other parts of south central and southeast Nebraska. A total of 5.6 inches was reported northeast of Oxford, with all creeks in the area up, four inches at Hastings, 2.5 inches at the College View and Cheney and 2.4 inches at Waverly.

Bellevue Police Officer Jim Sanderson said Highway 73-75 was closed late Monday south of Omaha to the Platte River with up to 12 inches of water reported near Bellevue College.

The Department of Roads announced Tuesday afternoon it is temporarily closing the Brady rest area on Interstate 80 because of high water.

Community Apathy 'Largest' Mental Health Care Problem

Community apathy regarding mental health problems in Lincoln and Lancaster County was listed as one of the largest obstacles to better mental health care at a "talk back" Tuesday night.

The open meeting of the Lancaster County Mental Health Planning Committee had been called by the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council to give Lincolnites an opportunity to express opinions on a variety of mental health problems.

"The community isolates itself from the problem of mental health," one man charged. "If mental illness doesn't touch a member of someone's own family, it's not a problem."

According to those attending the meeting, community apathy manifests itself in many ways — lack of concern with treatment facilities, discrimination against former mental patients, lack of programs for retarded children and lack of drug abuse and alcoholism programs.

One person commented that Lincoln has a wide spectrum of mental health programs, but that quality is lacking. "Flooding the community with agencies won't solve our problems," he said.

Some 90 persons attended the open meeting, most of them professionals or staff members directly involved with mental health programs throughout the county.

Other mental health needs cited at the meeting were the need for programs for slow and gifted learners, venereal disease clinics, abortion reform, public educations services and reforms at the Lincoln Regional Center.

Teacher Gets Large Recipe From Little Kid

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — When frist grade teacher Betty Overland asked her pupils for some Mother's Day recipies, Campy Craig came up with a formula for a peppermint cake:

"Two spoons of peppermint, 500 tons of whipping cream, 60 eggs, 20 drops of vanilla and then mix it all together.

"Put it in the oven at 60,000 degrees F. and wait for six hours."

Girl, 14, Saves Family From Fire In House

(c) Chicago Sun-Times

Chicago — A 14-year-old suburban girl jumped from a second-floor window in her blazing home, then hoisted a 20-foot ladder to the window to rescue her family before flames destroyed the structure.

Carla Kjellberg was credited by Cook County sheriff's police with saving the lives of her mother, Mrs. Jeanne Mowry, 43, and her brothers, Ted, 10, and Walter, 9.

The home, near southwest suburban Orland Park, was destroyed despite efforts by the Orland Park and Palos Park Fire Department.

The family's dachshund died in the fire.

Mayor Wants Foul Odors From ADM Stopped

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Tuesday following a meeting of city officials and representatives of the Archer Daniels Midland plant that the city will not tolerate any further odors from its sewage treatment lagoon in northeast Lincoln caused by the soybean refinery plant.

Schwartzkopf said the city is interested in cooperating with the industry on the odor problem, but "wants action from ADM immediately" to put an end to the smells which have become very obnoxious since last Thursday.

The mayor said that ADM representatives are to meet again with the city next week to present short and long range solutions to eliminate the cause of the odor problem.

"It's a stinking mess and our citizens should not be subjected to it," he said, in expressing his feeling that the industry has not been very cooperative on the local level.

The mayor said that what steps the city would take would depend on what happens at the meeting next week.

He said that during the meeting his repeated questions as to why the heavy doses of grease keep coming into the lagoon solicited no satisfactory answer from ADM officials.

The problem with the pungent odors, according to city officials, is that the lagoon cannot adequately treat the sewage because of the excessive amount of grease from the soybean refinery plant.

A check by city officials indicated that ADM's effluent contained 8,000 parts per million of grease — 80 times the amount permitted under city ordinances.

Public-Utilities Director Lee Blocker said that bacteria in the lagoon is used to treat the waste and that the heavy amounts of grease "have knocked out the bacteria."

"It's like a person drinking about a fifth of scotch at a sitting — It takes you several days to get back on your feet," Blocker said in drawing a comparison.

The public utilities director said he expects the smells to remain for about a week while the bacteria recover from the overdose of grease.

Blocker said something needs to be done immediately to get the lagoon back into shape — or else the smells will likely continue.

He said the plant will also have to come up with a long range plan to prevent the possibility of any future odor problem.

Blocker said ADM representatives did talk about the possibility of installing some equipment by mid-September which would control the BOD (biological oxygen demand) of the effluent.

The odor problem first started in the fall of 1969.

Following meetings then with city officials, ADM installed a chemical process to help curtail the foul odors. The city also installed mechanical aerators at the lagoon to aid in the treatment process.

Spur East Of Ulysses Closed By High Water

Only one highway remained closed Tuesday night as the result of heavy rains Monday night in southeast Nebraska.

The state spur east of Ulysses was blocked by water over the road.

Elsewhere high water in streams was receding, including Turkey Creek near Wilber.

Offutt Air Force Base south of Omaha reported the most rainfall in the state of 6.57 inches in the 24-hour period ending early Tuesday.

Dannebrog recorded 4.90 inches of rain and 3.40 inches was reported northwest of Cario.

Other significant precipitation reports were 2.83 inches at Ashland, 2.70 inches southwest of St. Paul, 2.30 inches at Omaha Eppley Airfield, 2.37 inches at Hebron, and 2.93 inches at 60th and McKinley in Omaha.

Many other Nebraska points reported more than one inch of rain during the period.

Large amounts of precipitation also were reported in other parts of south central and southeast Nebraska. A total of 5.6 inches was reported northeast of Oxford, with all creeks in the area up, four inches at Hastings, 2.5 inches at the College View and Cheney and 2.4 inches at Waverly.

Bellevue Police Officer Jim Sanderson said Highway 73-75 was closed late Monday south of Omaha to the Platte River with up to 12 inches of water reported near Bellevue College.

The Department of Roads announced Tuesday afternoon it is temporarily closing the Brady rest area on Interstate 80 because of high water.

Community Apathy 'Largest' Mental Health Care Problem

Community apathy regarding mental health problems in Lincoln and Lancaster County was listed as one of the largest obstacles to better mental health care at a "talk back" Tuesday night.

The open meeting of the Lancaster County Mental Health Planning Committee had been called by the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council to give Lincolnites an opportunity to express opinions on a variety of mental health problems.

"The community isolates itself from the problem of mental health," one man charged. "If mental illness doesn't touch a member of someone's own family, it's not a problem."

According to those attending the meeting, community apathy manifests itself in many ways — lack of concern with treatment facilities, discrimination against former mental patients, lack of programs for retarded children and lack of drug abuse and alcoholism programs.

One person commented that Lincoln has a wide spectrum of mental health programs, but that quality is lacking. "Flooding the community with agencies won't solve our problems," he said.

Some 90 persons attended the open meeting, most of them professionals or staff members directly involved with mental health programs throughout the county.

Other mental health needs cited at the meeting were the need for programs for slow and gifted learners, venereal disease clinics, abortion reform, public educations services and reforms at the Lincoln Regional Center.

Teacher Gets Large Recipe From Little Kid

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — When frist grade teacher Betty Overland asked her pupils for some Mother's Day recipies, Campy Craig came up with a formula for a peppermint cake:

"Two spoons of peppermint, 500 tons of whipping cream, 60 eggs, 20 drops of vanilla and then mix it all together.

"Put it in the oven at 60,000 degrees F. and wait for six hours."

Girl, 14, Saves Family From Fire In House

(c) Chicago Sun-Times

Chicago — A 14-year-old suburban girl jumped from a second-floor window in her blazing home, then hoisted a 20-foot ladder to the window to rescue her family before flames destroyed the structure.

Carla Kjellberg was credited by Cook County sheriff's police with saving the lives of her mother, Mrs. Jeanne Mowry, 43, and her brothers, Ted, 10, and Walter, 9.

The home, near southwest suburban Orland Park, was destroyed despite efforts by the Orland Park and Palos Park Fire Department.

The family's dachshund died in the fire.

Training Sessions On Welfare Budget Calculations Slated

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Welfare Director Lawrence L. Graham said Tuesday a statewide series of in-service training sessions for county welfare caseworkers on calculating budgets for welfare recipients will be held beginning May 24.

The day-long sessions will be conducted at five regional points — Scottsbluff, North Platte, Norfolk, Lincoln and Omaha — by a five-man team headed by Gene Glendenning of the State Welfare Department.

The refresher courses for county supervisors and caseworkers, Graham said, are tied into department plans to use a new form for recipient budgets beginning with the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Plan Rechecking

Also, he indicated, the county welfare offices will probably be required to recheck and recalculate recipient budgets for all assistance categories, including aid to dependent children (ADC).

Normally, he said, AAC budgets must be recalculated every six months under current regulations.

"The new form for a recipient's budget should be more error-proof," said Graham in noting the current form was last revised two years ago. "It is being revised for a more logical sequence of computations."

Noting Nebraska's welfare system is state supervised, but county administered, the state director said the burden of eliminating errors in payments to recipients rests with the counties.

Tightening Up

However, he noted the state is tightening up on its "quality control" procedures for detecting errors and deficiencies in the county paperwork.

Last week, Gov. J. J. Exon and Graham revealed that a sample check of Douglas County's ADC caseload showed payment errors in 19% of the cases for a net overpayment of $27,100 per month or $325,000 per year.

The check indicated the average overpayment was $44.39 per case while the underpayment average was $27.80 per case.

Errors Here Slight

Errors detected in Lancaster County involved 3.6% of the cases, and payment error was "negligible," according to Graham.

Graham said there are no plans to make intensive field checks in other counties.

After the budget recalculation phase for the new fiscal year is completed, he said, the department will make the normal quality control checks for each county.

Aside of from intensive training sessions for Douglas County caseworkers on recipient budgets, Graham said direct computer terminals between the department and the county will be installed in the near future.

Instant Updating

The direct link, he said, will permit instant updating of information on welfare cases, which is now handled by mail.

The next possible step would be the direct mailing of checks of Douglas County recipients from the state department, he said.

Graham said the computer link should aid the state's largest county to work out from under some of its problems and burdens in welfare administration.

Bellevue Opens Vasectomy Clinic

New York (UPI) — Bellevue Hospital Center announced Tuesday it has opened a vasectomy clinic for the voluntary sterilization of men who wish to limit the size of their families or fear they might transmit an inheritable disease to a child.

Bellevue said it required the written consent of both husband and wife, a joint interview and a three-week reconsideration period before it would operate. Single men or married men under the age of 45 who did not have at least one living natural, adopted or foster child also would need special approval by a committee of physicians.

Everyone Gets Chance

Football coaches like to stress that in the spring everyone who puts on a uniform has a chance to catch their eye and a look at the Nebraska lineups when spring drills opened six weeks ago and what they look like now would prove that to be true in the Husker camp.

While many a football fan was sleeping in or watering his lawn during those Saturday morning scrimmage sessions that pitted the third and fourth units against each other, the lawns of Husker coaches either were being watered by the wives; 2) by their sons or 3) not being watered.

The Husker coaching staff took as much patience with those third and fourth team scrimmage sessions in the mornings as they did with the first and second stringers, who did their work after the lawn waterers or sleepers had arrived at Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoons.

Three Huskers, who now have shots at first string jobs when fall camp opens in 3½ months, were toiling with the third unit when spring drills began.

Bill Sloey, a 6-1, 235-pound junior college find from Hawthorne, Calif., is presently the leading contender for Jerry Murtaugh's vacated strongside linebacker post.

Maury Damkroger, the standout athlete from Lincoln Northeast, is in a triangular struggle for Dan Schneiss' fullback spot and John Dutton, a 6-7, 235-pound redshirt from Rapid City, S.D., is a candidate at defensive right tackle.

All three were third unit listees when the opening lineups were posted on March 29.

No. 2s Move Up

That trio made the most progress during the 20 days of spring drills, but a couple off the first day's No. 2 unit also have been impressive enough to challenge for starting roles this fall.

White, along with safety Bill Kosch, figures to handle the placekicking chores for the Huskers this fall.

And Bill Janssen, who started as No. 2 defensive right tackle, showed enough promise there that NU coaches may give some thought to shifting Monte Johnson to offense.

A year ago, Janssen was in a contest with Doug Dumler for the center job, but bowed out when he broke an arm last fall.

Two members of the top offensive and defensive units in Saturday's spring game started spring drills on the sidelines with injuries — weakside linebacker Bob Terrio and tight end Jerry List.

Making the biggest jump was Johnny Rodgers, who jumped from the baseball outfield after being cut to the No. 1 wingback role he held last season as one of the top sophomore backs in Big Eight history.

All other members of the No. 1 offensive and defensive platoons Saturday started spring drills as No. 1s. But Damkroger, Sloey and Dutton proved the coaches were paying attention — even on Saturday mornings.

'SUPER' CAGE GAME SLATED

NBA Players Set Tilt Against ABA All-Stars

. . . CLUB OWNERS OPENLY DEFIED AGAIN

New York (AP) — The National Basketball Association players openly defied the league's club owners again Tuesday by announcing plans to play an all-star game with the rival American Basketball Association in the Houston Astrodome, May 28.

The game, which will match 11-man all-star teams from the two leagues, was scheduled by agreement of the players in the ABA and NBA despite the fact club owners had barred such an event until formal merger of the warring leagues.

Only last week the owners of the two leagues agreed to seek congressional legislation sanctioning such a merger. The NBA Players Association has been fighting the merger and currently has a court injunction in force barring any amalgamation.

Oscar Robertson of the NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks, president of the players association, said the game was being put on because there was a demand from the fans and to show that it could be put on without a merger.

"The super game," said Robertson, "will show that the two pro leagues can play against each other at the highest competitive level without an illegal merger. The owners refused to present any game between the two leagues without such a merger. But with such refusal, the owner's sole motivation becomes clear—money.

"What should be of interest is the fan and the quality of product he sees."

Asked whether the owners approved of the players' decision to go ahead with the game, Robertson said sharply:

"It doesn't matter whether they approve or not."

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph said the league would "take steps to stop our players from participating if it is decided the game would be detrimental to the league, which we have not."

Dolph also revealed he had told the ABA's 11 member clubs to "not grant permission to the players to participate prior to league consideration and approval."

Asked what steps could be taken to bar an ABA player from participating if the league decided the game was detrimental, Dolph said:

"A player's contract requires him to get permission from his team for any such game."

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy declined comment on the situation.

The NBA players will be centers Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, forwards Bill Cunningham of Philadelphia, Dave DeBusschere of New York, John Havlicek of Boston and Elvin Hayes of San Diego and guards Earl Monroe of Baltimore, Dave Bing of Detroit, Walt Frazier of New York and Robertson.

The ABA squad shows Zelmo Beaty of Utah and Mel Daniels of Indiana at center, Rick Barry of New York, Roger Brown of Indiana, Willie Wise of Utah and Dan Issel of Kentucky at forward and Charlie Scott of Virginia, Larry Jones of Florida, Bill Melchionni of New York, Steve Jones of Memphis and Donnie Freeman of Texas at guard. Robertson said the name of the 11th NBA player as well as the coaches for both squads would be announced next week.

The game will be syndicated for national televising by TVS at 7:30 p.m., CDT.

The net gate receipts from the game will go to the newly established Whitney Young Foundation, which directs funds to program programs that prepare ghetto youths for college. The television receipts will go to supplement the pension plans of the players in the two leagues.

A share of the television receipts also will go to the participating players. Roberston said the players had not yet decided on a figure, but the winners would get more than the losers.

TVS is an independent television network which in the past few months televised the Notre Dame-UCLA college basketball game.

Weyers Receives Swenson Award

Peru — Jack Weyers has won the annual Swenson Athletic Award, established in 1925 for the outstanding senior athlete by the late Mr. and Mrs. Bert Swenson, 1909 graduates of Stockton, Calif.

Weyers, from Sterling, is a four-year National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics all-award selection. He also holds Peru cross-country records in every event he has run.

He owns the one, two, three and six-mile records and is a member of the record-holding distance medley relay team. His cross country and track coach, Jack McIntire, won the Swenson award in 1941.

State Colleges, UNO In New Cage League

Omaha (UPI)—The University of Nebraska at Omaha and the four state colleges joined forces Tuesday to form the Nebraska Intercollegiate Basketball League.

The schedule calls for UNO to play home-and-home game series with Chadron State, Peru State, Wayne State and Kearney State Colleges.

The chairman of the new league, Ross Armstrong of Chadron, said the champion would meet the champion of the Nebraska church league (the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) annually in a playoff for the NAIA berth in the national tournament at Kansas City.

The NIAC members are Nebraska Wesleyan, Doane, Hastings, Concordia Teachers, Midland and Dana Colleges.

The new league is strictly a basketball organization, Armstrong stressed. UNO officials said it would not interfere with the Rocky Mountain Conference, of which UNO is a member.

Rains Alter Slate For Track Meets

Early-week rains have altered the lineup of district high school track meets around the state.

The first of the 28 qualifying meets, a Class B affair scheduled for Dana College in Blair Tuesday, was postponed until today.

Today's Class C meet at Doane College in Crete has been set back until Friday, although the other two meets slated for today, Class D districts at North Bend and Lexington, are still on the docket.

With improved weather the bulk of the meets, set for Thursday and Friday, are expected to go on schedule.

—CLARENCE SWANSON AWARD—

Football Group Set To Start Memorial

Nebraska's newly-organized chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame is establishing a memorial to the late Clarence E. Swanson, former star Nebraska player and member of the NU Board of Regents.

Hub Monsky of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Hall of Fame chapter, says that the chapter is establishing an annual award, the Clarence E. Swanson Memorial Trophy, to be presented annually to a person in Nebraska who has made contributions to further intercollegiate football and the spirit of athletics apart from participation in sports.

In establishing the memorial to the Lincoln businessman, who twice has been nominated for the National Hall of Fame, the first trophy will be presented Wednesday night at the Nebraska Chapter's first banquet. It will be presented to the Swanson family and will be accepted by Mr. Swanson's son, James, of Lincoln.

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney will also be honored and become the first inductee into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame. Nebraska representatives in the national Hall of Fame automatically will be enshrined in the Nebraska Hall of Fame and both living members will attend the dinner.

Ed Weir of Lincoln and George Sauer of Waco, Tex., will be on hand for the festivities.

The Nebraska chapter is currently in the midst of a membership campaign. Membership information can be obtained and banquet reservations made at the University of Nebraska sports information office.

Lincoln's Jensen Falls At ABC Meet

Detroit — Lincoln's Max Jensen beat PBA pro Don Helling three games, but lost the four-game series and eventually was eliminated from competition in the American Bowing Congress tournament here Monday night.

Jensen, who led the 43-man state-qualifying division Sunday, gave Helling more than he could handle in the first three match play games, beating him 191-187, 225-223 and 265-258.

But Helling, the 12th place finisher in last fall's Lincoln PBA Open, rallied in the last game to dump Jensen, 236-191, taking the series, 904-872.

Helling, a southpaw from St. Louis, went on to defeat touted Dave Soutar, last fall's Lincoln PBA Open champion, by one pin, 846-845.

Jensen next met Ron Chader of Buffalo, N.Y., in the double elimination, no bonus pin tournament. Jensen, rolling games of 211, 214, 179 and 214, won the series with an 816 total.

He then met Mike Totsky, a Detroit bowler who eliminated Max, 882-804.

Jensen will compete Thursday in the Petersen Classic at Chicago. The tournament is the highest-paying amateur event in the nation.

Don Glover Monday opened defense of his ABC title with a pair of wins. In his second four-game duel, Glover rolled games of 278, 246, 194 and 278 to blast Barry Asher, 996-752.

Forty-four-year-old Bill Tucker, who rolled a 300 in the ABC doubles three years ago, turned the trick again Monday with a perfect game against Lou Scalia.

It was the second 300 in two days of Masters shooting. Earl Anthony had a perfect effort Sunday in a qualifying round.

Honor For Dempsey

New York (AP) — Tom Dempsey of the New Orleans Saints, who despite a birth defect that left him with only half a right foot kicked a record 63-yard field goal last season, will receive the Most Courageous Player award at the pro football writers dinner here May 24.

Reckewey, Maresh To Meet Again In August

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast High's Ken Maresh is going to face crosstown rival Kent Reckewey of East one more time.

The two all-city standouts head a list of 24 hoop sharpshooters chosen to the North and South squads for the third annual Nebraska Coaches Association all-star basketball game to be played in Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium, Aug. 20.

Reckewey and his eventual state champion Spartan teammates topped Maresh and Northeast in their two regular season meetings this winter.

If Reckewey makes it three in a row it will also mark the third straight success for the South in as many tries in the all-star game. Reckewey will play for the Rebel squad, coached by East High mentor Paul Forch, while Maresh was selected to the North team, whose head coach will be Roger Higgins of Omaha Cathedral.

Jim Smith of Hastings will assist Forch in coaching the South cagers, while Higgins will be aided by Madison's Fred Letheby. The South won the inaugural contest in 1969, 60-45, and again last summer, 91-80.

The South will hold a slight height advantage with 6-8 centers Paul Thomas of Hastings and Central City's Dean Gissler sharing the pivot post.

KEN MARESH

The North will rely on a pair of 6-6 stalwarts for its backboard strength, Omaha Cathedral's Hilary Howard and Tom O'Connell of Sidney.

While the South squad features eight players from the Class A ranks, three from Class B and just one from Class C, the North roster has Class C, five B and five A performers.

Eight of the 12 South hoopsters played for teams which qualified for the state tournament last March, while just five of the North all-stars gained a similar honor.

Reckewey, who rewrote the state tourney record book while leading East to the state Class A title, averaged over 25 points a game and exceeded the 30 mark on four occasions last winter.

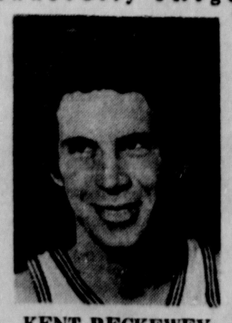

He'll be assured of a high-scoring running mate at the other guard spot on the South quintet. Jeff O'Donnell of Hastings averaged 18 a game and Bellevue's Fred Moore, though just 5-9 and the shortest player on either squad, thrilled state tourney fans with his point-producing antics.

One of the top guard candidates for the North team produces the all-star game's first father-son combination. Higgins' son Mike, Cathedral's floor-leader on the way to a sparkling 21-2 record, was chosen to the Yankee squad.

The star-studded North squad will also include two-time Class B all-stater Steve Erwin of Laurel. Arlington's Tom Anderson, who also made the Class B all-state five after scoring a career total of 1,089 points and Class C all-stater Jack Wesolowski of Elkhorn will also perform for the North.

Reckewey and Thomas, both all-state choices, will be joined by another Class A all-stater on the South team, Omaha South's 6-4 Mike Cunningham, who plays either forward or guard.

Another South all-stater is Pawnee City's Roger Thiemann from Class C. Tom Gunlicks, from the Class B state champion Fairbury five, was also chosen by the Rebel coaches.

KENT RECKEWEY

A top-flight all-state playmaker from the Class A ranks who will don a North uniform for the summer classic is Neil Klutman of Columbus.

Everyone Gets Chance

Football coaches like to stress that in the spring everyone who puts on a uniform has a chance to catch their eye and a look at the Nebraska lineups when spring drills opened six weeks ago and what they look like now would prove that to be true in the Husker camp.

While many a football fan was sleeping in or watering his lawn during those Saturday morning scrimmage sessions that pitted the third and fourth units against each other, the lawns of Husker coaches either were being watered by the wives; 2) by their sons or 3) not being watered.

The Husker coaching staff took as much patience with those third and fourth team scrimmage sessions in the mornings as they did with the first and second stringers, who did their work after the lawn waterers or sleepers had arrived at Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoons.

Three Huskers, who now have shots at first string jobs when fall camp opens in 3½ months, were toiling with the third unit when spring drills began.

Bill Sloey, a 6-1, 235-pound junior college find from Hawthorne, Calif., is presently the leading contender for Jerry Murtaugh's vacated strongside linebacker post.

Maury Damkroger, the standout athlete from Lincoln Northeast, is in a triangular struggle for Dan Schneiss' fullback spot and John Dutton, a 6-7, 235-pound redshirt from Rapid City, S.D., is a candidate at defensive right tackle.

All three were third unit listees when the opening lineups were posted on March 29.

No. 2s Move Up

That trio made the most progress during the 20 days of spring drills, but a couple off the first day's No. 2 unit also have been impressive enough to challenge for starting roles this fall.

White, along with safety Bill Kosch, figures to handle the placekicking chores for the Huskers this fall.

And Bill Janssen, who started as No. 2 defensive right tackle, showed enough promise there that NU coaches may give some thought to shifting Monte Johnson to offense.

A year ago, Janssen was in a contest with Doug Dumler for the center job, but bowed out when he broke an arm last fall.

Two members of the top offensive and defensive units in Saturday's spring game started spring drills on the sidelines with injuries — weakside linebacker Bob Terrio and tight end Jerry List.

Making the biggest jump was Johnny Rodgers, who jumped from the baseball outfield after being cut to the No. 1 wingback role he held last season as one of the top sophomore backs in Big Eight history.

All other members of the No. 1 offensive and defensive platoons Saturday started spring drills as No. 1s. But Damkroger, Sloey and Dutton proved the coaches were paying attention — even on Saturday mornings.

—CLARENCE SWANSON AWARD—

Football Group Set To Start Memorial

Nebraska's newly-organized chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame is establishing a memorial to the late Clarence E. Swanson, former star Nebraska player and member of the NU Board of Regents.

Hub Monsky of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Hall of Fame chapter, says that the chapter is establishing an annual award, the Clarence E. Swanson Memorial Trophy, to be presented annually to a person in Nebraska who has made contributions to further intercollegiate football and the spirit of athletics apart from participation in sports.

In establishing the memorial to the Lincoln businessman, who twice has been nominated for the National Hall of Fame, the first trophy will be presented Wednesday night at the Nebraska Chapter's first banquet. It will be presented to the Swanson family and will be accepted by Mr. Swanson's son, James, of Lincoln.

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney will also be honored and become the first inductee into the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame. Nebraska representatives in the national Hall of Fame automatically will be enshrined in the Nebraska Hall of Fame and both living members will attend the dinner.

Ed Weir of Lincoln and George Sauer of Waco, Tex., will be on hand for the festivities.

The Nebraska chapter is currently in the midst of a membership campaign. Membership information can be obtained and banquet reservations made at the University of Nebraska sports information office.

Lincoln's Jensen Falls At ABC Meet

Detroit — Lincoln's Max Jensen beat PBA pro Don Helling three games, but lost the four-game series and eventually was eliminated from competition in the American Bowing Congress tournament here Monday night.

Jensen, who led the 43-man state-qualifying division Sunday, gave Helling more than he could handle in the first three match play games, beating him 191-187, 225-223 and 265-258.

But Helling, the 12th place finisher in last fall's Lincoln PBA Open, rallied in the last game to dump Jensen, 236-191, taking the series, 904-872.

Helling, a southpaw from St. Louis, went on to defeat touted Dave Soutar, last fall's Lincoln PBA Open champion, by one pin, 846-845.

Jensen next met Ron Chader of Buffalo, N.Y., in the double elimination, no bonus pin tournament. Jensen, rolling games of 211, 214, 179 and 214, won the series with an 816 total.

He then met Mike Totsky, a Detroit bowler who eliminated Max, 882-804.

Jensen will compete Thursday in the Petersen Classic at Chicago. The tournament is the highest-paying amateur event in the nation.

Don Glover Monday opened defense of his ABC title with a pair of wins. In his second four-game duel, Glover rolled games of 278, 246, 194 and 278 to blast Barry Asher, 996-752.

Forty-four-year-old Bill Tucker, who rolled a 300 in the ABC doubles three years ago, turned the trick again Monday with a perfect game against Lou Scalia.

It was the second 300 in two days of Masters shooting. Earl Anthony had a perfect effort Sunday in a qualifying round.

Honor For Dempsey

'SUPER' CAGE GAME SLATED

NBA Players Set Tilt Against ABA All-Stars

. . . CLUB OWNERS OPENLY DEFIED AGAIN

New York (AP) — The National Basketball Association players openly defied the league's club owners again Tuesday by announcing plans to play an all-star game with the rival American Basketball Association in the Houston Astrodome, May 28.

The game, which will match 11-man all-star teams from the two leagues, was scheduled by agreement of the players in the ABA and NBA despite the fact club owners had barred such an event until formal merger of the warring leagues.

Only last week the owners of the two leagues agreed to seek congressional legislation sanctioning such a merger. The NBA Players Association has been fighting the merger and currently has a court injunction in force barring any amalgamation.

Oscar Robertson of the NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks, president of the players association, said the game was being put on because there was a demand from the fans and to show that it could be put on without a merger.

"The super game," said Robertson, "will show that the two pro leagues can play against each other at the highest competitive level without an illegal merger. The owners refused to present any game between the two leagues without such a merger. But with such refusal, the owner's sole motivation becomes clear—money.

"What should be of interest is the fan and the quality of product he sees."

Asked whether the owners approved of the players' decision to go ahead with the game, Robertson said sharply:

"It doesn't matter whether they approve or not."

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph said the league would "take steps to stop our players from participating if it is decided the game would be detrimental to the league, which we have not."

Dolph also revealed he had told the ABA's 11 member clubs to "not grant permission to the players to participate prior to league consideration and approval."

Asked what steps could be taken to bar an ABA player from participating if the league decided the game was detrimental, Dolph said:

"A player's contract requires him to get permission from his team for any such game."

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy declined comment on the situation.

The NBA players will be centers Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, forwards Bill Cunningham of Philadelphia, Dave DeBusschere of New York, John Havlicek of Boston and Elvin Hayes of San Diego and guards Earl Monroe of Baltimore, Dave Bing of Detroit, Walt Frazier of New York and Robertson.

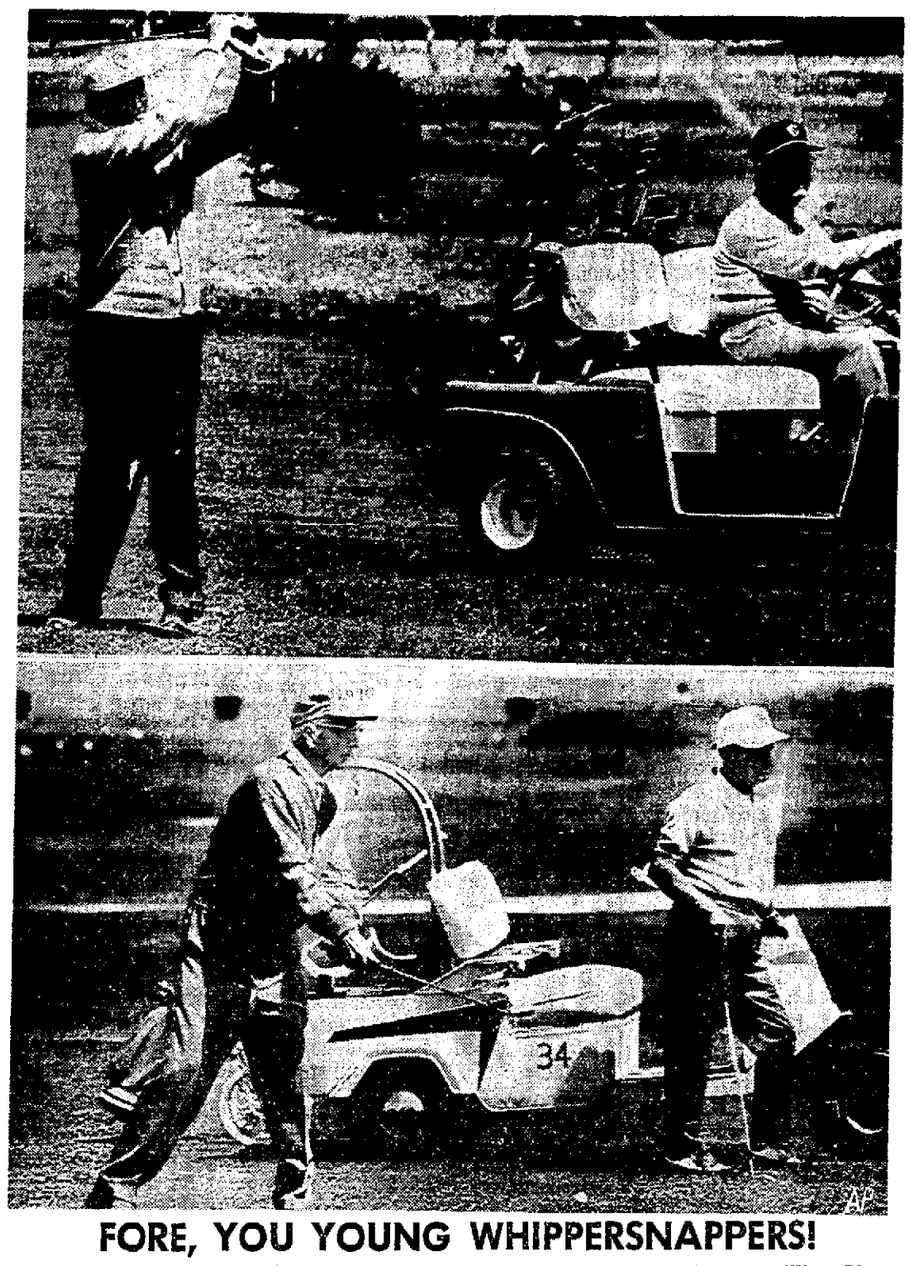

The ABA squad shows Zelmo Beaty of Utah and Mel Daniels of Indiana at center, Rick Barry of New York, Roger Brown of Indiana, Willie Wise of Utah and Dan Issel of Kentucky at forward and Charlie Scott of Virginia, Larry Jones of Florida, Bill Melchionni of New York, Steve Jones of Memphis and Donnie Freeman of Texas at guard. Robertson said the name of the 11th NBA player as well as the coaches for both squads would be announced next week.

The game will be syndicated for national televising by TVS at 7:30 p.m., CDT.

The net gate receipts from the game will go to the newly established Whitney Young Foundation, which directs funds to program programs that prepare ghetto youths for college. The television receipts will go to supplement the pension plans of the players in the two leagues.

A share of the television receipts also will go to the participating players. Roberston said the players had not yet decided on a figure, but the winners would get more than the losers.

TVS is an independent television network which in the past few months televised the Notre Dame-UCLA college basketball game.

State Colleges, UNO In New Cage League

Omaha (UPI)—The University of Nebraska at Omaha and the four state colleges joined forces Tuesday to form the Nebraska Intercollegiate Basketball League.

The schedule calls for UNO to play home-and-home game series with Chadron State, Peru State, Wayne State and Kearney State Colleges.

The chairman of the new league, Ross Armstrong of Chadron, said the champion would meet the champion of the Nebraska church league (the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) annually in a playoff for the NAIA berth in the national tournament at Kansas City.

The NIAC members are Nebraska Wesleyan, Doane, Hastings, Concordia Teachers, Midland and Dana Colleges.

The new league is strictly a basketball organization, Armstrong stressed. UNO officials said it would not interfere with the Rocky Mountain Conference, of which UNO is a member.

Rains Alter Slate For Track Meets

Early-week rains have altered the lineup of district high school track meets around the state.

The first of the 28 qualifying meets, a Class B affair scheduled for Dana College in Blair Tuesday, was postponed until today.

Today's Class C meet at Doane College in Crete has been set back until Friday, although the other two meets slated for today, Class D districts at North Bend and Lexington, are still on the docket.

With improved weather the bulk of the meets, set for Thursday and Friday, are expected to go on schedule.

Reckewey, Maresh To Meet Again In August

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast High's Ken Maresh is going to face crosstown rival Kent Reckewey of East one more time.

The two all-city standouts head a list of 24 hoop sharpshooters chosen to the North and South squads for the third annual Nebraska Coaches Association all-star basketball game to be played in Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium, Aug. 20.

Reckewey and his eventual state champion Spartan teammates topped Maresh and Northeast in their two regular season meetings this winter.

If Reckewey makes it three in a row it will also mark the third straight success for the South in as many tries in the all-star game. Reckewey will play for the Rebel squad, coached by East High mentor Paul Forch, while Maresh was selected to the North team, whose head coach will be Roger Higgins of Omaha Cathedral.

Jim Smith of Hastings will assist Forch in coaching the South cagers, while Higgins will be aided by Madison's Fred Letheby. The South won the inaugural contest in 1969, 60-45, and again last summer, 91-80.

The South will hold a slight height advantage with 6-8 centers Paul Thomas of Hastings and Central City's Dean Gissler sharing the pivot post.

The North will rely on a pair of 6-6 stalwarts for its backboard strength, Omaha Cathedral's Hilary Howard and Tom O'Connell of Sidney.

While the South squad features eight players from the Class A ranks, three from Class B and just one from Class C, the North roster has Class C, five B and five A performers.

Eight of the 12 South hoopsters played for teams which qualified for the state tournament last March, while just five of the North all-stars gained a similar honor.

Reckewey, who rewrote the state tourney record book while leading East to the state Class A title, averaged over 25 points a game and exceeded the 30 mark on four occasions last winter.

He'll be assured of a high-scoring running mate at the other guard spot on the South quintet. Jeff O'Donnell of Hastings averaged 18 a game and Bellevue's Fred Moore, though just 5-9 and the shortest player on either squad, thrilled state tourney fans with his point-producing antics.

One of the top guard candidates for the North team produces the all-star game's first father-son combination. Higgins' son Mike, Cathedral's floor-leader on the way to a sparkling 21-2 record, was chosen to the Yankee squad.

The star-studded North squad will also include two-time Class B all-stater Steve Erwin of Laurel. Arlington's Tom Anderson, who also made the Class B all-state five after scoring a career total of 1,089 points and Class C all-stater Jack Wesolowski of Elkhorn will also perform for the North.

Reckewey and Thomas, both all-state choices, will be joined by another Class A all-stater on the South team, Omaha South's 6-4 Mike Cunningham, who plays either forward or guard.

Another South all-stater is PawneeCity's Roger Thiemann from Class C. Tom Gunlicks, from the Class B state champion Fairbury five, was also chosen by the Rebel coaches.

A top-flight all-state playmaker from the Class A ranks who will don a North uniform for the summer classic is Neil Klutman of Columbus.

Mets Reverse Calendar In Skipping To Top Slot

. . . TRIP HOUSTON FOR FOURTH STRAIGHT WIN

By Associated Press

It's '69 again for the New York Mets in '71.

The Mets did little wrong two years ago when they astrounded the baseball world by winning the National League pennant and then the World Series from Baltimore.

Right now they are in another streak of doing everything right and are in first place in the National League East.

They whipped Houston 8-1 Tuesday night for their fourth in a row and 12th victory in 14 games. Nolan Ryan survived seven bases on balls, a hit batsman and a wild pitch to chalk up his fourth victory on a three-hitter.

Larr Dierker, the Astro ace who beat the Mets and Tom Seaver on May 1, suffered his first defeat against five victories. He was taken out in the sixth when he walked Tim Foli with the bases loaded to force in a run.

That put the Mets ahead 4-1. Dave Marshall followed with a grand slam home run off reliver George Culver.

Joe Torre drove in four runs with two homers to lead St. Louis over Montreal 10-4. A five-hitter by Bill Hands and two-run homers by Johnny Callison, Billy Williams and Ron Santo gave the Chicago Cubs a 6-2 conquest of Philadelphia.

Baltimore snapped a three-game losing streak on Merv Rettenmund's RBI single in the 10th to down Kansas City 5-4. Strong relief pitching of Phil Hennigan helped Cleveland beat Oakland 7-5 after the Indians had blown a 5-0 lead built by a grand slammer by starting pitcher Steve Dunning.

Clyde Wright pitched an eight-hit shutout for California over Detroit 5-0. Duane Josephson and Carl Yastrzemski each walloped two-run homers to help Boston shade Minnesota 5-4 and give the Red Sox their 14th victory in 17 games.

The New York Yankees were rained out at Milwaukee. So was the Washington-White Sox game at Chicago.

In late west coast games home runs by Bobby Bonds, Dick Dietz and Willie McCovey powered the runaway San Francisco Giants to a 6-1 victory over the sagging Cincinnati Reds.

Also Gene Clines smashed a tie-breaking two-run triple in the Pirates went on to bury San Diego 10-4 for their fourth consecutive victory.

And Bill Buckner slammed a three-run homer to back the six-hit pitching of Claude Osteen as the Los Angeles Dodgers snapped a three-game losing streak with a 6-1 victory over Atlanta.

SAFE . . . Royals' Schaal (10) slides into second.

Canadiens Romp Over Chicago, 5-2

Montreal (AP) — Fleet Yvan Cournoyer and Montreal's Mahovlich brothers, Pete and Frank, led the Canadiens to a 5-2 romp over Chicago in Tuesday night's fourth game of the Stanley Cup playoff.

The victory squared the best-of-seven National Hockey League championship series at two games each with game five set for Chicago Thursday night and game six back in Montreal on national television Sunday afternoon.

A seventh, if necessary, would be played in Chicago Tuesday night.

Hilgendorf Aids Omaha Triumph

Tulsa, Okla. (AP) — Former Tulsa lefthander Tom Hilgendorf Tuesday night pitched Omaha to a 5-3 American Association baseball victory.

Omaha opened the scoring in the third inning with two runs. Tulsa had loaded the bases in the second, but Gary Geiger grounded out to end the threat. The win was Hilgendorf's first of the year, against no losses.

Kearney State Takes 18th Straight NCC Track Crown

Scottsbluff — Kearney State College scored its 18th consecutive victory in the Nebraska College Conference's track and field championships here Tuesday afternoon.

The Antelopes won 11 of 17 events to score 122 points while Peru had 89, Chadron 44 and Wayne State tallied 10. The meet was originally scheduled to be run at Chadron, but the heavy rains left the Chadron track in poor condition forcing the meet to be switched to the all-weather track at Nebraska Western Junior College here.

Three meet records were snapped — Jack Weyers raced to a 9:16.3. in the two-mile and the Kearney 440 and mile relay teams each broke the NCC standard in their speciality.

Golf Room Bans Press, Field Staff

Houston (AP) — The player's locker room at Champions Golf Club — site of this week's Houston Champions Invitational Golf Tournament — was closed to the press and members of the PGA field staff Tuesday.

It was the first time in several years that the locker room at a professional golf tournament had been closed to accredited members of the working press.

It is believed to be the first time ever that field staff members of the PGA's Tournament Players Division had been excluded.

Cyclones Divide Pair With Iowa

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — The Iowa State Cyclones took the first game of a doubleheader from the University of Iowa Tuesday 11-5, but the Hawkeyes took revenge and claimed the nightcap 8-4.

The Hawkeyes raked four Iowa State pitchers for 16 hits in the nightcap, ending the Cyclones' eight-game winning streak at home.

In the opener, Iowa State came up with eight runs in the first inning. Mike Zuk hit a two-run homer in the first inning for the Cyclones, while Jeff Schneider batted in three runs and Tom Balica batted in three more.

Larry Corrigan, an All-Big Eight pitcher last season appearing for the first time this season, was the winning pitcher. He went the distance for the Cyclones and gave up eight hits.

NCAA, ABC Vie Over Bowl Date

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. and the National Collegiate Athletic Association are locked in a struggle over the date for the 1971 Liberty Bowl football game, the Memphis Press-Scimitar said Tuesday.

The paper said ABC has threatened not to televise the Memphis game unless it is played Dec. 20.

The NCAA recently rejected the bowl's request for the date and said the game will be Dec. 11.

Omaha Cyclist Dies In Glendale

Gardena, Calif. (AP) — Motorcycle racer Pat Gosch, 27, of Omaha died in a Glendale, Calif., hospital Tuesday from injuries last month while competing in time trials for a motorcycle race.

He suffered head injuries in an accident while making practice runs for a race at Ascot Park Speedway here.

Surviving are the widow, Gloria; two children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gosch, also of Omaha.

Canadiens Romp Over Chicago, 5-2

Montreal (AP) — Fleet Yvan Cournoyer and Montreal's Mahovlich brothers, Pete and Frank, led the Canadiens to a 5-2 romp over Chicago in Tuesday night's fourth game of the Stanley Cup playoff.

The victory squared the best-of-seven National Hockey League championship series at two games each with game five set for Chicago Thursday night and game six back in Montreal on national television Sunday afternoon.

A seventh, if necessary, would be played in Chicago Tuesday night.

Hilgendorf Aids Omaha Triumph

Tulsa, Okla. (AP) — Former Tulsa lefthander Tom Hilgendorf Tuesday night pitched Omaha to a 5-3 American Association baseball victory.

Omaha opened the scoring in the third inning with two runs. Tulsa had loaded the bases in the second, but Gary Geiger grounded out to end the threat. The win was Hilgendorf's first of the year, against no losses.

Kearney State Takes 18th Straight NCC Track Crown

Scottsbluff — Kearney State College scored its 18th consecutive victory in the Nebraska College Conference's track and field championships here Tuesday afternoon.

The Antelopes won 11 of 17 events to score 122 points while Peru had 89, Chadron 44 and Wayne State tallied 10. The meet was originally scheduled to be run at Chadron, but the heavy rains left the Chadron track in poor condition forcing the meet to be switched to the all-weather track at Nebraska Western Junior College here.

Three meet records were snapped — Jack Weyers raced to a 9:16.3. in the two-mile and the Kearney 440 and mile relay teams each broke the NCC standard in their speciality.

Golf Room Bans Press, Field Staff

Houston (AP) — The player's locker room at Champions Golf Club — site of this week's Houston Champions Invitational Golf Tournament — was closed to the press and members of the PGA field staff Tuesday.

It was the first time in several years that the locker room at a professional golf tournament had been closed to accredited members of the working press.

It is believed to be the first time ever that field staff members of the PGA's Tournament Players Division had been excluded.

Weber, Burton Fined

Cyclones Divide Pair With Iowa

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — The Iowa State Cyclones took the first game of a doubleheader from the University of Iowa Tuesday 11-5, but the Hawkeyes took revenge and claimed the nightcap 8-4.

The Hawkeyes raked four Iowa State pitchers for 16 hits in the nightcap, ending the Cyclones' eight-game winning streak at home.

In the opener, Iowa State came up with eight runs in the first inning. Mike Zuk hit a two-run homer in the first inning for the Cyclones, while Jeff Schneider batted in three runs and Tom Balica batted in three more.

Larry Corrigan, an All-Big Eight pitcher last season appearing for the first time this season, was the winning pitcher. He went the distance for the Cyclones and gave up eight hits.

NCAA, ABC Vie Over Bowl Date

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. and the National Collegiate Athletic Association are locked in a struggle over the date for the 1971 Liberty Bowl football game, the Memphis Press-Scimitar said Tuesday.

The paper said ABC has threatened not to televise the Memphis game unless it is played Dec. 20.

The NCAA recently rejected the bowl's request for the date and said the game will be Dec. 11.

Omaha Cyclist Dies In Glendale

Gardena, Calif. (AP) — Motorcycle racer Pat Gosch, 27, of Omaha died in a Glendale, Calif., hospital Tuesday from injuries last month while competing in time trials for a motorcycle race.

He suffered head injuries in an accident while making practice runs for a race at Ascot Park Speedway here.

Surviving are the widow, Gloria; two children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gosch, also of Omaha.

Prepping For Belmont

Dallas' Thomas Plans To Retire

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Gil Brandt, Dallas Cowboy vice president, expressed surprise Tuesday that running back Duane Thomas announced his retirement.

Thomas, who is in Los Angeles, told sports writer Bob St. John of the Dallas Morning News Tuesday that "Not all of my problems derive from money."

Thomas said, "Another thing that concerned me was that the Cowboys have no emotion about a player's well being. They look at you not as a person, but as a specimen."

Asked if he would return if Dallas made another offer, Thomas said, "I don't know. I'd have to make that decision, I really don't expect to hear from them again."

Two Bucks Slated For Cage Camp At Chadron State

At least two members of the world champion Milwaukee Bucks will participate in the basketball camp the Bucks will sponsor at Chadron State College this summer.

Bucks officials have notified the college that Bob Boozer and either Greg Smith or Jon McGlocklin will be on the coaching staff at the camp. Boozer, an Omaha Tech graduate and former Kansas State standout, is a reserve forward while Smith and McGlocklin are both starters on the NBA club.

The Bucks said assistant coach Tom Nissalke and administrative assistant Wayne Embry also will help with the Aug. 1-7 and Aug. 8-14 camps, open to boys ages 11 to 17.

Non-Title Win Costs Buchanan

London (AP) — World lightweight champion Ken Buchanan pounded out an eighth-round technical knockout over Carlos Hernandez Tuesday night — but the victory in the non-title bout may force the Scotsman to postpone the June 9 defense of his crown.

Buchanan, who suffered a cut over his left eye in the sixth round, was to face Panama's Ismael Laguna at Madison Square Garden in New York. But after the bout he needed six stitches to close the wound and said:

"I'll have to call off my scheduled defense on June 9. I'm hoping that we can arrange it for July 12."

In the co-feature at Wembley Stadium, Joe Bugner of Great Britain retained his European heavyweight title with a 15-round split decision over West Germany's Jurgen Blin.

Rains Again Halt Action In Districts

The Capital City Class A district high school baseball tournament fell victim to the weather again Tuesday.

East High athletic director Phil Sprague, who is in charge of the tourney, said, "We're scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday now, but I'd have to admit it's doubtful that the field will dry enough for the Wednesday game, even if it doesn't rain any more."

The rains have also set back the Omaha district playoffs, prompting the Nebraska School Activities Association to postpone the state championships a week.

"The state playoffs were originally scheduled next Tuesday and Wednesday at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha," NSAA executive secretary Les Chamberlin explained, "but now the Metro League teams will need those dates in order to complete their district tournaments."

The state championships are now scheduled for May 24-25 in Ralston. "That takes the pressure off us a little," Sprague said of the Lincoln tourney. "If necessary, we now have all of next week to get our playoffs completed."

Mastera To Cage Post

Fremont — Art Mastera, reserve coach the past three years, has been named head basketball coach at Fremont Bergan H.S. He succeeds Ed Spethman, who will become an assistant at Creighton Prep.

Starters Continue Preakness Trials

Baltimore (AP)—Leematt was withdrawn, the trainer of Impetuosity continued hedging about Saturday's 150,000-added Preakness, and five other starters held workouts Tuesday at Pimlico.

Owner C. Oliver Goldsmith withdrew Leematt, trainer John Tammaro said, after expressing dissatisfaction with the colt's 1:41 1-5 mile workout from the gate.

Leematt, who last year won the World's Playground at Atlantic City and this year won a division of the Delaware Valley at Garden State, was scratched from the Withers Stakes last week because of an off track.

Royal J.D. held the only other serious workout Tuesday, going five furlongs in 1:00 3-5, and galloping out six furlongs in 1:14 2-5.

Out for gallops only were Kentucky Derby winner Canonero II, Limit to Reason, Vegas Vic and Sound off. Executioner, the second choice in the early probable odds, was merely walked around the barn area.

Through an interpreter, Avila reported Canonero II in as good shape as he was just before the Derby, which he won over 19 rivals by 3¾ lengths. The Kentucky-bred, who has done most of his campaigning in Venezuela, will be worked five furlongs Wednesday.

Jim French, the Derby runner-up who has been installed as the early favorite for the Preakness, is due in Thursday from Belmont Park along with Bold Reason. Spouting Horn will be vanned to the track from Bowie on Friday.

Impetuosity, 13th in the Derby, is still housed at Belmont and trainer George Poole reported a final decision on the colt's availability for the Preakness would be made today.

With 11 starters as now constituted, the Preakness would gross $189,900, with $137,400 going to the winner.

Monzon Sets Plans

Rome (AP) — World middleweight boxing champion Carlos Monzon of Argentina said Tuesday night he expected to fight America's Emile Griffith within 45 days. He added he had no doubts he would eat him.

Rains Again Halt Action In Districts

The Capital City Class A district high school baseball tournament fell victim to the weather again Tuesday.

East High athletic director Phil Sprague, who is in charge of the tourney, said, "We're scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday now, but I'd have to admit it's doubtful that the field will dry enough for the Wednesday game, even if it doesn't rain any more."

The rains have also set back the Omaha district playoffs, prompting the Nebraska School Activities Association to postpone the state championships a week.

"The state playoffs were originally scheduled next Tuesday and Wednesday at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha," NSAA executive secretary Les Chamberlin explained, "but now the Metro League teams will need those dates in order to complete their district tournaments."

The state championships are now scheduled for May 24-25 in Ralston. "That takes the pressure off us a little," Sprague said of the Lincoln tourney. "If necessary, we now have all of next week to get our playoffs completed."

Non-Title Win Costs Buchanan

London (AP) — World lightweight champion Ken Buchanan pounded out an eighth-round technical knockout over Carlos Hernandez Tuesday night — but the victory in the non-title bout may force the Scotsman to postpone the June 9 defense of his crown.

Buchanan, who suffered a cut over his left eye in the sixth round, was to face Panama's Ismael Laguna at Madison Square Garden in New York. But after the bout he needed six stitches to close the wound and said:

"I'll have to call off my scheduled defense on June 9. I'm hoping that we can arrange it for July 12."

In the co-feature at Wembley Stadium, Joe Bugner of Great Britain retained his European heavyweight title with a 15-round split decision over West Germany's Jurgen Blin.

Dallas' Thomas Plans To Retire

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Gil Brandt, Dallas Cowboy vice president, expressed surprise Tuesday that running back Duane Thomas announced his retirement.

Thomas, who is in Los Angeles, told sports writer Bob St. John of the Dallas Morning News Tuesday that "Not all of my problems derive from money."

Thomas said, "Another thing that concerned me was that the Cowboys have no emotion about a player's well being. They look at you not as a person, but as a specimen."

Asked if he would return if Dallas made another offer, Thomas said, "I don't know. I'd have to make that decision, I really don't expect to hear from them again."

Two Bucks Slated For Cage Camp At Chadron State

At least two members of the world champion Milwaukee Bucks will participate in the basketball camp the Bucks will sponsor at Chadron State College this summer.

Bucks officials have notified the college that Bob Boozer and either Greg Smith or Jon McGlocklin will be on the coaching staff at the camp. Boozer, an Omaha Tech graduate and former Kansas State standout, is a reserve forward while Smith and McGlocklin are both starters on the NBA club.

The Bucks said assistant coach Tom Nissalke and administrative assistant Wayne Embry also will help with the Aug. 1-7 and Aug. 8-14 camps, open to boys ages 11 to 17.

Mastera To Cage Post

Fremont — Art Mastera, reserve coach the past three years, has been named head basketball coach at Fremont Bergan H.S. He succeeds Ed Spethman, who will become an assistant at Creighton Prep.

Monzon Sets Plans

Rome (AP) — World middleweight boxing champion Carlos Monzon of Argentina said Tuesday night he expected to fight America's Emile Griffith within 45 days. He added he had no doubts he would eat him.

Starters Continue Preakness Trials

Baltimore (AP)—Leematt was withdrawn, the trainer of Impetuosity continued hedging about Saturday's 150,000-added Preakness, and five other starters held workouts Tuesday at Pimlico.

Owner C. Oliver Goldsmith withdrew Leematt, trainer John Tammaro said, after expressing dissatisfaction with the colt's 1:41 1-5 mile workout from the gate.

Leematt, who last year won the World's Playground at Atlantic City and this year won a division of the Delaware Valley at Garden State, was scratched from the Withers Stakes last week because of an off track.

Royal J.D. held the only other serious workout Tuesday, going five furlongs in 1:00 3-5, and galloping out six furlongs in 1:14 2-5.

Out for gallops only were Kentucky Derby winner Canonero II, Limit to Reason, Vegas Vic and Sound off. Executioner, the second choice in the early probable odds, was merely walked around the barn area.

Through an interpreter, Avila reported Canonero II in as good shape as he was just before the Derby, which he won over 19 rivals by 3¾ lengths. The Kentucky-bred, who has done most of his campaigning in Venezuela, will be worked five furlongs Wednesday.

Jim French, the Derby runner-up who has been installed as the early favorite for the Preakness, is due in Thursday from Belmont Park along with Bold Reason. Spouting Horn will be vanned to the track from Bowie on Friday.

Impetuosity, 13th in the Derby, is still housed at Belmont and trainer George Poole reported a final decision on the colt's availability for the Preakness would be made today.

With 11 starters as now constituted, the Preakness would gross $189,900, with $137,400 going to the winner.

Who says you can't win 'em all!

New Buying Lifts Stock Mart Prices

New York (AP) — Big investors, including institutions, stepped back into the market Monday as new buying boosted stock prices in moderate trading.

Analysts said the market rebound came after the market demonstrated basic strength Monday, despite investor uncertainty over the international monetary situation.

They said new buying began to spread when it appeared that selling attributed to the currency crisis was drying up. They noted the very light trading Monday when investors moved to the sidelines to await developments.

Indicative of the renewed investor confidence, analysts said, was the increase in large block trades. On the Big Board, 12 blocks of 10,000 shares or more changed hands, compared with 78 block trades Monday.

The Dow Jones Average of 30 industrial stocks tacked on 4.70 points to finish the day at 937.25.

Big Board volume swelled to 17.7 million shares — relatively moderate but still substantially ahead of Monday's turn over of 12.8 million shares. On the American Stock Exchange, 3.9 million shares changed hands, compared with volume of 3.4 million shares Monday.

Advances led declines 797 to 575 among 1,684 issues traded on the Big Board, but gainers barely bested losers 459 to 444 among 1,146 Amex issues traded.

The New York Stock Exchange Index of more than 1,300 common stocks declined 0.17 to 56.55.

The Amex price-change index was ahead .05 to 26.20.

The Associated Press 60-stock average finished the day ahead 1.5 at 328.5, with industrials up 1.4, rails ahead 1.3 and utilities up .9.

The largest block trade of the day was 533,300 shares of Scott Paper at 25, down ⅜, which boosted the stock to the top of the Big Board's active list. Scott Paper closed at 25 on total volume of 582,200 shares.

Slaughter Cattle Mart Stays Firm

Omaha (AP) — The slaughter cattle market at Omaha Tuesday remained on firm footing.

Heavy rainfall in the immediate Omaha territory Monday evening hampered the movement of livestock. Unloads here measured around 6,000 head, down by a fair margin from a week ago. The two-day handle here at 12,500 compared with 15,000 in the same period last week.

Backed by a mostly steady trade in coolers early Tuesday and the moderate to light run here and around the circuit, cattle remained in firm selling hands. Fed steers and heifers ruled fully steady to strong, some instances of 25 cents higher sales noted within existing quotations.

Two loads of high-choice to prime 1,094-1,205 lb. fed steers paced the market at 33.85, choice in bulk down to 32.50.

Toppy 950-1,045 lb. heifers grouped 33.00-33.35, choice downward to 31.50.

Butchers here sold steady to 25 cents lower, most decline on weights over 250 lbs. Sows held mostly steady.

Most 190-240 lb. barrows and gilts cleared 17.75-18.25. Sows bunched at 14.75-15.75.

Fat lambs advanced again, taking a 50-cent higher turn. Fed shorn lambs sold fully steady, ewes unchanged. Toppy 90-105 lb. new crop lambs 30.50-31.50. No. 1 pelts shorn old crop 29.00.

OMAHA

Hogs: 8,000; barrows and gilts 200-250 lbs. steady; 250-310 lb. barrows and gilts steady to 25 lower; 1-2 approximately 250 head 200-230 lbs. 18.50; 1-3 200-240 lbs. 17.75-18.25; few uneven weights 17.50-17.75; 2-4 240-260 lbs. 17.00-18.00; 260-280 lbs. 16.50-17.00; 3-4 280-310 lbs. 16.00-16.50; sows steady; 375-650 lbs. 14.75-15.75.

Corn And Wheat Prices Rebound

Chicago (AP) — Corn and wheat futures prices rebounded Tuesday from several new seasonal lows while soybeans quotations mounted to a cent or more above the previous close in the Chicago Board of Trade.

Corn hit seasonal lows early in the session in the December and March deliveries, and wheat in the December and March options on reports of favoring rains, good crop progress and minimal damage from the spring drought.

The upswing in midsession brought them back about even with the previous closes, except for December and March corn.

At the close, wheat was ½ cent lower to ⅛ higher, May 1.58¼; corn was ⅜ higher to 1 cent lower May 1.44½; oats were 1 cent higher to ¼ lower, May 69, and soybeans were ⅛ lower to 1⅞ higher, May 2.97½.

New Buying Lifts Stock Mart Prices

New York (AP) — Big investors, including institutions, stepped back into the market Monday as new buying boosted stock prices in moderate trading.

Analysts said the market rebound came after the market demonstrated basic strength Monday, despite investor uncertainty over the international monetary situation.

They said new buying began to spread when it appeared that selling attributed to the currency crisis was drying up. They noted the very light trading Monday when investors moved to the sidelines to await developments.

Indicative of the renewed investor confidence, analysts said, was the increase in large block trades. On the Big Board, 12 blocks of 10,000 shares or more changed hands, compared with 78 block trades Monday.

The Dow Jones Average of 30 industrial stocks tacked on 4.70 points to finish the day at 937.25.

Big Board volume swelled to 17.7 million shares — relatively moderate but still substantially ahead of Monday's turn over of 12.8 million shares. On the American Stock Exchange, 3.9 million shares changed hands, compared with volume of 3.4 million shares Monday.

Advances led declines 797 to 575 among 1,684 issues traded on the Big Board, but gainers barely bested losers 459 to 444 among 1,146 Amex issues traded.

The New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,300 common stocks declined 0.17 to 56.55.

The Amex price-change index was ahead .05 to 26.20.

The Associated Press 60-stock average finished the day ahead 1.5 at 328.5, with industrials up 1.4, rails ahead 1.3 and utilities up .9.

The largest block trade of the day was 533,300 shares of Scott Paper at 25, down ⅛, which boosted the stock to the top of the Big Board's active list. Scott Paper closed at 25 on total volume of 582,200 shares.

Slaughter Cattle Mart Stays Firm

Omaha (AP) — The slaughter cattle market at Omaha Tuesday remained on firm footing.

Heavy rainfall in the immediate Omaha territory Monday evening hampered the movement of livestock. Unloads here measured around 6,000 head, down by a fair margin from a week ago. The two-day handle here at 12,500 compared with 15,000 in the same period last week.

Backed by a mostly steady trade in coolers early Tuesday and the moderate to light run here and around the circuit, cattle remained in firm selling hands. Fed steers and heifers ruled fully steady to strong, some instances of 25 cents higher sales noted within existing quotations.

Two loads of high-choice to prime 1,094-1,205 lb. fed steers paced the market at 33.85, choice in bulk down to 32.50.

Toppy 950-1,045 lb. heifers grouped 33.00-33.35, choice downward to 31.50.

Butchers here sold steady to 25 cents lower, most decline on weights over 250 lbs. Sows held mostly steady.

Most 190-240 lb. barrows and gilts cleared 17.75-18.25. Sows bunched at 14.75-15.75.

Fat lambs advanced again, taking a 50-cent higher turn. Fed shorn lambs sold fully steady, ewes unchanged. Toppy 90-105 lb. new crop lambs 30.50-31.50. No. 1 pelts shorn old crop 29.00.

Corn And Wheat Prices Rebound

Chicago (AP) — Corn and wheat futures prices rebounded Tuesday from several new seasonal lows while soybeans quotations mounted to a cent or more above the previous close in the Chicago Board of Trade.

Corn hit seasonal lows early in the session in the December and March deliveries, and wheat in the September, December and March options on reports of favoring rains, good crop progress and minimal damage from the spring drought.

The upswing in midsession brought them back about even with the previous closes, except for December and March corn.

At the close, wheat was 1½ cent lower to 1¢ higher, May 1.58¼; corn was ⅝ higher to 1 cent lower May 1.44½; oats were 1 cent higher to ¼ lower, May 69, and soybeans were 1¢ lower to 7⅞ higher, May 2.97½.

Ag Council Plans To Examine Tax Proposals, FHA

The Nebraska Agriculture Council is planning on examining the new personal property tax proposals put forth by Gov. J. James Exon. The council will hear presentations by Gus Lieske and Bob Peters from the governor's office.

The council meeting Wednesday at the Cornhusker Hotel will also feature an explanation of policies of the Farmers Home Administration by Kenneth Bowen, state director of the farm credit agency.

The council also expects to hear from some FHA borrowers at the meeting.

"We are not going to sit in judgment of the Farmers Home Administration nor are we going to permit a demonstration to develop against anyone. We simply want to determine if there is an effort to move people off farms in Nebraska on the part of the government," said Ray Ratliff, council chairman.

Board Member For GM Asks For An Embargo

Washington (UPI) — A General Motors Corp. board member called Tuesday for complete withdrawal of all American investments in South Africa and a total U.S. military and economic embargo against that country.

The Rev. Leon Sullivan, head of a private job-training program for blacks which operates in both the United States and Africa, emphasized that he did not speak for General Motors.

"Apartheid must come to an end," Sullian said. "To hit apartheid where it hurts, it must be hit in the pocketbook."

"The only way to bring about the downfall of the undemocratic regime in South Africa is to weaken its economic foundations," Sullivan told a House foreign affairs subcommittee on Africa.

Ag Council Plans To Examine Tax Proposals, FHA

The Nebraska Agriculture Council is planning on examining the new personal property tax proposals put forth by Gov. J. James Exon. The council will hear presentations by Gus Lieske and Bob Peters from the governor's office.

The council meeting Wednesday at the Cornhusker Hotel will also feature an explanation of policies of the Farmers Home Administration by Kenneth Bowen, state director of the farm credit agency.

The council also expects to hear from some FHA borrowers at the meeting.

"We are not going to sit in judgment of the Farmers Home Administration nor are we going to permit a demonstration to develop against anyone. We simply want to determine if there is an effort to move people off farms in Nebraska on the part of the government," said Ray Ratliff, council chairman.

Board Member For GM Asks For An Embargo

Washington (UPI) — A General Motors Corp. board member called Tuesday for complete withdrawal of all American investments in South Africa and a total U.S. military and economic embargo against that country.

The Rev. Leon Sullivan, head of a private job-training program for blacks which operates in both the United States and Africa, emphasized that he did not speak for General Motors.

"Apartheid must come to an end," Sullian said. "To hit apartheid where it hurts, it must be hit in the pocketbook."

"The only way to bring about the downfall of the undemocratic regime in South Africa is to weaken its economic foundations," Sullivan told a House foreign affairs subcommittee on Africa.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
